VACATION TIME SLOWS MARKET

Family Gardens Also Check Jobbers' Sales To Some Extent

Market conditions in Salem have been fairly slow the past week from the jobbers' standpoint, due to a number of causes; many people are away on vacations and accordingly are not buying much here. Vegetables from the family garden are being used now, and farmers are bringing a plentiful supply of vegetables to the local stores.

Huckleberries are now in their second week on the local market the quality continuing fine. They are billed at 18 cents a pound.

The Yakima peach market is up in the air, with prices taking a general downward trend. Jobbers report the housewife may now get these fine canning peaches at 90 cents a box.

No Melon Changes
For the first week since melons have been offered, there is no change in the market price of any of the varieties.

Sweet potatoes continue at last week's price, but the outlook is for a decline of a half cent or more the first of the week.

Green peas, the Blind Slough variety, are offered this week at 10 cents a pound. The Marshfield green peas are quoted at eight cents.

Artichokes are $1.35 per dozen now on the medium sizes.

There are all kinds of local green beans at 4 1/2 and 5 cents.

Late yellow bantam corn is still quite plentiful, and the supply is said to be exceptionally fine. Prevailing quotation is at $1.50 on the eight-dozen sack.

There was no change during the week in the potato situation, imports still holding the center of the stage. Likewise the staple oranges, lemons, limes, calavos and apples continued the same.

Egg Plant Appears
Egg plant is more plentiful, thanks to the local offerings. They look to be of excellent quality also. Quotation is 6 cents.

Extra large cucumbers are selling at 30 cents a dozen this week in peach box lots or at 60 cents a dozen in "bulk."

Tomatoes are billed at 75 cents a box on practically all varieties.

The onion market continues strong and it is probably the first of the week will see a raise, although 2 1/2 cents is still quoted by local jobbers. Small white pickling onions are offered at 10 cents.

Local peppers go to the stores at 75 cents per box, or if in the bulk at 7 cents a pound.

Portland local cabbage and Behead local cabbage supply the market in the main and are three and three and one-half cents, respectively.

First Lady Gains In Health

Relaxation at the presidential camp in Wisconsin is preparing Mrs. Coolidge for her last strenuous winter season in the White House. Above is a scene at the Summer White House, at Brule, Wis., with an inset of the First Lady, as she appeared recently.

By SUE McNAMARA
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Just how much of Mrs. Coolidge's improved appearance is due to the fresh air and rest she is getting in the seclusion of the pines at Brule, Wisconsin, or to the fact that she soon will be free from the invisible chains of the white house is a question of speculation at Washington.

It has never been determined exactly how much of an influence Mrs. Coolidge exercised in the famous "I do not choose to run" statement of the president. There were many stories printed, however, which indicated she was anxious to return to private life. Being the wife of the president has made its impress on Mrs. Coolidge's frank and buoyant disposition. It is a life bound with red tape and of conformity to rules. Mrs. Coolidge's determinedly cheerful smile, the vivid flash of her red hats and costumes have done much to favorably impress the public with her happy disposition. But there must have been times when she felt the weight of those invisible chains of the white house.

Washington noted with concern the last few months, the worn, haggard look of the first lady. Toward the last of the season she was absent from many of the state dinners, which usually were relieved by her wit and charm. The summer vacation trip to Brule was postponed several days because of her illness.

Now, reports say she looks radiant and happy. Members of the Coolidge family are doing pretty much as they please this summer in the pine-scented seclusion of their Wisconsin island. March is not very far away. Then the Coolidges will return to private life as free American citizens.

Meanwhile, they are storing up health and energy to meet the winter's exhausting nerve strain. When they return to Washington, they again will face the battery of eyes—millions of them. Human eyes peering through the iron gates. Automobile eyes which never cease in their mad merry-go-round just beyond the green, stately beauty of the white house grounds.

The white house is being prepared for the early return of the Coolidges. Workmen are furnishing it up. They are tearing up, in order that the automobiles of cabinet members and other dignitaries may come up to the portals in a more sweeping manner. The entrance is slightly restricted now.

LOCAL GRAPES UPON MARKET

Yellow Pie Pumpkin Also Appears in Salem's Truck Stores

The first local grapes, the early Campbells which bear a close resemblance to the Concord, appeared on the market this week, adding another variety to the half dozen or so that had come previously from California. The Campbells are quoted at 6 cents a pound on the first offerings.

The California grape offerings look excellent this week, with the Rabiers making a particularly splendid showing in both size and apparent keeping quality.

Pumpkin Appears
Another commodity to make its first seasonal appearance this week was the yellow pie pumpkin, which is offered at 3 1/2 cents and takes its place along with the squash group. Hubbard squash, from Yakima, also were offered for the first time this week. The Hubbards are 3 1/2 cents.

Local spinach is only fair now, with 7 cents a pound the figure. The new crop honey was offered for the first time this week, too, billed at 95 and 85 for the fancy and extra fancy, respectively. This is the comb sweet.

Thirty cents per pound is quoted on the first shipment of crop almonds, which put in appearance the first of the week.

Raisins on Market
Among the other "first" was the new crop seedless raisins, now on the market at $1.75 for the 26-pound box. Portland is offering the cauliflower now here, with $1.75 for the crate the price. This is only of medium quality.

Local lettuce continues at a low price, $2, with the preferable California lead at $4.25 now, with another advance in prospect for the first of the week.

Pears are coming in better, many quite green.

Fresh California figs are now $1.50 for the 10-pound box.

Tourist automobiles from other states passing through Oregon this year so far total 53,327, according to statistics in the office of Secretary of State Koser.

Cooler Weather Time For Making Delicious Soups

Now that the days are cooler, the family will welcome a bowl of hot, steaming soup for their lunch.

If you wish to use meat for a basis, the brown stock is used. White stock is used for cream soups and is very nourishing for children.

BROWN STOCK
1 1/2 lb. beef; 1/2 lb. bone; qt. cold water; 1 bay leaf; 1 sprig parsley; 1 tbsp. chopped carrot; 1/4 cup diced turnip; 1 onion, medium size; 1 bunch celery; 1/4 tsp. savory; 1/4 tsp. thyme; 1-4 tsp. marjoram; 2 whole cloves; 5 peppercorns; 1 blade mace; 1 tsp. salt.

Cut the beef into very small pieces and pour the cold water over. Allow to stand in cold place for one-half hour, then bring slowly to boil and simmer gently in tightly covered kettle for three hours. Add the vegetables and seasonings and simmer for another hour. Strain and chill quickly. Do not remove the fat layer until ready to use.

Vegetable Soup
One and a half cups diced vegetables, 1 tsp. salt, 1 qt. brown stock, 1/4 tsp. pepper.
Cook the vegetables slowly in the brown stock until tender, using a covered kettle to keep the liquid from evaporating. When tender, add the seasonings, bring to a boil and serve.

Cream of Corn Soup
Three cups corn, fresh or cooked, 3 cups milk, 3 cups white stock, 2 tsp. butter, 2 tsp. Rex flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper.

Cook the milk and corn in top of double boiler for 20 minutes. Make a white sauce by melting the butter, adding the Rex flour slowly, then the white stock and evaporating. If the liquid does evaporate it should be replaced with cold water. At this time add the vegetables and seasonings and simmer for another hour. Strain the soup into a container and chill quickly. The fat will rise to the top in a cake but should be left in the position until the stock is to be used for it serves as a protection from bacteria and also spoilage.

White Stock
3 lbs. veal knuckle, 1 qt. cold water, 2 stalks celery, 1 sprig parsley, 1 clove, 1/4 tsp. savory, 2 peppercorns, 1 blade mace, 1 tsp. salt, 1 small onion.

allow it to thicken. Add the milk and corn and allow to come to a boil, then strain, allowing as much of the corn to pass through the strainer as desired. Add salt and pepper, heat to boiling point and serve at once.

Women Engineers Gain Limelight In Industrial Phases

PARIS—(AP)—In the wake of women doctors and lawyers, women engineers are coming into the limelight in France.

They have a school all to themselves in Paris, and industrial magnates dispute the privilege of engaging the serious young women who have their diplomas.

The Electro-Mechanical Institute for Women is installed in the National Conservatory of Arts and Crafts. To follow its course women must have an A. B. degree in mathematics or must pass the examinations of a preparatory section.

These courses are specially designed to create an elite corps of women engineers, trained in all commercial phases of industry as well as the more technical sides.

DRESSMAKERS URGE DIGNIFIED CLOTHES

By HAZEL REAVIS
PARIS—(AP)—With the forced retirement of sport clothes from the fashion spotlights distinction between ages has crept back into style ken.

The dressmakers are by no means urging women to look their age. But autumn styles have a new dignity that has been lacking for some time from fashion collections. If there are no dresses for grandmothers it is because modern grandmothers are no longer classified as such.

The majority of fashion creators are showing extensive groups of dresses for young girls of debutante age. These costumes have a style and rules of their own, not to be confused with the clothes Paris designs for older sister. By differentiating between mothers and daughters the designers are enabled to add new sophistication and grown up charm to winter clothes.
