Art Goebel Reaches Destination After Coming Down in Arizona

LOS ANGELES, Sept., 13 .-(AP) .- The feature event of the 1928 national air races, the nonstop flight from New York to Los Angeles, tonight was described by air meet officials as being no race. Art Goebel, the only finisher, who swooned down upon Mines Field at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon to receive the plaudits of the crowd as winner of the race, soon afterwards quieted the enthusiasm with the revelation that he had not made a non-stop flight.

Goebel landed at Prescott, Arizona earlier in the day, to spend over an hour repairing a troublee carburetor and replenishing windling gasoline supply. Haldeman Last Down Nine planes hopped off for the long grind. Tonight the last of these, a Bellanca flown by George Haldeman, was reported forced down at Albuquerque, N. Before word was received at Mines Field that the last flier was forced out of the race because of lack of gasoline, the conviction had grown to a certainty that all contestants were down, when Haldeman failed to arrive here late this afternoon.

After circling Mines Field and making a bumpy landing before the packed and roaring grandstands, Goebel, "dog tired," climbed slowly from his oil streaked Lockheed monoplane. With Harry Tucker, his backer and passenger on the overnight flight, Goebel was led to the announcer's There he said a few words but it was lost in the roars of the crowd for the apparent winner of the great race. Crime Recalls Similar Event in Case of Bobby Franks 4 Years Ago

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 - (AP)-The rendezvous of the Mafia were searched today for 10-year-old Billy Ranieri while terror stricken mothers kept their children at home and locked the doors against the dreaded kidnapers.

.Chicago's chief of detectives and the deputy police commissioner were drawn into the search for the boy who vanished on his way home from school a week ago today, much as Bobby Franks disappeared at the time of his slaying four years ago. But the threat of death or violence to the boy and the fear of the Mafia they believed wos behind the plot had sealed the lips of family and friends and the police had slender clues upon which to work.

Italians Ou Job Today a squad of Italian de tectives worked with A. Frank Ranieri, contractor and father of the boy, in an effort to "plant" some of the $60,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers. Alice Ranieri, 12-year lold sister of the child, told a chum her ather had already paid $1,000 to the gang but was told he must pay more before Billy would be released. What They Think Of

Oregon as a Place In Which to Live And Also Why

There are a good many people in Oregon and they practically are unanimous in their love and devotion to this great state. The average Oregon resident stands ready to tell the cock-eyed world that this is just about the best place on earth. Many cheerfully will fight anyone who argues otherwise, Of course, there are some persons who never seem satisfied and who are the happiest when they have something to growl about, With news of storm disasters flooding the first page today, the New Oregon Statesman sought some cheerful topics wherewith to light up its columns and asked.. a number of. Salem citizens, point blank what they think of Oregon. Here is the result:

DR. HENRY E. MORRIS, op-

tican, said: "Of all the states I have seen in the United States, and I have seen two thirds of them, Oregon is by far the best to live in. Of all the beauty spots I have seen, I would rather live in Salem. We could make 40 to 50 beauty spots here that would equal any of those of Minneapolis or other big cities and do so with less artificiality. For a nice place to live and for fine weather there is no place as good. We have just taken a trip east this summer and I found none that could equal what Oregon is, I would rather live here and not have as much, than to live in the east and have

Rev. Thomas Acheson in Line For Promotion in View of Long Service

Selection of a superintendent or the Salem district of the Methodist Episcopal church to succeed Dr. D. H. Leech who has served for six years which is the maximum time permitted under the church laws, looms as the item of greatest interest to Salem Methodists on the program of the 26th session of the Oregon annual conference at Hood River next week.

Conference assignments are solely in the province of Bishop Titus Lowe, and therefore forecasts are more or less futile, but, as in the past, speculation as to the probable changes in conference offices and pastorates is being indulged in extensively as the conference date nears.
