quicklime "as it is impossible to pick them up and bring them to the cemetery."

Seiby said his estimate of the property damage to the county still is $20,000,000 but insurance adjusters estimated that the loss might reach as much as $75,000,000.

The majority of the dead are negroes and few of them are being identified. Loss of life among the whites, the Red Cross official said, was much less because they largely resided on high ground while many negro laborers lived behind the dikes.

Riot Rumor Denied—Chairman Seiby denied reports that any rioting has occurred in the stricken area. Plenty of armed guards are on duty, he said.

An airplane has been scouting over the area, spotting bodies, he declared, adding that many corpses had drifted away to almost impenetrable places.

"Approximately 75 bodies have been stacked up near Pabokee for two days," he said, "and we have been unable to bring them here for burial. Communications to towns in the area are entirely cut off except by boat."

Virtually all the Everglades section in Palm Beach county has been evacuated of women and children, he continued, while the able bodied men are being kept and drafted for work. "No attempt can be made toward reconstruction for weeks," he declared.

and sheriff's officers. While the position of the child's body did not indicate that he had struggled with his abductors, signs of a struggle might have been obliterated by the first cordon of searchers who is breaking through the brush trampled in the vicinity where Gill was found.

Physicians who examined the body declared that the boy had been strangled, probably Tuesday night.

Within five paces of the body lay the halves of three playing cards, all Kings. These carried out the theme of the letter demanding ransom sent to Jamieson, Tuesday. It was signed "The Three Kings." The cards were given to fingerprint experts.

The finger prints, it is believed, will be compared with those of 12 persons held by the police for questioning.

Three additional persons were arrested tonight for questioning. Sheriff Patrick Gleason has called in the volunteer hunters until further notice.

The Punahou school suspended classes until Monday after the finding of Gill's lifeless body. Political rallies scheduled for tonight were called off, the stock exchange did not hold its afternoon session and the Hawaiian Trust company closed its doors for the afternoon.

The discovery of a rich vein of mineral along the Redwood highway and so close to the road that it can be touched, is reported by George Jenkinson of Grants Pass.

Special State Fair Days Announced By Secretary

Special days with added attractions at the Oregon State fair, September 24 to 29, were announced today by Mrs. Ella S. Wilson, secretary-manager.

Monday, September 24 will be known as Community, Children's and Aviation Day. Several special programs will be presented by the different visiting bands and by the neighboring communities. Local and visiting aviators will add several thrills to the regular daily display and their stunts high in the air over the infield. The kids' corner's day and Derby day. The fair will also have their landing on Monday, all children under 14 years of age being admitted free to the grounds. Several comical features are being specially arranged for the kiddies and they will be shown a royal time.

Tuesday is State Grange day and ladies day. The different granges are planning several surprise features to the regular program and a special effort will be made to entertain the ladies at both the afternoon and evening performances.

Salem Day Wednesday
Wednesday is Salem day. The heaviest program of the week will be given this day. There will be eight heats of harness racing, three feature running races and two world's championship relay races run before the grandstand. Governor I. L. Patterson will be the guest of honor during the afternoon and will preside over the running of the annual governor's derby of 1-1-16 miles which will bring out the best and fastest horses on the track. A princess from the Corvallis district will crown the winning horse with a beautiful floral wreath.

Thursday is Portland day and Willamette valley day when several added features will entertain the visitors who are expected to break all attendance records on that day. A feature card of races in addition to 10 thrilling circus acts will be presented before the grandstand.

Friday is Press day and Oregon day. A special race program and vaudeville acts will help entertain the visiting members of the press and those visiting from all parts of the state.

Saturday is Fraternal day. Local fraternal orders are planning to entertain the fair in a body and many of the drill teams, bands and drum and bugle corps are coming in uniform. A special grandstand program is to be provided for them. The features of the night program will be a special farewell showing of the grandstand program which will be followed by special closing features in the horse show stadium and a gala mardi-gras and fun-fest on the midway.

washing out on the line and yet make sure it's going to be clean with all those dirty, black specks floating around. And you go in to the store and find them on the counter and in the vegetable display and on the dry-goods you buy. Cinders! I often wonder why they don't get rid of them—whether the powers that be are helpless or whether they are just careless and don't try."

J. H. WILLET, local druggist, said: "The cinders that fall on the streets here are certainly a nuisance. I have not investigated to find out where they come from but I am certain that the coming can be stopped. Excessive smoke is prevented by chimney attachments and there is surely something that will stop the cinders."

CHALMER LEE GEORGE, local dentist, said: "The 'black snow' is the biggest nuisance Salem has. Something can be done to stop the trouble and the city should see to it that something is done."

J. N. CHAMBERS, manager of the J. C. Penney company store in Salem, said: "We don't like the cinders but we do like the industries that cause them. If we could have ten more sawmills the size of Spaulding's and ten more paper mills, we would not object to ten times as many cinders. But I believe they can be eliminated without loss to the manufacturers, and of course they do cause the merchants great loss in damaged merchandise."

MERRITT DAVIS, head-of-the commercial department at the Salem high school, said: "I do think something should be done to prevent the 'black snow' because of the damage and one might even say loss, to which merchants are subjected because of it. These cinders also cause considerable damage to property values close in especially in south Salem, many refusing to buy in that section because of them. They are inconvenient from the housewife's standpoint, also, and are a genuine nuisance on wash day."

CHESTER C. BAKER, 1515 Saginaw street, said: "I surely think Salem's 'black snow' or cinders are an outrage. It is easy to see what they do to the goods in some stores and the mess they continually make at entrance ways to the stores. These cinders are not desirable and should be eliminated in some way."

Northwest farmers can furnish the wheat this year but the market is not encouraging, to say the least. Certainly republican prosperity goes over the head of the farmer.—Baker Democrat.

ILLINOIS SLAYER TAKEN ON BOAT

Leslie Simpson Arrested When He Returns After Long Voyage

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A grimy fireman aboard an incoming freighter from Red Sea ports was arrested today as the first lieutenant to "Machine Gun Charlie" Birger of "bloody" Williamson county, Illinois.

The man was Leslie Simpson, indicted sixteen months ago with Birger and nine others for the murder of Lory Price, an Illinois state highway patrolman, and his wife. Birger was hanged more than a year ago for his part in the crime. With the exception of Simpson most of the others are in prison.

Simpson was taken into custody by State's Attorney Arlie Boswell, Deputy Sheriff George Bell of Marion, Williamson county, and two detectives of the Marine police.

When the four entered the fire room, Simpson said: "Hello, Arlie."

"Hello, Leslie," returned the other. "We've been after you a long time. You know you are under arrest?"

"Yep," said the fireman. "How are you sheriff? Let's go. My suitcase is packed."

Arraigned in Tombs court as a fugitive from justice, Simpson was held without bail for a hearing next Thursday.

CHALMER LEE GEORGE, local dentist, said: "The 'black snow' is the biggest nuisance Salem has. Something can be done to stop the trouble and the city should see to it that something is done."
