

MONDAY COMMUNITY CLUB AND CHILDREN'S DAY AT FAIR

This Year's Fair Certain to Pass Previous Records

With Complete Program Arranged for Every Day, All Exhibit Spaces Filled and Attractive Horse Show Events on Night Cards, Success is Sure

WITH all plans completed for the greatest event of its kind ever held in Oregon, the State Fair will throw wide its gates Monday morning, the initial day to be officially known as "Community Club and Children's Day," according to announcement Friday by Mrs. Ella S. Wilson, secretary. The fair board has decided that all children under 14 will be admitted to the state fairgrounds free of charge on Monday.

The community club competition is a new feature at the state fair and was arranged at the request of Dr. P. O. Bailey of Hubbard, president of the Marion County Community clubs. Community bands already entered in the competition include those of Hood River, Oregon City, Hubbard, Mt. Angel, Albany, McMinnville and Irigon. It was said that other bands would be on the grounds. There also will be community singing and chorus competition.

The opening ceremonies will be in charge of the state fair board, who will be assisted by Governor Patterson and other members of the state board of control.

The night horse show at this year's fair promises to eclipse all previous events of its kind held in the Willamette valley. There are seven $1,000 purses, together with other prizes which will boost the aggregate to more than $10,000. Entries in the horse show include a large number of outstanding animals from California, Washington, Illinois, Iowa, Oregon and Canada. The Oregon entries will include several horses belonging to Aaron Frank of Portland. These animals recently returned from California where they won a large number of competitive events.

Counties to Exhibit Fourteen counties are arranging exhibits at this year's fair. These exhibits will feature agricultural and horticultural products from all parts of the state. Augmenting these exhibits will be displays arranged by the boys' and girls' clubs from virtually every county in Oregon. The livestock entries are larger than ever before and it has been necessary to erect an additional barn to house belated entrants. There is a possibility, it was said, that temporary structures will have to be arranged to care for the overflow. Similar conditions exist in the poultry, pigeon and bee departments.

Races will be held each afternoon, with the events all filled. Both the mile and half-mile tracks will be used, with free attractions in front of the grandstand between heats. The American Legion band of Albany will furnish music both at the races and at the night horse show. A fireworks display also will be a feature of this year's fair. This will take place in front of the grandstand immediately preceding the night horse show.

All Space Occupied Every inch of space in the machinery and automobile departments of the fair has been sold and belated entrants will find it necessary to house their exhibits in temporary tents near the motor vehicle pavilion. The concessions will be more numerous than ever before.

The camp grounds, near the main entrance of the fairgrounds, are under the direction of Albert Tozier caretaker of Champoon Park and one of Oregon's best known pioneers. Virtually all space in the camp grounds has been reserved and it may be necessary to acquire more space. The camp grounds parade this year has been set for Friday night.

The fairgrounds will be adequately policed this year, while plenty of parking space has been provided for automobiles. No games of chance will be allowed to operate during fair week. O. A. C. Exhibit Hugs The Oregon Agricultural college will have a large and instructive exhibit at this year's fair.

CURTIS FAVORS RAISING TARIFF

Attack by Democratic Party Must be Averted Nomininee Declares

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential candidate, carried the republican protective tariff campaign into the cattle ranges tonight, blaming the "flood" of farm importations last year to much of the farmers' troubles, in an address here. Renewing his pledge of higher tariff rates on agricultural importations, the senator questioned the democratic attitude on tariff and declared that Gov. Smith, the democratic presidential candidate, "apparently" has the Underwood bill of 1913 in mind as a tariff measure.

"Then, I need not spend time," Canada also has sent an exhibit which probably will be one of the most attractive on the grounds. At the request of the state board of control all state institutions have arranged exhibits for this year's fair. The state penitentiary will feature flax, which is one of the leading industries in this part of the state. A miniature flax mill will be installed under the supervision of W. B. Bartram, state flax expert. In event of fair weather, this year's state fair will be the largest and best ever held in Oregon.

he declared in a prepared address, "to convince you that agriculture will receive no tariff protection from the democrats. Listen to some of the products on the free list in the Underwood bill: Bacon, hams, buckwheat, cattle, corn, cream, eggs, hogs, lambs, lard, milk, potatoes, rye, sheep, and goats, wheat and wool."

Reaching Sheridan late in the day the senator crossed Nebraska and South Dakota in coming into Wyoming.

He appeared on the back platform at stops in all states and left the train at Edgemont, S. D., to speak to a crowd in the railroad yards during switching operations. He talked high tariff and Herbert Hoover in these places, also and was given a good hand by his audiences.

Increase Asked "Our tariff rates must be raised," he stated in his Sheridan address, "to shut out foreign imports which congest our markets and every avenue and channel of trade. Last year we sold to foreign countries a slice in our dairy market worth $36,964,435 for the sum of $8,782,556 in duties collected.

"We imported hundreds of millions of pounds of vegetable oils. Add our enormous cheese imports to the portion of these oils that is made into butter and it means the displacement of about 800,000 cows that might be making a home market for alfalfa, corn and other feeds."

In addition, we imported more than 8,000,000,000 pounds of sugar, the wool clip of 26,000,000 sheep, and eggs yield of several million hens ruthlessly narrowing the home market of our own farmers for these products and cutting down the opportunity for diversification on the farm.

Stayton Family Moves to City

STATTON, Ore., Sept. 21.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Steward and baby have moved to Salem where they will have charge of the Miller apartments which are owned by John Dozier, father of Mrs. Steward.

Enos Conger, Civil war veteran and well known resident of Jackson county for 51 years, died in a Medford hospital following an illness of only two days.
