Blackmail Plot Against Mrs. Raskob Laid to Man

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(AP).—Charged with attempted blackmail and extortion in demanding $100,000 from Mrs. John J. Raskob, wife of the democratic national committee chairman, under threat of death to her husband, Frank C. Mooney, 67, formerly of Wilmington, Del., yesterday was held for the grand jury in $10,000 bail. Four letters alleged to have been written by Mooney from Philadelphia are the basis of the charges. Detectives said Mooney had confessed to writing the letters. Mooney was accused of having threatened to destroy the Raskob home at Claymont, near Wilmington, unless the money was paid. In one letter the writer reminded Mrs. Raskob of a recent accident when an elevator in which Mr. Raskob was riding in a New York hotel fell, inferring he was responsible for the accident. A decoy letter was sent to the North Philadelphia postoffice and Mooney called to get it Wednesday night. Well dressed, he walked up to the general delivery window where detectives watched him. Mooney was not accosted then but was captured 16 blocks away when he tried to jump from an automobile driven by a negro who escaped.

These club workers, with a like representation from other counties, will be guests of the state fair board for three days, September 26-28. They will stay at the club dormitory on the grounds and the opportunities afforded them to come in contact with the exhibits of other club members and adults are enviable, Mr. Fox points out. Approximately 65 contests have been filed with the state engineer here in connection with the adjudication of water rights on the Walla Walla river. The contests were sent to the state engineer by the Pleasant View Irrigation company, with headquarters at Freewater. Most of the contests involve the amount of water that shall be awarded to the various claimants. State Engineer Luper said that when all contests have been received he would set a date for the hearing. Business women are most prompt in coming to their work than men, an analyst has found out; probably for the reason that they don't have to shave before starting out every morning.
