Diversified Program At Horse Show Tonight

The opening of the horse show will be marked by one show at the state fair this evening will be marked by one of the most varied programs ever offered lovers of fine horses. Jay M. Reynolds, manager of the show, at his assistant, E. Simons, have arranged for 12 fascinating events, ranging from the judging of pairs and four-in-hands to showing and judging of novice hunters, novice five-gaited saddle horses, novice roadsters, novice saddlers, heavy harness horses, Shireland saddle ponies, ladies' three-gaited saddle horses, tanoms, gentlemen's five-gaited saddle horses and lightweight hunters.

The show will open at 7:30 o'clock with an overture by the famed American Legion Band of Albany. The first event, which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, will be the showing of pairs of horses to be judged for suitability for draft purposes. Entries have been made by the Portland-Damascus Creamery company, A. C. Ruby and Sons, both of Portland, and by H. M. Merritt of Rosalia, Wn.; Ralph M. Fogelman of Calender, Iowa; R. C. McCrook of Gaffield, Wn.; and Andrew Schab of Salem.

The second event will be class 30, in which novice hunters have been entered by Lewis R. Banks, Mrs. Stanley Werschkaul, Dr. Ralph C. Matson, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Held, of the Aaron M. Frank farms, all of the Portland; Miss F. Cowls and Alex Young, Jr., of Francisco, and Capt. Warren W. F. Turner of Portland who has his new horse, Brilliant Moon, in the novice five-gaited saddle horse class, which will be third event. Thirty entries will be shown by George Moore of Seattle, Lewis R. Banks of Portland and Miss Marlan E. Fesler of Beverly Hills.

The only entries in the fourth event, class 6A, have been made by John Hubly of Mason City, Illinois. He is showing three novice roadsters, and he has probably the finest list of roadsters ever shown on the coast. Four-horse teams will be displayed in the fifth event, class 12. Two entries each have been made by A. C. Ruby and Son and the Portland-Damascus Creamery company, with Andrew Schab, R. C. Merritt, D. F. Burge of Albany and Ralph M. Fogelman showing one entry each.

Entries in the novice saddlers class, the sixth event, have been made by Miss Lucille Fesler of Beverly Hills, C. H. Chevella of Seattle, F. T. Hickox of Tacoma, and F. T. Julius H. Held of Portland. Dr. Matson of Portland and Lewis R. Banks of Portland. Our entries have been made in the seventh event, when heavy harness horses will be judged. John Hubly of Mason City, Illinois, has two entries, with one entry by Aaron M. Frank of Portland and one by Bridgeland Bros. of Beverly Hills.

The Shetland saddle ponies, those that fellows that always bring squeals of delight from the youthful of the onlookers, will walk, trot and canter in the eighth event. All entries for the class have been made by D. G. Welby of Nevada, Iowa. Ladies' three-gaited saddle horses are being shown in the ninth event by Mrs. C. D. Starr of Portland, Lewis R. Banks of Portland, Miss Lucille and Miss Marlan Fesler of Beverly Hills, and F. T. Hickox of Tacoma. Four entries have been made in the tenth event, class 38, when tandems will be shown. Entries for the class have been entered

Girl Scout Week Begins Soon November 18th to November 24th inclusive, has been formerly proclaimed by the national board of directors of the Girl Scouts as days to be observed as Girl Scout week. More than 187,000 Girl Scouts throughout the United States, Hawaii and Porto Rico will don their new gray green twill of khaki colored uniforms for the entire week which will begin on Girl Scout Sunday when special services will be held in the churches where Girl Scouts are attending. Many troops will go in a body to church while others will split up into small groups to attend the church of their faith. Unique programs are being arranged for by more than 680 local councils and community committees and will feature the home-making art, community service activities of the Girl Scouts, cooking contests, preparation of meals, purchasing of food as well as the many tasks that are performed to make the home a well run establishment. In many instances the responsibilities of the Girl Scouts. Community service will be publicly demonstrated at the settlement houses or day nurseries where visitors will see the Girl Scouts turning to use their knowledge of how a baby should be washed, dressed and fed and the intricacies of games that keep the older children happy and amused.

Informal Dinner Saturday Evening Mrs. Crawford-Newcomb entertained informally at dinner Saturday evening for her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hanna of Chendale, California; for Mrs. Martha Lee Alexander of Portland, and for her small daughter Joan.

Keenes Are Hosts At Informal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keene entertained informally Saturday evening with a charming dinner party in their home on Leflore street. Covers were placed at the flower decked table for Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Quisenberry, Mr. and Mrs. Egeel Kay, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Keene.

Iris Expert Speaks Here Next Monday

An announcement of interest to the many garden enthusiasts in Salem, is that R. W. Cooley, iris expert of Silverton, will address the Salem Garden club at their October meeting, Monday evening, October 1, in the Chamber of Commerce. All flower-lovers are asked to avail themselves of the privilege of hearing Mr. Cooley, who is regarded as one of the foremost iris culturists on the coast.

Women Interested In Art Exhibit At The Fair

Women prominent in the activities of the Oregon state federation of women's clubs have consented to act as hostesses at the art exhibit at the Oregon state fair this week, thus giving the exhibit a flavor of official status in the federated clubs' program.

Mrs. G. J. Frankel of Portland, president of the state federation, will be Salem all week, assisting Mrs. Alice Weister of Portland, who is in charge of the art department. She has appointed hostesses from all over the state, each hostess to serve for one day. The complete list of hostesses is Mrs. Elizabeth McNary Albert of Salem, Mrs. Charles Bilyeu of Dallas, Mrs. Edwin Pierce of Portland, Mrs. Royden Wheeler of Multnomah, Mrs. R. C. Mylne of McMinnville, Mrs. Edwin L. Knapp of Eugene, and Mrs. Frankel. Mrs. Albert is a past president of the Salem Women's club, and Mrs. Bilyeu was president of the Dallas Women's club last year.

Mrs. Bilyeu is recording secretary of the state federation and Mrs. Albert is one of the directors of the federation this year. The arrangement of having the president of the state federation of women's club appoint hostesses for the art exhibit, and to assist in it herself, each year at the state fair, promises to become a permanent part of the federation's program, and much is being done by the public chairmen of the federation to interest the different affiliated clubs throughout the state in the project.

Professor Walter Isaacs of the University of Washington, who is acting as judge of the exhibit, has just returned from a leave of absence spent in study at Paris. Besides making awards he will give valuable talks and comments on the pictures exhibited. Mrs. Alice Weister, who is in charge of the art department, is noted throughout the state in literary and artistic circles. Her capable management of the art department of the fair last year made it of great interest not only to the artists exhibiting, but to all those who were concerned for the state's advancement in education and culture.

At the Theaters

"Isle of Forgotten Women," the Columbia Pictures production starring Conway Tearle, which will be shown at Oregon theatre for three days starting today is one of those alluring films which conjure up visions of dancing girls and romantic moonlight nights. The background of tropical islands has furnished the author ample opportunity to introduce mystery, romance, action and tense situations which grip the film lover. In the pretentious cast which supports Mr. Tearle in "Isle of Forgotten Women" are Dorothy Sebastian, who plays the part of a native charmer, Alice Calhoun and Gibson Gowland, who played the star part in "Greed."

Screedon's most famous comedy team, Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, the comedians responsible for "Rookies" and "Baby Mine," arrives at the Elsinore theatre today in "Circus Rookies," said to be the most hilarious of the season's comedies. In this film the elongated Dane and the pint edition Arthur do their stuff against a circus background, Dane as an odd-job man around the "big top" who essays his hand at lion taming, and Arthur as a loquacious, quick-witted press agent. They run afoul of each other when they both lose their hearts to a dainty, pretty trapeze artist.

TOOK ADVICE OF HER MOTHER

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wetmore, Colo.—"When I was married 14 years ago I was in bad health for a couple of years and when I tried to do anything I would get tired and worn-out. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound off and on all these years and have recommended it to hundreds of women. I have given birth to six children and have taken the Vegetable Compound as a tonic before child birth. It has done me worlds of good. My mother had taken it several times and she recommended it to me."—Mrs. JOHN BRANDELL, Wetmore, Colorado.

Screen Life in Hollywood

By Wade Warner HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—An undersea world where monsters the size of the Woolworth building crawl menacingly over the slime of the ocean floor is being filmed mysteriously as part of "The Mysterious Island," a picture which has gone through almost as many misfortunes as beset the characters in the story itself. Back in 1936 "The Mysterious Island" was begun, and much interesting undersea footage was shot. But in the midst of production a hurricane blew the company Florida location off the map, and since then the project has been alternately received and shelved again. In recent months, however, considerable progress has been made, and there is every reason to expect the picture will be seen on the screen this winter.

Wildness In Walls Even the walls are wild in this town sometimes associated in the popular imagination with wild parties. The phrase "wild walls," however, is just as misleading as most accounts of the wild parties. Any wall which can be quickly removed to throw the interior of a room open to the camera is known to set-builders as a "wild wall." Some sets are built with all four walls wild, so as to give the camera the greatest possible number of angles from which to shoot.

Gervais Couple Weds In Salem, Now At Beaches

GERVAIS, Ore., Sept. 24—(Spl.)—Edna C. Stevens and E. Ward Manning were married Saturday morning in Salem. Miss Stevens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Stevens of North Hollywood and Mr. Manning is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Manning of Gervais. Both of the young folks have lived here all their lives and have many friends. After a few days spent at the beach Mr. and Mrs. Manning will be at home on their farm near Gervais.

SMALL BOY GETS BIG KICK OUT OF VISIT TO THE FAIR

Everything From Big Horses to Small Hot-Dogs Makes Decided Hit With Typical Young Oregonian

By RUTH MAE LAWRENCE My small nephew squeaked my hand ecstatically. "Gee, look at them baby pigs! I'd like to have that little one with the pink ears and the curly, curly tail," he complimented breathlessly. "How about that?" I queried caustically. "But I couldn't squeak my exuberant nephew. "I love everything, just everything, at fair time," he caroled. "The smell isn't so bad, auntie, you know that," he reproached me as we passed from the hog barn. "It was the Sunday before the state fair, and I had promised my nephew that we would ramble all over the ground wherever his fancy took him. He was to be the guiding star, the navigator of our excursion, the sole arbiter of his destiny for that one afternoon. Livestock Barns First The livestock barns were chosen first to be honored with his presence, by my nephew. "How about that?" he pointed out. "That was the man in charge of the shooting gallery arranging his pigs in a shining line on his hunting-covered counter. We sauntered slowly down the mid-way, wandering from side to side as my nephew's fancy dictated. The lengthening shadows were finger-fing the opposite rows of booths when he had finished his tour of investigation. He faced me abruptly. "Auntie," he asked, "don't you like hot dogs?" So we had hot dogs, and hot mustard, on lukewarm buns. And so we went home, one small boy and I, carrying the peace of complete satisfaction, a memory of one afternoon of full pleasure, and a kaleidoscopic review of the Oregon State Fair.

Laura Cammack Teaching Again ROSEDALE, Ore., Sept. 24—(Special)—Miss Laura Cammack has begun her year's work as teacher in the Turner schools. J. D. Alexander and Albert Bates have been putting up ensilage. Miss Mildred Allen will stay in Salem while attending high school during the coming school year. The Baldwin family is living in the house recently vacated by Jack Turnbull.

Huge Horses Attract Great Percheron horse gazed over our heads as we inspected them, my nephew keeping a running fire of criticism, both adverse and complimentary. "Gee, look at that big fellow! Golly, wouldn't you hate to be alone in a pasture on a dark night with him?" Reflectively, "I'd hunt a tree. You know, I never used to be scared of horses, but when they get that big!" We hurried on to the Shetland ponies, but the boy was sapped when the ponies edged away as my small nephew petted them, and showed

Families Return From Hop Yards As School Opens

FRUITLAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—(Special)—With the opening of school today it appears that most of the faces which graced the Fruitland school last year are back again. Mrs. Schultz, who has been teaching here for six years, will again have the younger pupils under her care, and Mrs. Fargard, who has taught here three years, will teach the upper grades. The opening of school has brought back to their homes a number of families which have been away, some of them to the hop yards and canneries. Those returning are the Browns, Honko, Afford and W. Gerig families. Mrs. Fagg, who has been working at a cannery, also returned.
