

Hoover and Kellogg Welcome Coolidge

Smith Attacks Alleged Corruption on Part of Republican Officialdom

By PAUL F. HAUFER Associated Press Staff Writer HELENA, Mont., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Rectifying what he termed a "long tale of corruption, intrigue and treason against the government itself," on the part of republicans charged with the administration of the nation's affairs during the last seven and one-half years, Governor Smith tonight declared he had searched in vain for any word from Herbert Hoover "of protest, of condemnation or of repudiation of this black chapter in his party's history."

The democratic presidential nominee recalled the oil lease disclosures and court action growing out of them as well as revelations of wrong-doing on the part of Charles R. Forbes, as director of the veterans bureau and Thomas W. Miller as alien property custodian which landed them in prison, and asked whether there was no responsibility for this resting on the republican party.

In a campaign speech delivered here in the home city of Senator Thomas J. Walsh who prosecuted the senate oil inquiry, the New York governor declared that testimony in the courts or before the senate investigators showed that the leading of the naval oil reserves was discussed in the cabinet of the republican president of the United States; that an oil official had sent a communicator to Secretary Hoover "protesting against the secret leasing of Teapot Dome, and added:

"The record of the last seven and one-half years is as well known to the republican candidate for president as any other man in the United States. Nobody will deny that Mr. Hoover sat in the cabinet for seven and a half years, yet I search in vain for any word from him of protest, or condemnation or of repudiation of this black chapter in his party's history."

"On the contrary, in the face of that record in his speech of acceptance, he said 'the record of these seven and a half years constitutes a period of rare courage and leadership and constructive action. Never has a political party been able to look back upon a similar period with more satisfaction,' would Mr. Hoover have the American people believe that a political party with that record in office could look upon it with satisfaction? Does Mr. Hoover want the people to believe

"Above all things, would he have the American people believe that a political party with that record in office could look upon it with satisfaction? Does Mr. Hoover want the people to believe that he looks back with satisfaction on that record? It will not pass that question on to the chairman of the republican committee; nobody can answer that but himself.

Four Years Reviewed Governor Smith said he was full aware that most all of the oil lease disclosures were before the American voters in 1924. Since then, however, he recalled that the supreme court had rendered its decision "placing its condemnation of these wicked transactions," and the people have learned on the authority of the highest court of the land "that these oil leases were the product of official corruption and fraud."

In addition the democratic nominee said it had been developed since the last presidential election that "the chairman of the republican national committee secured from the beneficiaries of the oil leases at least $260,000 in Liberty bonds to help liquidate a campaign deficit of some $1,800,000.

"It was the handwriting of a dead man," the governor went on, "that disclosed to the people to whom these bonds were offered. They were offered to the republican secretary of the treasury in an amount of $50,000. The secretary of the treasury was unwilling to be a party to this fraud and instead contributed $50,000 to the republican national committee and rejected the bonds."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: In response to many inquiries made of me as to why the Rosa L. Browning Amusement Company is not at the Oregon State Fair this year, I beg to say that it is through no fault of the company, but due to the unfair treatment of the Board. My manager called on numerous occasions to arrange for space and contract, but each time was advised the secretary was ill and could not give further attention. Later we telegraphed for old space and secretary of the Board advised by letter old space not available but other space had been allotted by the Board. Believing the Board would treat me fairly I relied upon the assurance of the letter of my secretary until I received a further letter from her advising the Board had sold the space set aside for me. My manager has endeavored to arrange an adjustment but without success and to my serious damage.
