

SOUTHWEST'S VOTES SOUGHT

Political Pot Begins to Boil
Rapidly as National Election Looms

By D. FIELD BRITTE

PHOENIX, Arizona, Sept. 26.—
(AP)—Political fervor on a national scale, for some time at high temperature in the teeming east, has at last leaped the barriers of prairies and mountains into this vast western region of small populations and great distances.

Only six weeks remain before election day but for this group of states just within the coastal plain it is sufficient now that the fighting of primary and nominating convention was subsided, for out here they prefer to start leisurely and wind up with a great splash.

Party leaders in the states of the Rockies, wedged between the mid-west and the Pacific seaboard, have learned after much experience that it is not possible to keep scattered groups of voters at fever pitch for long, so they are conserving their energy for a whirlwind finish that will sweep their partisans to the polls on election day. Upon how well they succeed will depend the division the electoral votes owned by Arizona, her border neighbor, New Mexico, and the more northern Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming.

These six states will cast 22 votes in the electoral college, one less than half New York's quota, and they are controlled by an electorate that approximates just one quarter the size of New York's voting populace.

Colorado leading with six votes, Utah having four and the others three each, they form a block that neither Herbert Hoover nor Alfred E. Smith is willing to surrender without a fight; in fact both have made special appeals to them. All of these states are interested to some degree in water power, most of them particularly in the disputed Boulder dam project, and it was with this in mind that Hoover soon after his acceptance speech discussed the subject at Los Angeles, and Governor Smith dwelt upon it in his recent Denver address.

ILWACO BANK SUES FOR SUM OF $3000

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—(AP) Here Wednesday by the First National Bank of Ilwaco against the Astoria National Bank, W. C. Crawley, receiver of the institution, and the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, over $3,000 obligation.

The bank of Ilwaco alleges they had more than 3,000 on deposit with the Astoria bank on February 17, and on that date sent a draft to the United States National Bank of Portland, drawn on the Astoria bank. This, they say, was turned over to the Portland branch of the Federal Reserve bank, and by them forwarded to Astoria for collection.

The Astoria bank, the complaint they had more than $3,000 on deposit at the Portland branch of the Federal reserve, and paid the draft by an order on the Federal Reserve. All of this is claimed to have been completed prior to the close of business on February 21.

February 22 being a holiday, the Federal Reserve did not receive the order until the next day, and the Astoria bank failed to open its doors on this date. The order was not honored by the Federal Reserve and the bank of Ilwaco was forced to reimburse the United States National for their original cashing of the draft.

The Russell poultry yards of Corvallis have received from a firm in California an order for 240,000 Rhode Island Red and Barred Plymouth Rock baby chicks. This order represents $43,000, and is one of the largest ever shipped out of Oregon.

RELIGIOUS PHASE OF TORAL CASE ARGUED

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—(AP) —Although Prosecutor Nieto in arguments here before the Mexican court which is hearing a motion to dismiss the charges against those held with Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of President-elect Obregon, declined to discuss the religious aspects of the case, counsel for the defense today brought these phases of the problem into the discussion.

It is expected that decision as to the appeal by Mother Concepcion and 15 others for their release will be reached in about 10 days.

The prosecutor limited himself to setting forth the legal questions as the only ones competent for presentation before the court.

Demetri Sodi, defense counsel declared however, that Toral's deed could be characterized only as a "politico-religious" act which had its origin in the closing of the churches which prompted passive resistance by those unable to take up arms.

Sodi said that this nucleus of passive resisters grew when members of honorable families were thrown into dungeons for the "grave offense of baptizing babies in their homes."

Flames Sweep Through Hankow 2000 Houses Go

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Historic Hankow, scene of frequent fighting and disorder in China's long history, has been visited by another tragedy, this time, a fire in the native city with the destruction of 2,000 houses and shops on one of the principal streets.

Seven bodies had been recovered today and it was feared that many people were drowned when they jumped into ponds to escape the flames. At least 7,000 persons were homeless.

The fire started in a gambling den yesterday morning and spread rapidly. The headquarters of nine rickshaw companies were destroyed and it was reported that 700 rickshaws were burned, thus virtually wiping out the city's rickshaw transportation system.
