May Revise Course—A meeting of principals of the grade schools was held in the senior high school building Monday afternoon to study the course of writing offered in the grades with a view to revising and improving it. Mrs. Clara Pomeroy, director of spelling and penmanship in the junior high schools, was in charge. The matter of revising the course was taken into consideration before school closed last year, but no definite action was taken.

Encounter Band Storm—Mrs. C. N. Needham and Mrs. E. E. Bergman, who returned to Salem recently after driving to Denver, Colorado for the national convention of the Daughters of Veterans are telling their many friends of the one real thrill they experienced on their motor trip. While passing over the Idaho desert, they encountered a very disagreeable sand and wind storm, which if they had stopped, would have soon covered them with drifting sand. Other than their unpleasant experience with the storm, they had an unusually pleasant trip, with not even a puncture to mar the journey.

First Teachers Meet—The first regular meeting of high school teachers was held after school Monday. Only routine matters were considered.

In Oregon City—Ralph Emmons of the Emmons Clothing store was in Oregon City yesterday on business.

Visit in Salem—Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Sly and family and Mrs. Eliza Thompson of Creswell, Oregon spent the week end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hewitt, 328 Rural Avenue.

Achesons Leave Soon—The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Acheson will leave Thursday for Tacoma, where he was given a pastorate at the recent Methodist annual conference. The Rev. Acheson has been pastor of the Jason Lee Methodist church in Salem.

Distribute Journals—Copies of the first school year number of the Oregon Educational Journal were distributed to the Salem school teachers Monday from the office of the city school superintendent. The magazine is the official publication of the Oregon State Teachers' association.

Giant Quinces Raised—A. W. Veatch, who lives at 1514 D street, Salem, brought some huge quinces to the offices of the New Oregon Statesman Monday. The largest of these quinces weighed one pound 12 ounces and was 15 inches in circumference. They were grown on Mr. Veatch's Salem property.

Leaders Meet—The building campaign of the boys club of the Y. M. C. A. got underway last night with a meeting of the leaders for the clubs. Dr. Frank Brown spoke on the responsibility of the leaders to the boys under them and told of the opportunities to have good times and do constructive work together. More than twenty attended the dinner meeting.

Recklessness Charged—Fred Parrish of Albany was arrested Sunday night on a charge of reckless driving, following an accident at the corner of High and State streets, in which Parrish's automobile hit a machine driven by Dr. Joseph of Corvallis. Parrish suffered a severe cut on his face. The other driver was not injured. Parrish was cited to appear in municipal court today.

Venison Barbecue Held—Dr. Fred W. Burger was host to his office attendants, patients and friends at a free venison barbecue held at Charley Maxwell's Fat Boy Barbecue Monday evening. The meat was from a 200 lb. buck which Dr. Burger killed early last week in the Blue mountains in eastern Oregon. Dr. Bon F. Pound and Dr. Kenneth Waters, who are associated with Dr. Burger in offices at 408 S. Bank Bldg., were special guests at the barbecue.

550 At Camp—Registration at the city auto camp reached 550 for the month of September. Fewer cars were in the camp each day during the second and third week of the month than there were earlier or later. The scarcity of help in the orchards and hop yards took every worker to the farms. The best day's business was on the first with 35 cars. Low days were the fifth and thirteenth with 11 each. The six cabins were occupied every night.

Religious Question Again Bobs Up When Republican Committeeman Rebuked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Chairman Work of the Republican National committee late tonight made public the telegram he sent to Oliver D. Street, Alabama committeeman on September 29, in connection with a circular dealing with Governor Smith's religion as a factor in the presidential campaign.

Earlier the national chairman had refused to publish his communication, saying it was confidential and should be given out by Street, if at all. Republican headquarters tonight, however, said the chairman's attention had been called to newspaper dispatches quoting Street as denying that he had received any instructions from Dr. Work upon the circular.

Full Text Given
Upon receiving this report the national chairman published his communication to Street, as follows:

"A circular has reached me purporting to have been written by you subject: 'Governor Smith's membership in the Roman Catholic church and its proper place as an issue in the campaign.' I regret exceedingly that any of our party officials should bring the religious question into a partisan campaign. Invite your attention to a letter from me to all national committeemen, dated June 29, in which I said:

"The campaign policy we propose to follow will be informative and constructive only. The promptings of the conscience and personal liberty within the law are not proper subjects for political debate."

"I am sure you will observe suggestion in future as 'Hubert Work, Chairman.'"

Act Admitted
GUNTHERVILLE, Ala., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Oliver D. Street, Republican National committeeman for Alabama and chairman of the State Republican Campaign committee, said today he had distributed 200,000 copies of a circular declaring that the Catholic church is a "very live and vital issue" in the presidential campaign.

Street's statement was made when he was asked regarding published reports that Chairman Work of the Republican National committee, had sent him a telegram condemning distribution of campaign material dealing with religion and with Governor Smith's membership in the Catholic church. Washington dispatches today quoted Work, as confirming that he had sent such a telegram.

ways been and is now a symbol of temporal and not of spiritual or religious power, when I see Governor Smith calling in a Catholic priest, Father Duffy to assist him in answering the purely political questions propounded to him and to aid him in running the gauntlet of Roman Catholic church laws and doctrines, I am driven to the conclusion that, however he may seek to camouflage his real opinion, at heart he is in accord with his church on these political questions."

Forecast Made
Continuing it said: "This (Governor Smith's) church will use him as an instrument to bring about a condition which it will be expedient to make the issue. Then it will make the issue with Governor Smith himself, and if he does not yield, it will crush him, as it has crushed thousands of others, as ruthlessly as it would crush a protestant."

In the appendage, Street calls on republican workers to place the religious question "on its proper grounds and to carefully discriminate between the political, civil and social doctrines of the Roman Catholic church on the one hand and its religious beliefs and practices on the other," and adds: "With the latter we have no concern whatever. But we are under a duty in a political campaign to keep silent on the political, civic and social principles of that church or any other..."

PIGEONS WIN FORTY BLUE RIBBONS HERE

Forty blue ribbons or first awards, five red ribbons for second places and three white ribbons, third place, was the record which A. J. Edwards and son Cecil of the Yew Park Pigeon Lofts made from their exhibit of fancy pigeons at the state fair.

Mr. Edwards and his son entered 51 birds, of which three were disqualified as being in poor condition. Every one of the others won ribbons. Mr. Edwards and son have been exhibiting pigeons at the state fair for the last 15 years.
