Hundreds Flock to Inspect Hubbard Mineral Springs Sanatorium

HUBBARD, Ore., Oct. 1.—Over two hundred visitors inspected the new improvements at the Hubbard Mineral Springs sanatorium Sunday, and almost an equal number came today for the second day of the opening hours which marked the resumption of activity at the health resort.

The sanatorium was opened today for patients, and a number have already arrived. Dr. Richard Landis and Dr. H. Peterson, both of Portland, will be in charge.

The sanatorium has been closed for a number of months while the main building was being enlarged and a brick bath house built on the north side. Improvements in the main building include a new lobby on the east side, rearrangement of the dining room and the front of the new lobby, pass the front of a number of rooms for patients on the second floor.

Instead of stairs, the building is now equipped with ramps leading to all parts of the main building and to the bath house, for the convenience of patients. A new driveway which leads in to the front of the new lobby, past the mineral springs, has been graded.

MEMBERSHIP LUNCH AT CIVIC CHAMBER

New members held the floor at Monday's Chamber of Commerce luncheon, the entire time available, with the exception of about five minutes, being given over to introduction of those who have joined since January 1, together with their presentation by those who obtained their applications.

Prior to the membership presentation President Vick, in charge of the ceremonies, introduced Captain Williams, of the Salvation Army, who made a simple, direct request for Salem's support of the Army's annual drive for funds. The budget, he said, has been set at $5,495 for the actual amount necessary to support the organization's activities in Salem and Marion counties.

Brazier Small, justice of the peace, representing the Salem post of the American Legion, was called on and explained the drum corps, which leaves today for San Antonio, Texas, to advertise Oregon and its capital city enroute. He showed a sample of the unique souvenir advertising the flax industry, saying that some 9,000 of these will be distributed. Thirty-six members of the drum corps will make the trip, he said, the entire party numbering 41 including delegates. Special thanks were extended the chamber and Salem business men for their aid in making the trip possible.

EXTENSION SCHOOL COURSES POPULAR

RAILROAD'S PLEA SET FOR HEARING

The interstate commerce commission has set October 15 as the time for hearing the application of the Southern Pacific company for permission to abandon approximately 23 miles of its railroad from Airline to Broadmead, via Dallas and Monmouth.

The application was filed in 1927 and the original hearing was set for November 15 of last year. Protests against the abandonment of the railroad later were filed by the parents of the Monmouth normal school, the Dallas and Monmouth chambers of commerce and a large number of business firms.

In a letter received by the public service commission here Ben Day, attorney for the Southern Pacific company intimated that some concessions had been made by the railroad corporation which probably would prevent any protests being filed at the October hearing of the application.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—W. C. Crawley, receiver for the Astoria National bank, today filed suit in Federal district court against the Clatsop Cranberry company and W. A. Elgner to recover on a note for $7,500.

The complaint says this amount was borrowed by the Cranberry company on Sept. 11, 1925, and secured by a mortgage on certain property in Clatsop county. Failure to pay taxes, the complaint continued, caused this property to be taken over by the county and sold by the sheriff. The land was purchased by Elgner.

The receiver for the Astoria bank, which closed its doors February 23, 1928, seeks to foreclose on the mortgage held by the bank, asking the court to set aside the conveyance to Elgner and setting aside any claim to the property which might be voiced through him. Attorney Fees of $1,500 are sought.

Famous Desperado Taken Into Custody at Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct.—(AP)—Harry McDonald, furniture and automobile dealer of Portland, and "Dude cowboy" and horseman was being held in the county jail here tonight to answer to an old murder charge on file at Warrensburg, Mo.

Near the climax of a highly successful week as an announcer at the night horse show at State fair in Salem, McDonald was taken into custody by Multnomah deputy sheriffs at the Fairgrounds today. His wife had been appearing there as a trick rider.

Confronted with a circular taken from the police records here, McDonald was said by police to have admitted that the picture was a likeness of himself, but denied that he was the "Harry Knight" whose criminal record was set forth, or that he knew anything of the crimes charged.

Smith Claims Republicans Opposed Forward Moves

CONVENTION HALL, Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Addressing the democratic state convention here tonight on the general theme of party responsibility, Gov. Alfred E. Smith reviewed his service as chief executive of the state of the state, and assailed the republican majority in the state senate and assembly which he charged had sought to block him at almost every turn.

"I will be able to demonstrate if not in the time given me tonight, surely before this campaign is over," the governor declared. "That not a single constructive achievement that took place in the government of this state in the last six years had republican support until they were beaten down to the earth."

The appearance of the Governor before the 1,700 delegates and alternates and a crowd of spectators that packed the convention hall which seats nearly 5,000 brought to a roaring, cheering climax a day marked by party patriotism. Outside the hall, other thousands unable to gain admission jammed the streets and filled the adjoining Washington park, while batteries of amplifiers brought to their ears the speech of the governor.

Meanwhile, all awaited, expectantly some announcement from the series of conferences between Gov. Smith and the state and county leaders as to the make-up of the state ticket which will be recommended at tomorrow's nominating session.

Two conferences, one in the forenoon and the other after adjournment of the opening session of the convention failed to result in an agreement as to the gubernatorial candidate and the balance of the ticket.

Starts Work Early ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Back in his home state after a campaign invasion of the west, Governor Smith stopped from his special train here today into the atmosphere of a political convention looking to him for guidance.

Half an hour after his arrival in this upstate city, which gave him a rousing welcome, the democratic presidential nominee was in conference with party leaders.

Smith's first view as to who should be nominated for governor and given other places on the democratic state ticket.
