Household Hints

MENU HINT
 Steak and Onions, Baked Potatoes, Carrot, Cabbage, Apple Salad, White Cake with Orange Filling, Tea

Here is a new way of cooking the succulent beef steak and onions. These onions are not at all greasy and will be very tender. The recipe is for four people.

Today's Recipes
Steak and Onions—Take at least eight or ten onions, peel and slice and fry until half done in butter or rendered out suet. Then pour two or three cups of boiling water over them, drain and set aside. Trim and cut or fold a two-pound porterhouse steak so that it will fit the size of your casserole. Wrap a string around the steak to hold it together, if steak is folded, and sear on all sides in butter or the suet dripping. Pour the fat left in the frying pan into the casserole, place the steak in it, heap the onions over the steak, season with salt and pepper. Put cover on the casserole, and set in a moderate oven for about an hour.

White Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, three egg whites. Cream butter and sugar together, add milk, then sifted flour with baking powder and salt added. Fold in whites of eggs which have been beaten until stiff. Bake in two layers.

Orange Filling—One-half cup water, three tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch, three egg yolks, juice one orange, and little grated rind. Boil water, sugar, cornstarch, orange juice together in double boiler. When cooked, remove from fire and add egg yolks. When cake is cool, spread orange filling between layers and frost cake with boiled icing.

SUGGESTIONS
Parchment Shades
 Parchment shades are favorites, for they are so adaptable to all color schemes. One shade in a black lacquer frame has panels in the natural color with black and gold motifs painted on the panels. The base is over an unglazed foundation in geometrical design, but in shape that is suitable for the shade. A black and gold tasseled hangs from the lighting spring.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE
 Far be it from me to advocate anything that would bring discord into the home. Homes should be places of love and peace. But why will mothers—it is principally mothers—take such dislikes to their children's sweethearts and make things so unpleasant? What if you don't approve altogether of has her good points. Your mother may not have thought John's fa-anyway, so why make it so by your interference and expressed dislikes? A girl writes:

 "Dear Mrs. Lee: I am very much in need of your advice, as no one here can help me. I have been going with a young man for over a year. We are planning on getting married. I love him, and he shows that he loves me, but his mother does not like me and my mother does not like him, and they made us break up. Do you think we should wait, as he is not 21 yet, but will be soon?"

"VERY LONESOME."
 Yes, I'd wait until he is at least 21, if I were you. And then I would move as far away from the two mothers as possible.

Anxious: I see no harm in your going with the girl two years older than yourself, even if you are a preacher's son. But of course, you wouldn't cut out your friend, would you?

Jacqueline: There is no harm in your giving your boy friend a photograph of yourself if he asks for it, and taking his, if your mother does not object. Yes, there is such a thing as "love" at 14 or so, but it seldom lasts. It is usually called "puppy love". Getting married may not mean love at all, just a habit, as practiced these days. It may include kisses as well as hugs. I hope these answers will satisfy you, Jacqueline.

Val: I think it would be better to forget the young man if you can. Yes, the way you used the paper was all right.
