

ZEPP CAPTAIN WILL BE FETED

Washington's Official Greeting to be Accorded Dr. Eckener Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Official Washington tomorrow will welcome Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin which paid a brief visit to Washington Monday near the end of her trans-Atlantic flight.

The party, in addition to Dr. Eckener, includes Count Alexander Von Brandenstein-Zepelin, son-in-law of the late Count Zeppelin, Staff Captain Ernst A. Lehmann, and Colonel Emilio Herrera of the Spanish air force. Upon arrival at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning from Philadelphia the party will be greeted by the three assistant secretaries for aeronautics, Dayson of the war department, Wagner of the navy department and MacCracken of the commerce department.

At 1 o'clock the party will be entertained at breakfast at the White House as guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge in company with Secretaries Wilbur of the interior department, and Acting Secretary of State J. Reuben Clark. Dr. Otto Kiep, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, the three assistant secretaries of aeronautics.

Courtesy calls will be paid the state, war, navy and commerce departments and Herbert Hoover, the republican nominee for the presidency, during the morning hours. Following which flights over Washington will be made in army and navy transport planes.

A luncheon will be given by Assistant Secretaries Davison, Warner and MacCracken. The party will visit the national press club prior to tea given by the German embassy. A dinner and reception by the German embassy concluded the program.

Tomorrow night Dr. Eckener and Captain Lehman will leave for Pittsburgh and Akron, where they will spend the week-end with former associates, who are now connected with the Goodyear-Zepelin company, which is to build two airships for the navy.

SCORES HIGHER IN BUSINESS LEAGUE

The Stiff's Furniture company quiet in the business. Men bowling league forged into the lead in Thursday night's games by defeating the New Oregon Statesman two games out of three.

Samoa straight, and the Salem Sanitary Dairy won from the Fairmount Dairy two out of three in a close and exciting match.

Both of the Grocers made the high series score of the day, 529, and the high game, 191.

MARKET STILL HOLDS QUIET

Fruits and Vegetables Are Steady to Unchanged in Salem Now

The week has seen another period of little activity in the market for fruits and vegetables and in their main prices have been steady.

Apples and grapes hold the attention of fruit buyers, with prices on apples low even for so early in the season and grapes just about due for an advance. Wholesale quotations on apples, of which there is a big crop this fall, include Spitz, Winter Banana, David and Northern Spy all at $1.50 and the Snow at $1.40. Stores are selling full bushels of choice Bananas, Jonathan and Spitzbergs at $1.19, with Baldwins at 95c for a good grade and as low as 70 cents for the less perfect fruit. The Jonathans and Bananas are imports.

Today Grapes Advance

The California today grape went up 10 cents the last day, or so, and will go higher, probably, as this is the in-between season on the early and late bearings. Plenty of local concord and some little green grapes resembling the concord in size are also offered at 6 cents will remain as usual near the store. The California seedless grape is noticeable where the varieties are not so great. These, like the Tokays, were three pounds for 25 cents Thursday.

The orange market has been steady for weeks now, and apparently will remain so until near the holidays. The larger varieties are at 75 cents a dozen, with the medium size at about 59 cents and around 45 or 50 cents for the smaller ones.

There are still a few ground cherries, at $1.50, wholesale, though few of these are noted in the store.

Ice cream melons still occupy the show windows, at 1 1/2 cents. There are also a few Klondykes, though the demand is almost nil.

Bananas Hold Steady

There has been no change in bananas, with these remaining steady at 8 1/2 cents wholesale. Occasionally over-ripe ones are obtainable for 3 pounds for 25 cents at the stores.

Despite accounts of attempts to raise the cranberry price, several local stores were selling them Thursday at less than a week ago, or two pounds for 35 cents. They are good quality, in the main.

Lemons are steady, and the market more or less apathetic. Wholesale, they are from $7.50 to $8 a case; retail, two dozen of slightly old ones at 85 cents.

Grapefruit is beginning to be more in demand, although there is little of that from Florida, the more choice in evidence. California stock comes at $7.50 a case, wholesale, and the Florida at $10. Three of the grapefruit from the neighboring state cost 29 cents at wholesale stores.

Quinces are none to plentiful, and are often large and nearly free from blemishes. This run is about 5 cents a pound at the store, just a cent more than the wholesale quotation.

Pomegranates are quoted at $1.50.

"JOHNNY" BREAKS COMEDY RECORDS

Everyone has his moment, and Loony Joy, in "Johnny Get Your Gun" which the Manhattan players gave Thursday night at the Elsinore, and which they are presenting both afternoon and night today and Saturday, is surely having his. Loony takes Edmund Burke's hilarious comedy, throws it around, plumps it down at a pace that keeps the audience howling over the last wide crack while they listen to the one being sprung at the moment.

Harry J. Leland and a Jack Lawrence both take two separate character delineations in the comedy, but one actor who isn't in the cast, and who is casually mentioned by Loony, has a special fascination for us. That was the coyote mentioned in a certain song. We found the coyote (or thought we did) in the small boy that sat two rows ahead of us. He started to laugh and choked on his gum and let out a yip that must have made a cow-boy on the stage homesick for his "lone prairie."

Well anyway, all digressions aside, "Johnny Get Your Gun" is a corking play. All the business men forget their tired headaches, their wives forget their burned fingers, and the kids forget everything except that when they grow up they're going to wear orange silk shirt, wild and woolly chaps and scarlet hankies 'round their necks.

After seeing half a dozen offerings by the Manhattan players, those apostles of true entertainment, we have joined the long list of devotees. The Manhattan players are getting to be a regular cult in Salem, and we know certain individuals that attend their opening numbers each Thursday night with twenty times the regularity they attend their church. And we know why, too.

The genial Mr. Leland claims that next week's offering, Avery Hopwood's "The Alarm Clock," is the funniest play "our" players have ever offered. However, you'd better see both and be your own judge. "The Alarm Clock" will have to step some to arouse more enthusiasm and genuine merriment than their play this week-end.—RUTH MAE LAWRENCE.

LONG FLIGHT PLANE

LISBON—(AP)—Three aviators, Captain Pais Romos, Captain Viegas and Lieutenant Esteves, are awaiting the permission of the Minister of War to fly from Portugal to the Portuguese West African colony of Angola. It is not yet decided who the fourth man, will be.

Two Vickers planes have been chosen, and all possible care is being taken to ensure the success of the flight.
