FANCHON-MARCO'S STARS HERE AGAIN

Another break for Salem! A blaze of color—the tap of swift-moving feet, away of graceful bodies, and you have it right—Fanchon and Marco are at home again for two days of each week at the Elsinore. The curtain rolled up on them and their colorful stage settings last night after the audience had been put into the right mood by Rod LaRocque as he sauntered his way through all sorts of difficulties in "Love Over Night."

The Artists Idea which Fanchon and Marco are presenting this week is all that it suggests. Dramatic that is better than usual; the McCune Sisters dressed in feathery black and white costumes are real artists. Their teamwork is perfect; their steps are graceful and animated. The Spanish dancers, the Romeros, leave one with an impression of a swirl of rose, silver, and white, tapping heels and toes, and graceful bodies, while little Babe Morris simply "draws one's breath" with the perfect rhythm of her flying feet. Her looks make one suspect that she may have been the inspiration for the Artists Idea.

Oh, yes, there is something else. You will hardly recognize the Elsinore orchestra—their beautiful blue smocks, splendid lighting effects, and a stage setting of colors so artistically used that their harmony almost becomes a part of the music.

You really can't afford to miss this show. I would say the Elsinore for this afternoon and tonight "has got what you need."—OLIVE DOAK.

Sam Warren, Portland, knocked out Tuffy Anderson, Lakeview, in the second round of a scheduled four-round go. They are light heavyweights.

Artichoke Sugar To Be Produced In Coos Regions

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The growing of White French artichokes has been recommended to Coos county ranchers who have suitable land, by Harvey S. Hale, county agent. Hale is now negotiating, he said, with an eastern buyer who proposes to manufacture sugar from the tubers. The first artichokes were planted here last year and the production was so heavy that the acreage for 1928 was greatly enlarged. Production ran from 25 to 60 tons.
