

Salem's Social Activities Chronicled; What the Women are Doing

RUTH MAE LAWRENCE—Society Editor

Mrs. John Orr Is Hostess to Matrons

A charming affair Wednesday afternoon was the bridge tea with which Mrs. John Orr entertained a number of Salem matrons in her new home.

Six tables of bridge were in play during the early hours of the afternoon, with a large group of additional guests coming for the tea hour. Mrs. Charles Ramp won the first prize for high bridge, with the second prize going to Mrs. F. E. Shafer.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Orr's daughter, Miss Charlotte Orr, and Mrs. Ross C. Bidwell and Mrs. Lucille Sweeney assisted her in the serving.

Guests Wednesday included Mrs. Fred Lange, Mrs. Ross Bidwell, Mrs. R. H. Baldock, Mrs. E. E. Lang, Mrs. H. E. Crawford, Mrs. M. C. Pettys, Mrs. Lou Grote, Mrs. M. F. Adams, Mrs. E. W. Peterson, Mrs. W. H. Hogan, Mrs. F. Thayer, Mrs. A. A. Blawert, Mrs. F. E. Sherwin, Mrs. J. H. Whitsett, Mrs. L. A. Steeves, Mrs. W. J. Liljequist, Mrs. R. C. Hunter, Mrs. W. F. Buchner, Mrs. Merrill Ohling, Mrs. Charles Ramp, Mrs. George Forge, Mrs. F. E. Shafer, Mrs. Charles Pratt, Mrs. David Wright, Mrs. Paul H. Hansen, Mrs. A. E. Pruitt, Mrs. T. D. McCallin, Mrs. G. W. Hillman, Mrs. P. M. Moore, Mrs. W. W. Rosebush, Mrs. Lucille Sweeney, Mrs. I. W. Lewis, Mrs. C. W. Brant, and Mrs. Fred Rittner.

Mrs. Orr is also entertaining with a second affair this afternoon, with Miss Charlotte Orr and Mrs. Harold Brown to assist her at the tea hour where a number of additional guests will call. Six tables of bridge will be in play.

In the guest list today will be Mrs. A. L. Hayes, Mrs. Carl Emmons, Mrs. Cecil Swope, Mrs. William Bushey, Mrs. Leon Barrick, Mrs. M. B. Wagstaff, Mrs. Glen Shumaker, Mrs. W. P. Babcock, Mrs. D. J. Bove, Mrs. James Imah, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Mrs. M. C. Coshatt, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. W. E. Hanson, Mrs. F. E. Shafer, Mrs. W. J. Staley, Mrs. W. D. Clarke, Mrs. L. O. Smith, Mrs. H. A. Gueffroy, Mrs. Harold Hughes, Mrs. Willard Wirtz, Mrs. Gene Grabenhorst, Mrs. George Alexander, Mrs. G. L. Newton, Mrs. Guy Irwin, Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mrs. E. B. McKelvey, Mrs. S. C. Dyer, Mrs. H. W. Scott, Mrs. A. J. Monroe, Mrs. San Francisco and Mrs. Harold Brown.

Fendrichs Entertain At Bridge and Cards

Mrs. and Mrs. Ed Fendrich were hosts to members of the B. E. club at dinner and an evening of cards in their home on State street Monday night.

The attractive dining table, centered with dainty chrysanthemums had covers for Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kightlinger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dennis, Mrs. Ida Keene, Mrs. Otto Hoppes, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Olmstead, Mrs. F. E. Neely, Mrs. H. C. Casement and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Fendrich. Mrs. Shaw assisted Mrs. Fendrich in serving.

Four tables of "500" were in play, with Mrs. Scott and Mr. Kightlinger winning the high score prize. The second prize went to Mrs. Shaw and Mr. Dennis.

Mrs. and Mrs. Townsend will entertain the club in a fortnight.

Three Links Club Program Is Friday

At Rebekahs are invited to attend the meeting of the Three Links club in their clubrooms in the I. O. O. F. hall on Friday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

A program is being arranged for the afternoon by Grace Robertson and Miss Martin.

Members of the hostess committee are Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Carrie Chubb, Sarah Wade, Rose Woodard and Florence Shields.

The First Spiritualist church will hold a circle at the home of Mrs. S. Lewis, 585 South Commercial street, Friday night at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

Yomarco Class To Have Party Friday

The Yomarco class of the First Methodist church will be entertained Friday night, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, with a pot-luck supper in the Kimball school chapel.

The supper will be followed by a social evening, with the entertainment being arranged by the men of the class.

Rebekah lodge No. 1 will be entertained in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night, November 12, with a social program. The committee in charge includes Nettie Williamson, Lenore Kirtel, Emma Danvers, Edith MacElroy and Grace Robertson.

Plan to Participate In Armistice Parade

At their regular weekly meeting last Monday night, the Rebekah lodge accepted the invitation of the American Legion to participate in the Armistice Day parade.

William Stegund, Louise Kline, Sarah Hutton were named as the committee in charge of the Rebekah group, and they are arranging to provide cards for all who cannot march. Members are requested to be at the Marion square Monday morning promptly at 8:45 o'clock.

Hostess to Bridge Club

Mrs. W. Connell Dyer, who entertained members of her bridge club and several additional guests Tuesday at a delightful luncheon and afternoon of bridge in her home.

Woman's Alliance Conference Here

Delegates from the Women's Alliance of Unitarian churches will meet this afternoon for a one o'clock luncheon at the Elks club. Covers will be placed for 40. The program which will follow the luncheon hour will open with prayer, led by Mrs. Julia Comstock. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Lloyd LeGarie, and will be followed by a response, roll call of delegates, reports by visiting delegates, and the announcement of the presidents' program for the new year. Miss Streeter, graduate of Tuckerman school, will speak, and addresses will be made by Mrs. T. W. Hayhurst of Portland on "Women and World Peace," and by Mrs. W. P. Boardman of Washington on "Ideal Alliance Program."

The alliance conference is being held in conjunction with the northwest conference of Unitarian churches being held here Wednesday night, today and Friday, with the Salem church as host.

Jubilee Quartette In Parish Program

The Dixie Jubilee quartette will give a benefit program in the auditorium of the Parish junior high school Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The quartette has an enviable reputation among negro quartets as being one of the foremost organizations on the concert stage in the singing of negro spirituals. A number of patriotic melodies will be included because of the close proximity of the concert date to Armistice day.

Tickets for the benefit will be on sale at the school building, and the proceeds will be used for improvements on the school's athletic field.

The Y. K. K. class of the First Methodist church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ralph Kietling Tuesday afternoon. At the tea hour, Mrs. R. C. Blackwell assisted the hostess in serving.

Radio Party At Keller Home

Mrs. Nettie Keller and Miss Josephine Keller were hostesses Tuesday night at a radio party in their home on Ferry street.

A number of friends were invited to listen to the election reports, in addition to enjoying games, cards and dancing. At a late hour, the hostesses served refreshments.

In the group were Miss Milliecent Lons, Miss Beatrice Miller, Miss Bertha Williamson, Miss Beryl Needham, Miss Marjorie Gould, Miss Gladys Chambers, Mrs. Addie Mills, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald, and the hostesses, Mrs. Keller and Miss Keller.

Boys' Chorus Meets Tonight

The Salem boys' chorus will meet tonight at a radio party in the Y. M. C. A. promptly at 7 o'clock. Plans will be made at this time for the dedication of the music room at the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis.

Dr. Grace Keith Pulliam of Portland, has been appointed as the new publicity chairman of the state business and professional women's club, to succeed Miss Dorothy Povey of Portland who has left the state.

It's Smart To Be Thrifty

High Grade Coats and Dresses

KAY'S 460 STATE

Hudkins Entertain In Their New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudkins entertained Tuesday night with one of the first affairs to be given in their beautiful new home on South Commercial streets. A number of their intimate friends were bidden to the housewarming, and spent the evening at bridge. Great baskets of bronze chrysanthemums were attractively arranged about the spacious livingrooms of the new home.

Mrs. Merrill Ohling and Cecil Swope won the prizes for high score honors at the four tables of bridge in play during the evening.

Mrs. I. M. Doughton assisted Mrs. Hudkins in serving luncheon at a late hour.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar D. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Doughton, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill D. Ohling, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Swope, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Robertson, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hudkins.

Dance Saturday Night Gay Event

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kightlinger entertained in their summer home "Rest Inn," at Woodland park, Saturday night. The big rooms of the summer home were decked with vivid autumn foliage combined with bright fall flowers.

Music was furnished by the Hill-Scott orchestra. At the supper hour, Mrs. Paul Hansen assisted Mrs. Kightlinger in serving.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Townsend, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Casement, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Denner, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Williamson, Mrs. A. Pearson, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Kightlinger.

Salem Boys at Berkeley Game

Robert Bishop and Harold Olin spent last week-end at Berkeley and San Francisco. At Berkeley they were guests of a group of Betas at the Oregon-California football game. Later they were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Clay, former Salem residents.

Men laugh at women for wearing short skirts and pulling them down constantly over their knees; and then the men plan wars and agree on rules to keep the wars from being brutal.—New Haven Register.

Havana has no lack of tropical fruits, but it seems to like applesauce, too.—Springfield Republican.

coming to San Francisco

Then let us make you welcome at this beautifully equipped downtown hotel.

Rates: $2.50-$3.50

EDWARD F. PETERSON, Manager

Hotel Fielding

SEAFARER MASON

San Francisco

YANKEE FIRE COMPANY

Evening of Bridge Enjoyable Event Tuesday

MR. and MRS. N. F. WICKER and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Wiley entertained in the Wicker home in the Glendora apartments with a delightful evening of bridge Tuesday. Great baskets of pale lavender chrysanthemums were effectively used about the spacious living rooms.

Five tables of cards were in play, with high score honors going to Mrs. Fred C. Gordon and D. J. Madison. Mrs. C. H. Bussey assisted Mrs. Wicker and Mrs. Wiley in serving a late supper.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bussey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Madison, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schermer, Mr. and Mrs. Vera Sukko, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Woodrow, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hart, Byron Othaus, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley and Mr. and Mrs. Wicker.

Miss Roth Honored At Pretty Shower

The clerical staff of the Marion county child health demonstration home, Miss Hilda Roth, with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday night at the home of Miss Mildred Irig. Miss Roth's marriage to Robert Elstrom will be an event in the near future.

In the group were Miss Roth, Helen Kehrl, Mildred Flagg, Zel Harlan, Ethel Milburn, Mary Elliott, Esther Dieffenbach, Lotte Peterson, and the hostess, Miss Irig.

At the Theaters

"Peg O' My Heart," the comedy of youth which will be the attraction at the Elsinore theatre today, by the Manhattan Players in their most popular play offered by any stock company in years.

When Mr. Manners first wrote "Peg O' My Heart," he had some difficulty in finding a manager willing to produce it. Mr. Manners, a writer with an unimpaired outlook on life, discovered that the play was "different" that it was without discussion of the social evil, and the everlasting revamping of capital and labor, and likewise eliminated all references to the sexual sin, from all of which material for plays had been drawn to the great extent of late. Mr. Manners in the play the relief for which theatre-goers have long been waiting.

The play is brimful of clever wit and humor interwoven with a thread of love and affection. The management have amply provided the production in lavish style and the director has been very careful as to detail.

When Adolphe Menjou and his bride, Kathryna Carver, returned from Paris, where they were married, Paramount studio officials and Menjou set about to choose a story for the star to begin work on. It was decided that an original story submitted by two Paramount staff writers, Ernest Vajda and Keene Thompson, would be an ideal story for the star's needs. It is labeled "His Private Life" and has to do with the love affairs of a round-the-town Parisian boulevardier.

With the story selected the officials and the star then set about to choose a director to handle the megaphone on the production and of the great number given consideration, Frank Tuttle, termed the "ace" comedy-drama director of Hollywood, was decided upon.

"His Private Life" opens at the Elsinore today with the Manhattan Players in "Peg O' My Heart."

A love story of Imperial Russia is told in "The Scarlet Dove," in which Lowell Sherman, Mar.

ALL YOUNGSTERS NEED CEREALS

Sugar as a flavor makes these healthful foods enjoyable

Growing bones and teeth require the health-giving minerals and vitamins that are freely found in grain cereals and breakfast foods. Grains are nature's foods and they supply elements necessary to growth and nutrition. They are excellent in connection with milk, but it is sometimes hard to get children to eat them!

A judicious and reasonable amount of sugar added to these foods will work wonders in making them palatable, tasteful and enjoyable. No ingredient adds so much to the taste appeal of other foods. Sugar adds to the enjoyment of all kinds of fresh fruits and vegetables, so valuable in the diet of growing children. Use sugar as a condiment in making healthful foods acceptable to the palate. Sweetness, as the perfect flavor in foods, stimulates the flow of saliva and of gastric juice, thereby aiding digestion, as well as enjoyment.

Medical authorities warn parents to guard the nutrition of their children. See that your children eat regularly of varied, nutritious foods—thereby being safeguarded against such diseases as tuberculosis. See that your child is slightly overweight for his height and age than a single pound underweight. Sound nutrition is absolutely necessary to health and proper development. The Sugar Institute.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Benefit card party sponsored by W. B. A., Fraternal temple, 8 o'clock. Public invited.

Kensington club, Mrs. F. S. Annans, 1110 North Capitol street, 2:30 o'clock.

Ladies' social circle of Knight Memorial church, Mrs. W. F. Neptune, 755 North Capitol street, all day; pot-luck luncheon at noon.

Pringle Community club, Pringle school house, 8 o'clock.

North Salem W. C. T. U., Mrs. W. K. Henderson, 1140 Madison avenue, 2 o'clock.

Salem Boys' chorus, Y. M. C. A., 7 o'clock.

Carnival sponsored by Young Married People's club of First Presbyterian church, church building 7:30 o'clock.

Pot-luck supper and social evening, Junior high school, Epworth League of First Methodist church, church parlors, 6 o'clock.

Thursday club, Mrs. M. M. Cusick, Mrs. W. F. McCall, Mrs. George M. Brown, hostess; Elks club, 1 o'clock luncheon.

Lecture by Roy Hidenich, Akagi, P. B. D., Y. M. C. A. auditorium, 8 o'clock. Open to the public.

Auburn Community club, Auburn school house, 8:00 o'clock.

Three Link club, clubrooms I. O. O. F. hall, 2:30 o'clock.

Yomarco class of First Methodist church, Kimball school chapel, pot-luck supper, 6:30 o'clock.

Benefit program by Dixie Jubilee quartette, Parish junior high school auditorium, 7:30 o'clock.

San Souci card club, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Martin, 1675 Fir street, 8 o'clock.

Saturday

Institutions Institute, Salem Woman's club, 10 o'clock to 4 o'clock.

Monday

Rebekah Lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F. hall, 8 o'clock.

Not Livingston Robert Frazer and Josephine Boria play the leading roles. This Tiffany-Stahl production, showing today at the Oregon theatre, depicts the romance of an innocent young girl who is betrothed by her aunt to a man of the world and a waster.

The day before her wedding to this man, whom she has never met, she falls in love with a handsome young lieutenant who rescues her from an embarrassing situation. The next day she is married and when she flees in fear and loathing from her husband, she is hidden by her lover, who is later accused of causing her death.

The story, which was written by its director, Arthur Gregor, promises a gripping drama and a tender romance.

Household Hints

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Orange Juice Rolled Oats Buttered Toast Soft Boiled Eggs Coffee MILK

DINNER

Broiled Porterhouse Steak with Mushrooms Baked Sweet Potatoes Celery Hearts

Whole Wheat Bread Fresh Fruit Gelatin MILK SUPPER

Men played with love all their lives, while with women it took the form of a disease. One attack usually finished them, and they "died" at once and stayed dead as she had, or it inoculated them against love the rest of their lives, like those hard, tight-minded and tight-lipped women who lived in her neighborhood.

Jack stood talking to Byrd, knowing he was making his usual good impression. When the right moment came he would ask her to have lunch with him some time. She sure was beautiful, he thought, and an occasional gleam in her eyes proved that she had pep as well.

He was telling Byrd that most women liked him.

"You better watch Larry, though. If I've got just a hick with 'em," he was saying, "why Larry's got genius. Boy! how the babies do fall for him!"

Byrd laughed uncomfortably. She thought it was disgusting of him to let her think he was just putting her on her guard, when he was actually jealous of Larry! Men were worse than women, she decided.

"Oh, I'm not afraid!" she heard herself boasting. "I wouldn't be surprised if I could make Larry a little bit jealous if I tried!"

"That's the medicine!" Jack exclaimed. "I've always told Mary if she'd just step a little. make me wonder what she's up to instead of always worrying about me, she'd have me the most domesticated animal in captivity."

"But I don't blame her for having too much pride to stoop to such means to keep you, I should say I wouldn't do it, either!" said Byrd, with spirit.

"Oh, yes you would. Oh, you just wait!" He had taken one of Byrd's hands in his, and it was straight down at her side as "Say little Ladybird, will you call me up some time and have lunch with me?"

He was standing so close to her that his breath was pouring into her nostrils. She pulled away, angrily.

"Why, of course not!" she answered severely. "Why, Mr. Duncan, how can you ask such a thing?"

"Oh, all right, spittire," he said crossly. "Excuse me! I just thought you might be a good sport!"

Byrd was baffled. That was the second time she had heard the expression applied to herself. Two different men had wanted something of her, and each had put it on the grounds of wanting her to be a "good sport." She was mystified.

Being a good sport meant, then, that you were more or less susceptible to their demands. It never occurred to them to reconstruct themselves to your demands!

"You look like the chief mourner at your own wedding. Snap out of it!" Chet was at her side, smiling at her and holding a tall glass, that bubbled with ginger ale, toward her.

Byrd happened to get glimpses of herself in an enormous mirror on the opposite wall which, like a great, shining eye, added an illusory, silvery glamour to the scene, and she imagined she looked like a little, frightened bird, her chin gone, as if the mirror had snatched it from her. And her heart was fluttering painfully, like a bird caught in a trap.

There was a crowd in Jacksonville who often sneaked off to roadhouses and amusement parks, where they were reported to

Bridge Tea This Afternoon Is Big Affair

ONE of the most interesting affairs for this week is the big bridge tea with which Mrs. James H. Nicholson and Mrs. C. B. McCullough are entertaining this afternoon in the Oriental room of the Marion hotel.

Twelve tables of cards will be in play in the attractive room, which will be specially decked with great baskets of bronze and gold chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Rudolf Baar and Mrs. Charles Laughton of Portland will be out-of-town guests at the affair. Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. McCullough are also inviting a number of additional guests for the tea hour.

The San Souci card club will be entertained Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Martin, 1675 Fir street.

Toasted Crackers Butter Different Stuffed Peppers Sweet Pickle Relish Orange Dessert Tea

The above menu is planned for two grownups and one child. The pepper (which is not served to a little child) and dessert dishes are prepared in the morning and the peppers warmed up for supper, so that the housewife may spend the afternoon away from home as she desires.

Today's Recipes

Steak With Mushrooms—Broil steak as usual. Have one-fourth pound mushrooms washed and drained. If small they require no peeling. Melt two tablespoons butter in a small skillet and add mushrooms. Simmer until tender. Place steak on a hot platter, pour pan gravy around and garnish with the mushrooms.

Different Stuffed Peppers—Cut in half three large sweet peppers, remove seeds and parboil about ten minutes. Drain, salt slightly and stuff with the following: One can of prepared vegetable soup, one cup chopped left-over meat, and enough boiled rice to fill, depending on size of peppers.

Place in baking pan, put a bit of butter on each and put away until "wanted." As all ingredients are cooked these require only about twenty minutes to bake.

LET'S LIVE

(Continued from Page 3.)

lence with men . . . with husbands! Yes, it would have been a good thing for Jack if he had had a little of his own medicine! But she had never had the courage!

Later Byrd noticed Mary watching her as Jack stood talking to her. He was already flashing his ingenious smile at her, and leaning over her, a way he thought was effective with women.

Men played with love all their lives, while with women it took the form of a disease. One attack usually finished them, and they "died" at once and stayed dead as she had, or it inoculated them against love the rest of their lives, like those hard, tight-minded and tight-lipped women who lived in her neighborhood.

Jack stood talking to Byrd, knowing he was making his usual good impression. When the right moment came he would ask her to have lunch with him some time. She sure was beautiful, he thought, and an occasional gleam in her eyes proved that she had pep as well.

He was telling Byrd that most women liked him.

"You better watch Larry, though. If I've got just a hick with 'em," he was saying, "why Larry's got genius. Boy! how the babies do fall for him!"

Byrd laughed uncomfortably. She thought it was disgusting of him to let her think he was just putting her on her guard, when he was actually jealous of Larry! Men were worse than women, she decided.

"Oh, I'm not afraid!" she heard herself boasting. "I wouldn't be surprised if I could make Larry a little bit jealous if I tried!"

"That's the medicine!" Jack exclaimed. "I've always told Mary if she'd just step a little. make me wonder what she's up to instead of always worrying about me, she'd have me the most domesticated animal in captivity."

"But I don't blame her for having too much pride to stoop to such means to keep you, I should say I wouldn't do it, either!" said Byrd, with spirit.

"Oh, yes you would. Oh, you just wait!" He had taken one of Byrd's hands in his, and it was straight down at her side as "Say little Ladybird, will you call me up some time and have lunch with me?"

He was standing so close to her that his breath was pouring into her nostrils. She pulled away, angrily.

"Why, of course not!" she answered severely. "Why, Mr. Duncan, how can you ask such a thing?"

"Oh, all right, spittire," he said crossly. "Excuse me! I just thought you might be a good sport!"

Byrd was baffled. That was the second time she had heard the expression applied to herself. Two different men had wanted something of her, and each had put it on the grounds of wanting her to be a "good sport." She was mystified.

Being a good sport meant, then, that you were more or less susceptible to their demands. It never occurred to them to reconstruct themselves to your demands!

"You look like the chief mourner at your own wedding. Snap out of it!" Chet was at her side, smiling at her and holding a tall glass, that bubbled with ginger ale, toward her.

Byrd happened to get glimpses of herself in an enormous mirror on the opposite wall which, like a great, shining eye, added an illusory, silvery glamour to the scene, and she imagined she looked like a little, frightened bird, her chin gone, as if the mirror had snatched it from her. And her heart was fluttering painfully, like a bird caught in a trap.

There was a crowd in Jacksonville who often sneaked off to roadhouses and amusement parks, where they were reported to