

OLSEN PLAYERS ON WEDNESDAY

Lions and Kiwanis Clubs of Salem Stand Sponsors for Entertainment

The First Circuit Repertory company will come to this city in the first play of the season, "Expressing Willie" by Rachel Crothers, on Wednesday of this week.

The season will be under the auspices of the Salem Lions and Kiwanis clubs which have successfully sponsored previous seasons of the company here.

While the circuit of the company has been extended since last season—with a loop down into California and Nevada—the past five years have made the organization an "institution" in the cities which are older on the circuit.

Its season is looked forward to as the one certain means by which lovers of the best plays can be sure of an opportunity to witness plays of recognized merit produced by an organization composed of experienced artists and presented with the polish that is to be attained only through long work together as an ensemble.

Following "Expressing Willie," the company will bring on next week round the circuit, T. C. Murray's powerful folk-tragedy, "Autumn Fire," Irish in setting and flavor, but universal in its theme and as beautifully proportioned and balanced as a Greek tragedy.

Sir James M. Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows" will be the third offering in this year's list. Moroni Olsen, whose name was underlined in the formation of the company to prevent plagiarism of the name, "First Circuit Repertory Company" by other organizations that might arise later is abroad on a world tour, but will return for "Autumn Fire."

Byron Kay Foulger, who was one of the company, is directing the production of "Expressing Willie." He directed the production of "Anna Christie" which was played last year in some cities in the circuit.

Comes Here Wednesday

Leora Thatcher, as "Mrs. Smith" in the American comedy "Expressing Willie" by Rachel Crothers, to be presented by the Moroni Olson players coming here this week under the auspices of the Salem Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

Myers Bags Geese On "Wild" Farm in Peace and Comfort

F. G. Myers, proprietor of the Spa, was one of a group of hunters who bagged the limit of wild geese in the vicinity of Arlington in eastern Oregon last week. Mr. Myers, if urged, will display a photograph which proves this assertion beyond doubt.

It seems that E. M. Hulden, owner of the 7000 acre "Wild Goose Farm," is Mr. Myers' brother-in-law, and that means that Mr. Myers always gets the first chance at the geese on this farm, where hunters from all over the northwest seek to make reservations. The place is equipped with pits and live decoys, and after that nothing is necessary but a certain degree of marksmanship.

Mr. Myers' companions on this hunting venture were Dr. G. C. Bellingher, Dr. J. H. Evans, G. O. Blower of Los Angeles, E. Ponnell of Portland, and Mr. Hulden.

Sewing Class Soon—A class in lingerie making, home and dress accessories will be conducted at the high school building by Miss Helen Corey, under direction of the state board for vocational education. It is announced. Hours will be announced shortly. The class is held particularly appropriate, coming before the Christmas holidays.

Specialty Numbers For Fanchon-Marco

Flashes of color in many hues, swirling dancers, soft music and 20 pretty girls mark the Fanchon and Marco stage presentation at the Elsinore theatre Monday. Besides this accumulation of beauty and ability many other things are in store for those who attend.

Walter Nilsson, champion Unicyclist, goes through many stunts while mounted on a one wheeled cycle far above the stage floor. This daring performer balances the wheel with one foot while riding fearfully along the edge of the stage not more than a fraction of an inch from the footlights.

Cliff Crane, seemingly rubber-bodied comedy and eccentric dancer does specialty dances which have made him famous in Earl Carroll's Vanities and other big New York shows. Doris Whitmore, is known as the youngest prima-donna on the stage today. Possessing a fine, clear coloratura soprano voice Miss Whitmore proves a treat when she appears singing and playing her accompaniment on the violin while dancing on her toes. Jean Dix and Helen Burke are also clever dancers who have specialty numbers.

The Brooks Trio are three lads who offer a number of banjo selections in red hot fashion. Their laughing song is a novelty and a sure fire bit of entertainment. Then there is the chorus of 18 still girls who do a dance routine while mounted on stilts. Their specialty, the Dance of the Wood-n Soldiers, is a striking and beautiful feature.

At the Theaters

Mix And His Tony In Oregon Picture

Tom Mix at his best—in a role that gives him and his famed horse, Tony, every opportunity for the hard riding, dramatic action and spectacular stunts that have brought world-wide renown to that inseparable pair of film stars.

This is the offering at the Oregon theatre, where the popular favorite is presented in "Son of the Golden West," a special production that has been acclaimed throughout the country as the greatest Mix picture yet brought to the screen.

Colorful and picturesque to a high degree, the photoplay is laid in that period of our history when what is now known as "the old West" was being reclaimed from the wilderness by pioneers and government agencies that pushed civilization along the overland trail which later became the first railroad line. Tom is seen in the role of a pony express rider.

Comedy, Vitaphon Capitol Features

"Plastered in Paris," starting today at the Capitol theatre, opens with a "flash" sequence of world war trenches and thereafter leaves the great conflict "flat." The trench scenes show Sammy Cohen as the dynamic little Jewish comedian where he gets a dose of poison gas and hospital surgeons decree that thereafter he will be a kleptomaniac. Ten years later they are delegates to the American Legion convention in Paris and that proves the signal for a rapid-fire series of adventures in which the comedy element is especially strong, it is said. Others who acquit themselves creditably include Lola Salvi, diminutive Italian beauty contest winner.

Val and Ernie Stanton musical comedy and variety stars, who will be seen and heard in a Vitaphone presentation program at the Capitol today, have made two appearances in Vitaphone, the first of which is titled "Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake" and "English As She Is Not Spoken." In their second number the Stantons sing some original comedy songs.

Joe E. Brown is featured in "Don't Be Jealous" the one reel playlet which will be seen and heard in the Vitaphone presentation.

CRIMINAL INSANE MENACE HOSPITAL

The report showed that there are now 148 men and 153 women on parole. Eighty-six patients entered the hospital voluntarily without court commitment. Fifty of these had never before been an inmate of a hospital for the insane.

Less than four and one-half per cent of the patients received at the state hospital during the past two years were classified as alcoholic psychoses. The September 30, 1914, report showed that these patients comprised eight per cent of the total.

"The per capita cost of conducting the state hospital for the past two years was $17.75 per month," continued the report. "This, in our judgment, is as low as is consistent with the proper care and treatment of the inmates. If we had to care for chronic cases with comparatively few new admissions, the cost of maintenance would be considerably less. Many of the new patients have to be outfitted with clothing and they all require much more medical and nursing service than the chronic case."

"Sterilization of the insane of childbearing age is very important, not only to prevent the development of insanity in the offspring, but young women recovered from one attack greatly increase the liability of another breakdown if subjected to the stress of childbearing. The manic depressive cases whose psychosis comes in attacks of excitement or depression with lucid intervals of months or years, are at home during the intervals between attacks and bear children, often having an infant at the breast when again committed. We try to persuade all such cases to be sterilized as a protection to both mother and child."

The financial report shows that the appropriation authorized for the conduct of the state hospital during the present biennium is sufficient, and that several thousands of dollars will be returned to the general fund of the state on January 1.
