But One New Democrat is Among 4 Senators and 9 Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Four new faces will appear in the senate when it reconvenes next month for the short and last term of the present congress. The new senators, all republicans, were chosen at this election to fill unexpired terms of deceased members and one vacancy caused by resignation.

An additional nine new members, eight of whom are republicans, will be sworn when the newly elected congress comes into office after next March 4. These members in most instances defeated incumbents but one will fill a seat voluntarily relinquished.

The new members who will take office immediately are John Thomas, of Idaho, succeeding the late Frank R. Gooding; representative Theodore Burton, of Ohio, succeeding the late Frank B. Willis; Octavino A. Larrazolo, of New Mexico, succeeding the late Andrew A. Jones; and Otis E. Glenn, of Illinois, who takes the seat vacated by Frank L. Smith.

Thomas Burton and Glenn will serve until 1932 when the regular terms of their predecessors would have expired. Larrazolo will serve only until March 4, the conclusion of the term of the late Senator Jones.

New republican senators who will replace democrats and who will be among the nine taking office when the new congress reconvenes are: John G. Townsend, Jr., who defeated Senator Bayard of Delaware; Phillips Lee Goldsborough, who defeated Senator Bruce, of Maryland; Hamilton F. Klean, who defeated Senator Edwards, of New Jersey; Felix Herbert, who defeated Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island; and Henry D. Hatfield, who defeated Senator Neely of West Virginia.

Frederick C. Walcott, republican, won the senatorship from Connecticut, succeeding Senator George P. McLean, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Colleen Moore, who is starred in the film version of Jane Cowie's noted play, "Lilac Time," coming to the Elsinore theatre Friday.

BANISHMENT OF WAR STRESSED IN TALK

Judges were Justice Harry H. Belt of the supreme court, C. F. Glese and Fred A. Williams. The prize in each section was a handsome loving cup offered by Capital Post No. 9 of the American Legion. Announcement of the winners was made by Col. Carl Abrams, chairman of the day, at the exercises held following the parade.

The parade was headed by the grand marshal and his staff, followed by the colors; an automobile carrying state officials and another with city officials; the 18th Infantry band, three marching units of National Guards; the G. A. R., Ladies of the G. A. R. and War Mothers in automobiles; the Sons of Veterans and Auxiliary, Daughters of Veterans, the Cherrian band, Spanish war veterans and Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, the American Legion drum corps, the legion members and auxiliary, the Cherrians, Fraternal marching units and then the floats.

Floats had been entered by the Y. M. C. A., the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors, the N. O. W., Salem high school, and a number of industrial firms including the Shell, Associated, Richfield and Standard oil companies, and the Salem Brick & Tile company.

Last Saturday we heard Yale and Southern California fumble at the same time.

FINAL DETAILS ARE FINISHED

President-Elect Hoover Will Board Ship at San Pedro Next Monday

This journey over the Transandinian railroad will take the president-elect into altitudes above 10,000 feet as he passes over the Andes along the border between Chile and Argentina.

Many applications have been received from Spanish linguists who are anxious to serve as interpreters on the journey. Although Mr. Hoover does not speak Spanish, Ambassador Fletcher is an adept in the language.

During the first lap of his more than forty days' journey, Mr. Hoover will have ample time aboard ship to prepare the speeches which he will deliver in the various capitals of the western Latin-American republics and also to attend to a vast volume of work connected with domestic affairs, which must be transacted before he concludes his good-will mission upon his arrival in Florida in January.

His headquarters on the Maryland, designed for the accommodation of a fleet admiral, will be completely equipped for the trans-shipment of his work. In his suite will be four rooms, a bedroom, a large dining room, a large living room, and a small sitting room. Ambassador Fletcher and the other members of his immediate party will have private staterooms in a nearby section of the ship.

The president-elect spent most of today quietly in his home working at many of the details which necessarily must be cleared away before he leaves for the voyage. A steady rain, the second of the season, kept him indoors the greater part of the day.

Jane Cowie's Great Play At Elsinore

The Elsinore Theatre has booked one of the biggest productions of the year for an extended run commencing Friday.

The picture is "Lilac Time," a special production in which Colleen Moore is starred, with Gary Cooper opposite, which comes to Salem with an established record as one of the most charming love stories ever recorded on the screen.

Adapted from the celebrated stage play by Jane Cowie and Jane Murrin, "Lilac Time" is the story of a little French girl who grows from childhood to young womanhood under the shadow of the world war.

All of the drama, the pathos of a girl caught in the maelstrom of the great conflict, is said to be depicted by Miss Moore, who as Jeanne, a French girl, has heights that far outshine any role of her career. Gary Cooper, a comparative newcomer to the films, handles the chief supporting role, while the direction of George Fitzmaurice, it is claimed, establishes him as a supreme genius.

Coming

Byron K. Touiger of the Circuit Repertory company of the Moroni Olsen Players, opening at the Elsinore Wednesday in Rachel Crother's brilliant American comedy, "Expressing Willie."

SERVICE CLUBS TO SPONSOR PLAYERS

The First Circuit Repertory company of the Moroni Olsen players, is ready to invade Salem on Wednesday, appearing at the Elsinore theatre under the auspices of the Salem Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

The growth of this playing organization from the time of its founding Ogden, Utah, in the fall of 1923 has been phenomenal in more ways than one. Not only has it made itself a place of national recognition on its merits as a playing company, but it has made itself a recognized institution in the cultural development of the territory in which its influence has fallen.

It has pioneered and made practical in the western states the idea of circuit repertory presentation, which is the only effective means by which plays of recognized merit and distinction may be presented to the public in districts lacking first rate theatrical entertainment.

Moroni Olsen, Janet Young and Byron K. Foulger when they launched their Circuit Repertory Company (underlined with the name "Moroni Olsen Players" with Mr. Olsen as director, to prevent plagiarism of the name or trading on the idea by subsequent organizations that might spring up) recognized the wants in the existing means of providing theatrical entertainment and endeavored to devise a plan that would meet these wants.

Congressman Draws Lesson For Armistice Day From a View of Paul's Leadership

"Paul was the greatest organizer, conqueror and teacher, next to the Divine teacher, that the world has ever known," Congressman W. C. Hawley told a large audience at the First Methodist church Sunday evening. The service was a layman's meeting under the auspices of the First Church Men's council, at which Roy Hewitt, dean of Willamette university law school presided.

"Paul established Christianity throughout the Roman Empire. He was a man of great wisdom and spiritual insight and moral courage. As Congressman Gillette said when he introduced King Albert of Belgium to the congress: 'He was the meekest of kings and the kindest of men.' When a moral question interfered with business, the business had to be changed."

"Paul stood before the great men of his day and impressed upon them the might of his mind and the power of his character. By the power of love rather than force he succeeded in establishing the Christian religion without the shedding of a drop of blood save that of his own."

"On this Armistice day when we are recounting the cost of the last great war and contemplating the time of world peace, it is well to remember that we may talk about peace to the end of time but so long as there is in the heart of man a blood lust there will be an attempt at war. America is now taking the lead to a better day. The gospel of Paul, which was the gospel of Christ, was the gospel of peace. He wrote to the dissenting church of Corinth, 'Behold I show unto you a more excellent way.' That was the way of love, not hate, peace not strife, justice, friendship and brotherhood for all."

MONMOUTH ELEVEN DEFEATS CHEMAWA

MONMOUTH, Ore., Nov. 12.—(Special)—The Oregon Normal school Wolves defeated the Chemawa Indian school eleven here this afternoon before a large Armistice day crowd, 25 to 0.

Despite the one sided score, it was a hard fought game, with the normal eleven scoring only once in each quarter and then on decided breaks in its favor. Campbell, Ayers and Senn carried the ball over for touchdowns.

STOCK MART RISES TO HIGHER RECORD

Oils and coppers changed hands in tremendous volume and blocks of 10,000 to 25,000 shares, which ordinarily evoke cheers from brokers on the floor, passed scarcely unnoticed. Anaconda, American Smelting, Cherro de Pasco, Inspiration, Kennecott and Miami coppers and Sinclair, Meridian Seaboard, Skelly and Maryland oils all topped their previous 1928 peaks.

The violence of the advance and the market's apparent disregard for the mounting volume of brokers' orders and the decreasingly low yield of the leading securities lead to heavy profit taking on the part of conservative traders. As a result, such recent favorites as American Express, Chicago & Northwestern, Dupont, General Electric, General Motors, Murray corporation, and Stanley Co., of America lost $1.75 to $3.75 a share. Montgomery Ward, which ran up in sensational fashion last week, dropped $14 a share and Otis Elevator $6.
