

SPEAKER SEES TURK THREATS

Everson Pictures Armageddon as Result for Any Rash Move in Turkey

"Turkey has been the cross of which the peace of Europe has been sacrificed many times. Although it seems a very unimportant nation today, still any rash political move there would again start war, according to Bible prophecy, it will be the match that will start the great conflagration of Armageddon and the destruction of civilization." declared Professor C. T. Everson Sunday night to a large audience at the armory.

"Turkey is the nation that separates the Orient from the Occident, but is fast losing power and territory and, according to Bible prediction, will soon come to her complete end. The end of Turkey as a nation will open the floodgates of the nations of the Orient and they will sweep out of their eastern dwelling places, millions strong, to try to overcome the west. Then the nations of the whole world will join in by far the greatest war that this world has ever witnessed and will only be terminated by the second coming of Jesus Christ."

"From 1449 to 1840 Turkey was one of the most formidable nations of the world, but since the latter date she has been constantly losing power and territory. In the last 10 years she has been reduced from an area of 629,000 square miles to 174,000 square miles. And her population has been reduced from 20,000,000 to 8,000,000."

"The history of Turkey in advance has been given in Revelation 8-11. The seven trumpets spoken of there are seven great war periods from the time of Christ to the second coming of Christ. Any book that can give such accurate predictions of the future and have them come true to the letter makes me sit up and take notice when it says that Christ will come back again and tells us that it will be in the near future."

Tuesday night Professor Everson will speak on "Souls under the Altar. Is there a greater altar in heaven at the base of which are all the souls of men waiting for the time when they shall go to get their bodies?"

HALLBERG WINNER IN CONTRACT CASE

R. C. Hallberg won the action brought against him by the Park House bank when the jury brought in a verdict in his favor late Tuesday. The bank had been suing on a contract that had been assigned to it by a composition company which installed the refrigerator boxes in the Haseloff apartments. Hallberg asserted that the refrigerator was not installed and that they were causing odor connected with them due to the material used. The bank was suing for $500. Under the terms of the verdict Hallberg will be required to pay nothing.

Tuesday morning the action brought by Marie Campbell against Melburn Alvin Davis, her son-in-law, for $1250 was held on motion of the defendant. The plaintiff had based her cause of action on the reasonable value of services performed for the defendant's small son. She had cared for the child, which is now four years of age, ever since it was seven months old. She valued the services at $30 a month. In throwing the case out of court Judge Kelly followed a well-established principle of law, which provides that in case of services performed by relatives the assumption is that they are performed by reason of love and affection rather than for remuneration. To receive remuneration it must be shown that there was a specific agreement to that effect. The child's parents are divorced.

HIGH SCHOOL BOOK LOANS ON INCREASE

Just 523 more books were loaned to high school students in October, 1928, than the same month a year ago, according to the report of Miss Beatrice Olin, school librarian, submitted to the city school superintendent Wednesday. Total circulation for last month was 1,891, of which 1,656 were distributed to students and 235 to teachers.

The report shows further that 155 magazines were circulated to students and 56 to teachers; 71 books were borrowed from the city library; 97 books were borrowed from the public library; $2.25 in petty cash was received, of which $2.49 was for high school fines.

Miss Olin made 19 visits to the grades and seven to the junior highs. Circulation in the junior highs was 2,458, 1,697 of which were to Parrish students.

Fake Accident Is Nearly Costly to Elsinore Picture

A fake accident which nearly urged into a real mishap spilled the entire theatrical company of Norma Shearer's "The Actress" seltzer into the dust of a country road near Pasadena during the filming of the production. According to the script of the picture, which is now playing at the Elsinore Theatre, Norma Shearer, Gwen Lee, Owen Moore, Lee Moran, Virginia Pearson, Roy D'Arcy and William Humphrey as the cast of the Wells theatrical company were making a picnic trip in an 1880 model English lat-lyho. As they passed a certain spot in the road, one wheel was to come off and the company be tossed into the roadway.

Everything was apparently going all right and the company was basking themselves for the crash. Unfortunately however, when one wheel broke the other did also; the whole rear end of the carriage hit the road and seven actors bit the dust.

Fortunately no one was seriously hurt, but Director Sissy Frank last February allowed 24 minutes for clothes and make-up repairs.

STEWART FREED BY WASHINGTON JURY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Reaching a verdict in less than an hour, a jury in the district of Columbia supreme court today acquitted Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, of charges of perjury which followed his appearance last February before the senate Public Lands committee.

Frankly and exuberantly happy at the outcome of the trial which stretched through a week and a half, the oil man with his chief counsel Frank J. Hogan at his side, was surrounded by a throng of friends offering their congratulations. He thanked the members of the jury individually and bestowed upon each of the women who served on the panel a hearty hug.

The case was given to the jury at 2:30 p. m., with instructions from Justice Jennings Bailey to consider first of all whether there was a quorum present at the session of the senate committee at which Stewart gave his testimony. This point was the subject of a bitter dispute from the very beginning of the trial.

It may come about yet that Colonel Lindbergh will have to go over to Paris and fly back just to show the world that it can be done.—Muncie Star.

COURT DENIES FINAL APPEAL

Chief Justice Rand Writes Opinion in Case of Lydegraf Suit

Motion for appeal in the case of J. H. VanLydegraf, respondent, vs. Vernor O. Tyler and Emma O. Tyler, defendants, and Oscar H. Zeller and Marie L. Zeller, appellants, was denied by the Oregon supreme court Tuesday in an opinion written by Chief Justice Rand. This was a suit to foreclose a mechanic's lien, tried in Marion county.

The supreme court, by a four to three opinion, affirmed Judge George Taxwell of the Multnomah county circuit court in the $2500 damage suit brought by Mahala Pierce against the Northern Pacific Railway company. The lower court held for the plaintiff.

The suit was based on the alleged failure of the railroad corporation to deliver to the plaintiff at Elmira, N. Y., a Pullman ticket covering passage from that city to Stevenson, Wash. The Pullman ticket had been prepaid in Portland, with instructions to deliver it to Mrs. Pierce at Elmira.

The predominant opinion was written by Justice Coshov, with Justices McBride, Bean and Brown concurring.

Other opinions handed down by the supreme court Tuesday follow: Emil Johnson and Tillie M. Johnson, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county. Appeal dismissed in opinion by Chief Justice Rand.

H. H. Weatherston vs. Karl J. Stockland, appellant; appeal from Union county; appeal from conviction on charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor. Opinion by Justice Brown. Judge Dalton Biggs affirmed.

F. C. Brosius, appellant, vs. J. M. Hazelwood; appeal from Union county; appeal from judgment for defendant in action to recover personal damages. Opinion by Justice Brown. Judge J. W. Knowles affirmed.

Fiddle Contest Set for Tonight At the Elsinore

The Elsinore theatre will stage an old time fiddlers' contest tonight under the direction of Frank W. Herrington, world's champion old time fiddler, who won first prize in the contest sponsored by Henry Ford at Fordson, Michigan.

Headlines conducting the contest tonight Mr. Herrington will also play some of the old favorites tunes that all love. There will be cash prizes for the winners.

The old fiddlers' contest will be run in conjunction with the feature picture, "The Actress," starring Norma Shearer.

Errant Bicycle Is Back; Found 150 Miles Away

Here's a man who is willing to testify at any time to the efficiency of Salem's police department. Six weeks ago a bicycle—a valuable one, but still just a bicycle—was stolen from Norman Clark. Clark reported it to the police, giving a description. Not much of a loss for the police to make a big fuss about, and after reasonable watchfulness indicated that the vehicle apparently wasn't in Salem, the matter might reasonably have been considered closed.

But this week Clark got his bicycle back, in reasonably good condition. Information sent out by the police led to its recovery in Roseburg, which, Mr. Clark thinks, is far enough away for any bicycle to wander and then come back home.

Holiday Packages Reach Postoffice

The local postoffice is beginning to receive Christmas mail for foreign countries, most of that coming in already being packages sent to missionaries by church groups. The time for sending packages and letters to South Africa, China, New Zealand and even the Philippines is at hand, the postoffice authorities warn, if the senders wish them to reach their destination by December 25. Gifts to the South African countries should all be in the mails today, with barely a week the last time to mail parcels to reach New Zealand on that date.

West Salem News

By Helen H. Rodolf—Phone 2402-J

Edgar Smith of Eugene, Theodore McLean of Monmouth, and Lyle Thomas of West Salem, were guests at the home of Lyle Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Thomas on Edgewater street Saturday. The three boys are attending Monmouth normal training school. Lyle Thomas, who has been boarding at Monmouth while going to school, is now going to stay with his parents here and drive back and forth each day as his parents have just bought him a car.

This afternoon a silver tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Jack Gosser on Edgewater street. This function promises to be a delightful one as many prominent West Salem matrons are working to make it a success. The proceeds are to go to the Ford Memorial Methodist church.

The art exhibit being held at the community hall this week is attracting the interest of many people outside of this community as a rare opportunity to see good prints of the best work done in the art world. This exhibit is being sponsored by the West Salem schools. It will be held from November 20 to November 23. The night of the 23rd the children of the different grades will each give some number from a program which will also be given at the community hall. No admittance is charged to see the pictures, but a small fee will be charged for admittance for the program. The school children are trying to raise sufficient funds to buy pictures for their rooms.

Mrs. M. A. Groves who has been suffering from a severe cold, Sunday afternoon was up for a short time. Mrs. Groves is just home from the hospital so she is in a weakened condition and the cold has been hard to overcome. It is thought that she will be out now in a few days.

Diet and Health

If Nose Bleeds Frequently Take Child to Specialist

Nose Bleeds
MRS. A.—The blood vessels in the noses of children are quite near the surface in the mucous membrane and the consequence is that the bloody noses are frequent occurrences. If they are more than ordinarily frequent or seem to arise without adequate cause, you should take your child to a children's specialist at a clinic for a thorough checkup. LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D. for they may arise from some constitutional disease or local ulcers. Mention the fact that he has frequently nose bleeds, so he can be given an examination of the nose.

Don't forget that children not infrequently find it interesting to use the nose and ears for hiding places for pebbles and other small articles.

Home Treatments for Nose Bleed

Position. Sit upright. Don't lie down or bend the head over a basin. Then try some of these: 1. Press firmly with the hand on the bleeding side of the nose and over the face side of the nose. 2. If pressing does not stop the flow, insert a piece of gauze soaked in an antiseptic ointment, such as boric acid ointment. Leave an end so that you can pull it out. (If you should happen to have some adrenalin—one-to-one thousand solution—wet the gauze in this. It contracts the blood vessels quickly.) 3. Better than gauze alone, is gauze with the combination of a rubber finger cot. Dip the finger cot in an antiseptic ointment.

Holiday Rates Are Announced

As a first aid to home coming, and visiting for Thanksgiving, and during family reunions, special excursions have been announced by Mr. J. A. Ormandy, assistant passenger traffic manager for the Southern Pacific Lines in Oregon. Round trip tickets on the basis of one first class one way fare and one third have been authorized between all points on the Southern Pacific Lines in Oregon and California where the minimum fare is $30 or less, with minimum adult fare of 50 cents. The excursion fare will be sold November 27 to 29 inclusive and be honored for return to and including December 3, no stopovers allowed.

The recent rains have caused the water in Sillitoe lake in Lane county to rise several feet and Butterfly islands are nearly submerged.

Naif Inflammations

Mrs. B. writes that the inflammation around her finger nail, which was very persistent, finally cleared up with the use of Lyolol in hot water. She doesn't pay how it was used, but it was probably through soaking it frequently in the solution.

Different tissues seem to heal under different antiseptics. An antiseptic which works beautifully with one doesn't always seem to be healing with another. It is not the antiseptic which heals. This simply kills off the germs and Nature does the healing.

MUSIC HISTORIAN SCORES SCHUBERT

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Musical Vienna was shocked today when Dr. Robert Lach, professor of musical history at Vienna university, told a distinguished audience that Franz Schubert was "a self-satisfied, humdrum individual, a harmless little school master, conscious of his own deficient ethics and moral qualities and of the inferior value of his soul."

Dr. Lach declared that it was only when Schubert, whose centennial is being celebrated this week, began to suffer and to realize his inferiority that his music became lofty. He characterized the famous composer as a "limited genius" and added his opinion that the symphony in C Major which the world has generally accepted as a masterpiece is "a quite formless composition without air or plan."
