Salem's Social Activities Chronicled; What the Women are Doing

Bazaar And Bridge Tea Delightful Affair

THE first effort ever made by the institutions department of the Salem Woman's club to hold a benefit bridge tea in connection with their annual bazaar was a most delightful succoss, reported Mrs. George L Forge, general chairman of the affair. at the close of activities at the woman's clubhouse Tuesday night. In addition to being one of he largest affairs held in Salem this year, the bridge tea made the afternoon an interesting event for social cfreles.

The baraar, with its eight colorful booths, was held on the first floor of the clubhouse; and the main floor was devoted to the afternoon of cards. Programs were given at both affairs at the tea hour. The color scheme of yellow and white in _combination with Thanksgiving novelties, which was used lavishly on the bazaar floor was repeated in the card rooms by tall art baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums, orange tapers in brass candlebra and fern. Mrs. S. M. Endicott, general chairman of the institutions department, and Mrs. C. E. Stricklin were in charge of the card rooms, where thirty-one tables were in Bridge prizes were presented to Mrs. Rav Hartman, Mrs. B. B. Flack, Mrs. H. J. Willett, and Mrs. A. C. Nelson by Mrs. George L. Forge just preceding the tea hour. The prize given Mrs. Flack was the novel one of a cake baked by the youthful bride, Mrs. Jerome Hanson, who won the first prize in the Statesman-Salem Woman's club cooking school contest.

Mrs. Milo Rasmussen, in charge of the refreshment committee for the bridge tea, was assisted in serving by the Misses Virginia Holt, Dorothy White, Juanita Powell, Cynthia Delano, Virginia Berger, Margaret Drager, Ruth Fick. Katherine Laughrige, Eleanor Wright, Margaret Bean, Caroyl Braden, Lois Wilkes, Maxine Myers and Julia Creech.
