Pioneers Mourn Death of Woman Who Lived Here

SPOKANE, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Scott, who lived 77 of her 80 years in the west, were held here Monday. She died last Wednesday. She was the daughter of Henry Perkins, prominent in the Willamette valley in the 50's.
Mrs. Scott, then Sarah Perkins, was three years old when her parents came over the Oregon Trail with the great immigration of 1851. Her family settled at Albany, Ore., her father was elected to the Oregon territorial legislature, and later was elected to the Washington legislature.
Mrs. Scott lived in the Oregon country until womanhood, when she and her father and mother moved to Pomeroy, Wash. She remembered the Ezra Meeker family when it arrived in Oregon.

Members of the Deschutes County fair association delivered 6282 turkeys, weighing 75,315 pounds, for the Christmas trade, receiving in payment the sum of $21,442.53.

Christmas Day Eventful In Dinners

There are just two groups of families at Christmas time, those who entertain at dinner and those who are entertained. Members of family groups gathered from far and near to be with one another for the Yuletide bringing the Christmas spirit with all its joyousness and cheer with them.
Christmas to those of us disillusioned mortals who no longer believe that one with the dimensions of Mr. S. Claus could possibly descend by way of a modern chimney, Christmas is the one date of a calendar of activities that brooks no thought of not renewing the home ties by no being home for the day.

Brightly lighted Christmas trees, holly wreaths, piles of packages in their gay holiday wrappings, great log fires, and the festive board with traditional wealth of good things, mark the day apart.

Among the many hosts for Christmas dinner were the Frank Spencers who entertained Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Robertson, Mrs. Max O. Buren, Sam Laughlin and their daughter Ruby were the guests of Judge and Mrs. Harry H. Belt for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Buren and Miss Maxine Buren were here to be with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Buren.

Dr. and Mrs. Jerald Backstrand spent the day in Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wilson with their two children, Margaret and Junior, motored to Springfield for the day.

Paulsen's Visit—Mr. and Mrs. N. Paulsen of Portland are spending the holidays with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Paulsen.

Miss Marjorie Church Is Christmas Bride

Miss Marjorie Church became the bride of Meris Bonney at 7 o'clock Christmas evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Church, in their home on North Winter street.
The Rev. Leroy Walker officiated at the single ring ceremony before a small white gate which was opened by the bridesmaids, Miss Beulah Graham and Miss Marcia Fuestman, at the approach of the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. A. M. Church, who gave her away. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Arthur Bonney.

Miss Church wore a gown of white satin in bouffant style. Her veil of embroidered chiffon, held in place with a jeweled band caught on each side with tiny rosebuds, had been worn by 20 brides before her. Her slippers were of silver. Bride's roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Leroy Walker played the Lohengrin Wedding March and accompanied Miss Grace Henderson, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." Mrs. Walker played "A Perfect Day" throughout the ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple were given a reception. Miss Leah Fanning and Miss Catherine Barker presided at the punch bowl. Christmas tapers and poinsettias against a background of Christmas greenery.

For her going away outfit Mrs. Bonney wore an ensemble of black velvet.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Bonney are former students of the Willamette University and are well-known in the university circles.

Mrs. White Gives Colleen Turns Dance For The Younger Set

Mrs. Ralph White has hosted at her annual Christmas dance given Christmas night in her studio ballroom. Almost a hundred couples were in attendance, many of whom were the college folk who are home for the holidays.

The ballroom was decked in the holiday attire of fairyland, with festoons and wreaths of green, trimmed in red, and colored lights lending their soft glow. Large art baskets of poinsettias were used here and there about the ballroom effectively.

The feature of the evening was a Christmas adagio dance by Elizabeth Waters and George Birrell, which delighted the guests.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Creech.

Miss Marie Steutsman and Miss Margaret Beel served at the punch bowl.
Miss Elizabeth Waters was chairman of the committee for the dance.

Mrs. White Gives Colleen Turns Bathing Beauty For First Time

Unlike most feminine stars in Hollywood's constellation, Colleen Moore has never appeared on the screen in a bathing suit until her newest picture, "Oh Kay!" which is now at the Elsinore theatre.

Although Colleen's career included a year as a Christy Comedy girl, she happened to be given roles requiring other costumes. Many stars first won prominence as bathing beauties among them Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels, Marie Prevost and Phyllis Haver.

but it remained for Colleen to reverse the usual progress of a screen career and become a bathing beauty after she achieved stardom.

In "Oh Kay!" Miss Moore is seen in a swaggy striped swimming suit—her only costume when she boards a ship for America. Lawrence Gray plays opposite Miss Moore in this production, with Alan Hale, Ford Sterling, Julianne Johnston and Claude Gillingwater in other prominent roles.
