HEALTH CENTER TO RESUME ACTIVITY

Educational activities in the Salem health center will be resumed early in January. It was announced Saturday morning with word that a 15 weeks' course in "home nursing" will be offered "prenatal" conferences will be continued.

The course in home nursing is announced in response to the many requests that have come to the child health demonstration for such lessons, and will be conducted by the nursing department under direction of the Red Cross. A Red Cross certificate will be awarded all those who complete the course.

The nursing course will be given at the health center, 405 High street, every Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the first lesson to be given January 9, with Miss Elizabeth Freeman, R. N., instructor in charge. Included in the course of study will be such subjects as: Individual and community health and hygiene; practical bedside care; appliances and methods for the sick room; observation of symptoms; feeding the sick; infant care; care of communicable disease; and emergencies.

The prenatal conferences will be held every Tuesday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, beginning January 8, at which time much valuable information will be given to expectant mothers. Subjects include: nutrition for the expectant mother; dress and hygiene; danger signals; baby's layette and baths. Nurses in charge will be Miss Martha Harrison, R. N., and Miss Ruby Bratzka, R. N.

Artist of Violin Heard and Seen On Local Screen

There is an adage that "wonders will never cease" and everyday I become more convinced of its truth. I heard Albert Shaulding Sunday night at the Capitol theatre and I paid the price of a movie to hear what heretofore cost $2.50 and up. Over the vitaphone the tones of the violin came as sure and thrilling, as perfect and shaded as if one were in the same room with the artist and one watched the dexterity and graceful technique involved in handling the bow with more concentrated interest than if one were listening to the artist in person. It is a performance that no one who loves music will want to miss.

In addition to this remarkable performance there is one of the best moving pictures which I have seen for a long time. "The Trial" is a spoken murder drama with all the tense elements of unexplained situations and none of the refinements of most sensational plays. It grips one to forgetfulness of all else but it does not pall. —MERE CUBS.
