

Society News and Club Affairs

OLIVE M. DOAK, Society Editor

Club Groups Are Entertained at Luncheons

Club events play no small part in the affairs of Salem society women, but it is seldom that two distinctive affairs set a single afternoon as one apart. Nevertheless, Tuesday afternoon was featured by smart luncheons for two groups.

Mrs. Harry Harms and Mrs. Charles Davis were joint hostesses to the La Mere club at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Harms on North Second street. Arrangements of pussywillows formed interesting and attractive decorations at the luncheon table and about the rooms.

During the afternoon a clever program followed the luncheon with a number of games and a group of readings by Mrs. Mudd. Mrs. A. L. Tumbleson and Mrs. P. F. Kilian were additional guests for the afternoon.

The club group includes Mrs. B. J. Elmer, Mrs. Clifton Mudd, Mrs. Frank Struble, Mrs. D. R. Peterson, Mrs. K. P. Pickens, Mrs. Theodore Roth, Mrs. Earl Greg, Mrs. Ed Shanke, Mrs. Harry White, Mrs. E. H. Bingenheimer, Mrs. Carl Huber, Mrs. Floyd White, Mrs. W. J. Nelson, Mrs. Emma, Mrs. A. P. Pruitt, Mrs. Wilmer McClaren of Albany.

Salem Garden Club Makes Plans

The Salem Garden club met at the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday evening for their regular January meeting. Mrs. W. W. Rosebraugh, president of the club, presided.

Plans were suggested for a monthly flower show, and Mrs. W. H. Dancy was appointed chairman of a committee which shall be in effect, whose work it shall be to draft a set of rules which will govern the Salem Garden club flower shows.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mr. Ernest Lufer were appointed as a committee to investigate the merits and feasibility of sending in articles concerning Salem gardens to the national garden society, such articles in conjunction with others from all over the United States to be syndicated and sent out to newspapers of the country.

The program for the next meeting was outlined by the members, the president for the February meeting, at which time Mr. Jones of Portland will present slides, some of which come from the National Geographic collection and which he will accompany with a lecture. This promises to be a very interesting and instructive evening. This particular meeting will be held in the Woman's club house with an admission charge of fifty cents to all those not members.

Plans were also discussed to ward off colds during this year. The highlights of the Monday evening program were the lectures given the club by Miss Elizabeth Lord and Miss Edith Schruver. Miss Lord, only recently returned to Salem, spoke concerning gardens she had visited abroad. Miss Schruver emphasized the need for landscape architecture in order to secure the sort of homes and gardens desired.

W. C. T. U. To Meet For Important Session

Mrs. McCarrall will entertain the members of the W. C. T. U. at her home on Highland avenue Thursday for an all-day meeting. An interesting program has been planned to follow the business meeting. Mrs. McLain will be in charge of the devotions. Mrs. Charlton of the Salem union will conduct a parliamentary drill. Mrs. Prinnell and Mrs. Hadley will sing. Mrs. McCarrall will give a reading and there will be instrumental music. Mrs. Presnell, who is a member of the Woman's Crusade will lecture upon that organization.

Luncheon will be served at noon. W. B. A. Review No. 5 are planning a social meeting in conjunction with the regular meeting which is scheduled for Thursday evening at the Fraternal Temple. For the regular lodge business has been transacted a potluck dinner will be served. All members of the organization are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kay were Monday Portland visitors from Idaho. The first meeting of the Salem Woman's club for the year 1929 will be held at the club house Saturday, January 12. Dr. Estel Ford Warner will address the group upon the subject of "How Good Health Can a Community Afford." Further plans will be announced later.

For Salem people who enjoy good minstrel singing, there is promised splendid entertainment January 17, when the Salem Elk's chorus will present their minstrel. Mr. Dick Robertson is the director and Mr. James McDonald is the manager of the chorus.

Social Calendar

Wednesday

Missionary society, Presbyterian church in church parlors, 2:30 o'clock.
Special meeting of Williamette Shrine No. 2, White Shrine of Jerusalem will meet at 9:30 o'clock this morning at Masonic Temple to attend the funeral of Sojourner Elizabeth Shafter.
Lutheran Ladies' Guild, American Lutheran church, Wednesday, 2:30 church parlors.
Election of officers.
All day meeting, Knight Memorial church, Luncheon 12:45.
W. F. M. S. of First M. E., 2:30, Mrs. W. Rigdon, 299 N. Winter.
Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars meet with Mrs. Carl Abrams, 1547 Chemeketa street at 2:30 o'clock.
Catholic Ladies food show, or at St. Joseph's Hall, 2 to 6 o'clock.
Baked ham dinner at First M. E. at 7:30.
W. H. M. S. of Jason Lee M. E. in church parlors for afternoon meeting.
Derecs society of Christ Lutheran church regular meeting in church parlors at 2 o'clock.

Thursday

Elementary child study group of A. A. W. W., 10th floor First Nat. bank Bldg., 7:30 p. m.
North Salem W. C. T. U. All day meeting, Mrs. McCarrall, corner of Highland and Maple avenues.
Nile club, Masonic Temple, all day meeting. Election of officers.
Chilmothers will meet at 8 o'clock at the sorority house on State street.
Thursday club meets with Mrs. E. C. Cross, 1287 Chemeketa.
All day meeting of Women's Relief Corps sewing society at the fairgrounds.
There will be a potluck dinner and election of officers.
Carnation club with Mrs. Geo. Schulz, 1217 Marion for afternoon.
W. B. A. Review No. 5, potluck dinner, Fraternal Temple, 8 o'clock.
W. C. T. U., Mrs. McCarrall, Highland Ave. and Maple street, all day meeting.
Friday
Public installation of officers of Daughters of Veterans, Woman's club house, N. Cottage street.
Woman's Missionary circle, First Baptist church meets at 2:30 with Mrs. Clifton Mudd, 1715 N. Capitol street.

Mrs. E. F. McFarland To Address Society

Members of the missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will be addressed at the meeting which they are to hold at the church rooms this afternoon by Mrs. Edwin F. McFarland, who with her husband has spent several years as a missionary in Korea.
Mrs. McFarland whom many Salem folk remember as Etta Grimes is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Gilbert.

Mrs. Fred Gibson, Miss Lillie Rugs and Miss Ruth Hage have as their guest for this week, Mrs. Albert Hilke, of Belfield, North Dakota. Mrs. Hilke will leave for Los Angeles this Sunday.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated in Silverton

The 58th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Steelhammer of Silverton was observed at a joint celebration with Mr. Steelhammer's 82nd birthday Sunday at Silverton. Mr. and Mrs. George Steelhammer of that city entertained with a family reunion dinner. The wedding anniversary occurred Saturday while the birthday was Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steelhammer were married in Wisconsin, Milan, 1870, coming to Oregon in 1891. Since that time they have resided in Marion county. For many years Mr. Steelhammer was a blacksmith at Silverton but for the last 10 years he has been retired.

Mrs. Clifton Mudd Hostess to Circle

The Women's Missionary circle of the First Baptist church will meet for this regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Clifton Mudd at her home on North Capitol street on Friday afternoon.

Carnation Club With Mrs. G. Schultz

The Carnation club, auxiliary social club to the Degree of Honor Ladies, will meet with Mrs. George Schultz, 1217 Marion street, Thursday afternoon.

W. F. M. S. Meeting Has Been Postponed

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church has been postponed because of the funeral of Mrs. E. J. Swafford. Mrs. Rigdon was to have been hostess for this meeting.

W. F. M. S. Meeting Has Been Postponed

Mrs. Swafford was a member of the society and one of the oldest members of the church.

Word has been received in Salem concerning Miss Irene Moran, former Salem girl, student of Prof. Frank Churchill, which will be of interest to her friends here. Miss McGorman after studying in Seattle, continued her studies in New York, and later went to Rome, Italy, where she has been studying for the past 16 months. Last Christmas she spent in Egypt and this year she returned to New York just in time to spend Christmas there. Miss McGorman plays now and then over the radio from New York City stations.

Dinner Party Given Elks' Chorus

The Salem Elk's chorus enjoyed a wild duck dinner Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. W. Savage, Garden Road, with Mr. Jesse S. Savage acting as host.

Red carnations, green fern, and tall red tapers graced the long dining table where covers were laid for exalted ruler, Frank Durbin Jr., Mr. Dick Robertson, Mr. L. M. McDonald, Mr. August Carl, Mrs. H. W. Brown, Mr. J. C. Cherrington, Mr. Frank Cain, Dr. A. I. Franz, Mr. Cicero Hogan, Mr. Frank Kellogg, Mr. Donald Madison, Mr. T. H. Morley, Mr. Clifton Mudd, Mr. John Moritz, Mr. Ben Ramseyer, Mr. Leslie Springer, Mr. N. W. Zeller, Mr. Joe Wise, Mr. Glen Yeager, Mr. Frank Zinn, Dr. S. F. Scott and Mr. Jesse Savage.

Exalted ruler, Frank Durbin Jr., made a dinner speech in which he complimented the members of the chorus for the fine work that they have done this winter, and extended the appreciation of the chorus to the assistant hostesses.

After the dinner the chorus returned to the Elk's club where they rehearsed the minstrel which they will present January 17.

Luncheon, Cards Recent Social Event

Mrs. John Waters entertained recently with two tables of bridge at her home on South 17th street at a bridge luncheon. Mrs. E. L. Kollenborn won the award for the high score of the afternoon. Luncheon was served after cards playing was concluded.

The guests included Mrs. A. C. Bishop, Mrs. N. F. Wicker, Mrs. Dean Adams, Mrs. H. C. Davis, Mrs. John Hunter, Mrs. Kollenborn, and Mrs. Clifton Mudd.

Mrs. J. L. Hendricks will be hostess to the St. Vincent de Paul parish women at her home 2444 Hazel avenue on Thursday afternoon.

FLIGHT FACTS ARE COMPILED BY PRESS

(By the Associated Press)
Start of flight—January 7, 7:26:46 a. m.
End of flight—January 7, 2:07:01 p. m.
Time in air—150 hours, 49 minutes, 15 seconds.
Distance in miles covered in flight—approximately 11,500.
Amount of gasoline consumed—5205 gallons.
Amount of oil consumed—262 gallons.
Number of contacts made with refueling planes—about 36.
Tonnage of supplies and fuel transferred to plane—42,000 pounds.
Type of plane—Standard Army Fokker C-2 transport.
Wing expansion—71 feet.
Type of motors—Three standard army Wright whirlwinds.
Horse power—225 each.
Average speed—70 miles.
Maximum speed—121 Mph.
Average altitude maintained—3500; maximum 6600.
Revolutions made by three motors—42,522,000.

COMMUNITY CLUBS MEET JANUARY 30

The Marion county federation of community clubs will hold its next meeting Wednesday night, January 30, in the public school building at Mt. Angel. It was announced Tuesday by Dr. P. O. Riley, president.

A program of unusual interest being prepared, Dr. Riley promises, and everyone interested is invited.

In order to add to the interest in community life, the federation is offering prizes for the best essays on "Community Spirit." Anyone attending school in Marion county is eligible to compete. Essays must be no more than 500 words in length, and must be mailed to Dr. Henry E. Morris, First National Bank building, Salem, so as to reach him by Saturday, January 26.

Announcement of the winners and awarding of the prizes will be a feature of the Mt. Angel meeting. The program will include a number of musical selections.

LEAVES FOR EASTERN HOME
Walter Heine has started on his return trip to his home in Albert Lea, Minn., after a three week visit at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Heine, 1750 State street. This was the visitor's first trip to Oregon and he expressed himself as quite delighted with the country. Mr. Heine went from here to California, from where he will travel to Chicago and then on to his home in Minnesota.

GOING TO PORTLAND
A. L. Dark, 974 E street, will leave his car to spend the day in Portland on business.

Meetings in Capital

Two important meetings of women are to be held in Washington, D. C., in the near future. January 9-11 the annual mid-winter meeting of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's clubs will be held, with Mrs. John F. Sippel, below, presiding. January 15-18 the fourth national conference on the Cause and Cure of War convenes in the nation's capital, with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, above, officiating.

QUESTION MARK TO BE EYED CLOSELY

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The three engines that kept the monoplane Question Mark in the air for more than 150 hours are the property of the United States army, but the Wright Aeronautical corporation, their builders, will request their return in order to perform an "autopsy" on them. From this post-mortem examination Charles L. Lawrence of the Wright corporation, designer of the engines, hopes to obtain scientific data which may lead to construction of engines which virtually will be indestructible. If the army should not accede to this request, Lawrence said that Wright experts would attend the engine autopsy which the army itself would unquestionably undertake.

Newest Scotch Music is Billed At Y. M. Friday

Scotch music of the new school will form the basis for the program at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. William McGilchrist, Sr., who has returned from the British Isles within the last 10 days, will relate his experiences and play several pieces he learned while abroad.

One of the instruments on which Mr. McGilchrist will play will be an English concertina. The members of the boys chorus who heard the program recently report something new and highly entertaining in the modern Scotch music. The lobby will be open to all wishing to attend the Friday program.

RHEUMATISM

While in France with the American Army I obtained a prescription that thousands of Rheumatic sufferers have used with wonderful results. The prescription cost me nothing and I ask nothing for it. I will mail it if you will send me your address. A postal will bring it. Write today.

PAUL CASE, Dept. T-60, Brockton, Mass.
We Welcome You
to Portland, 200 comfortable rooms, complete restaurant, reasonable rates. Convenient downtown location. Now under new management.
SAM D. ADKISSON
The HOTEL CONGRESS
PORTLAND, OREGON

LET'S LIVE! MILDRED LAMB

CHAPTER LVIII
Byrd opened her eyes and saw Tiny standing by her bedside. The slanting rays of the November sun fell obliquely over the heavy, ornate furniture of the guest room.
"For Pete's sake," gasped Byrd, "what time is it?"
"About eleven o'clock," answered Tiny, smiling. "Have you had a good sleep, Byrdkins? I brought you a bite of breakfast."
Byrd's brow puckered into a hundred tiny wrinkles.
"I remember passing out while I was dancing, and that's all I do remember," she said slowly.
"What happened afterwards?"
"Tiny told her while she arranged the breakfast tray on the little stand by her side. She told her how Larry had carried her upstairs and that it was only after she, herself, had pulled off her mink that she discovered that she wasn't the little Russian dancer after all."
One shock had followed the other. They discovered, too, that she had had her beautiful hair cut off.
"You sure took the wind out of our sails," remarked Tiny. "It was the best stunt I ever saw anyone get away with! That accent and your dancing!"
"Better than India's stunts!" asked Byrd weakly.
"India!" exclaimed Tiny grimly. "Why, she's just dish water compared with you. She's got a little patter that she gets away with, goodness only knows how. There's nothing professional about it. Why Byrd, you could go on the stage!"
Tiny was still exhilarated over the success of her party.
"Everybody said it was the most unusual party they'd ever gone to, and you and that Russian were the making of it! Fred's sending each of you a check for fifty dollars. Said it was worth twice that much," continued Tiny.
"Well, I had more fun than I ever had at a party in all my life," smiled Byrd.
"Poor Larry!" Tiny's voice became less than a whisper. "I never saw anyone so completely shattered. First, he came expecting to find you here. Then I wish you could have learned that you were the marvelous Russian that everybody was talking about and the men were so dippy over. Then he almost collapsed when he learned it was you who fainted. He didn't go home until the doctor assured him it was only nerve exhaustion and sat and held your hand until he came."
"Did you say you had a doctor?" asked Byrd, suddenly frowning.
"Oh, Tiny, I surely didn't need a doctor."
"You sure did, roosebud, and he said you'd like to stay in bed a whole week. I'd like to see you try to get out of this house while Fred and I are living in it." Tiny's arms crept around Byrd's neck.
"We want you to get your strength back, honeydew. You've been doing too much lately."
"Well, let's see," considered Byrd, still frowning. "Mr. Polk won't need me any more because his secretary comes back Monday. And he was going to start me on some other job in another department. Call up Pat and ask her to stop at Kelly's this afternoon and get my mail and toilet things. Tell her to explain to them that I'm with friends."
Pat arrived early in the afternoon in her breezy clothes and her breezy manner, carrying an armful of late chrysanthemums from her mother-in-law's garden.
"S wonderful! S marvelous!" she sang out as she bounced into the room. "Where did you get the idea for a stunt like that?"
She hopped onto the bed, landing squarely on Byrd's foot.
"Then her eyes fell on Byrd's short hair.
"And your hair! It's simply gorgeous, gorgeous! Looks like yellow taffy! Gee! I wonder what you'll say! Say, your old bean Remenoff called to say that he wanted to give you lessons in the rest of your life for nothing! He thinks you're the next Pavlova!"
"I'd like to try drying mine that lay asked Dr. Newcomb, with eyes twinkling.

He walked briskly toward the bed. Under his disarming smile, Byrd's fears slipped from her and a sudden relief surged through her body. Of course, he couldn't know!
"The only thing that ailed me, doctor," Byrd smiled up at him. "was that I needed a good sleep."
"Agreed!" he said heartily. "This week you've got to spend all your waking hours sleeping!"
He shook down the thermometer and placed it between her lips and took her pulse.
He read the thermometer with a quizzical expression narrowing his bright eyes, and for a second Byrd was again apprehensive. Then he smiled.
"All you need is a week's rest, and this is the best sanitarium I know of," he said gayly.
"Oh, I'll be all right by tomorrow," said Byrd casually. She wished he wasn't so insistent that she stay with the Obermans. She could rest just as well at the Kellys, and there she would be away from Tiny's too solicitous attentions.
"Well, well, we'll see," he said. "I'll drop in tomorrow."
Byrd's tiny shell like ears strained for the words that passed between them as they stood for a minute in the hall. But she couldn't hear a word!
"I'm going to fix you up a little," Tiny announced, bringing out her tray of perfumes, powders and unguents. "Larry telephoned asking if he might stop in this afternoon."
"You needn't spend any effort fixing me up for him," said Byrd, with finality. "You'll only be wasting your time."
"Oh, young lady, thought Tiny, you can't fool me."
"Now, don't get all prickly," she laughed, "every woman wants to look her best even for the man he's giving of divorcing."
Byrd gave Tiny a quick, resentful glance.
(Turn to Page 8, Please.)

Western Girl Wouldn't Eat

"Everybody in the neighborhood was crazy about Dorothy. She was the happiest, brightest little thing you ever saw," says her mother, Mrs. S. P. Jones, 1702 West Laurel Street, San Antonio, Texas. "She looked so healthy we thought she'd never have any trouble. But when she was almost three, she began to be constipated. It made her fretful, cross and feverish. Her breath got to be terrible and her tongue was nearly always coated. She didn't want to do anything but lie around. She wouldn't eat and was losing weight fast."
"Then a friend recommended California Fig Syrup and I began giving it to Dorothy. At bright-gam to eat heartily and her stomach and bowels started acting perfectly. Soon she commenced gaining weight and she's been perfect ever since."
California Fig Syrup is made from two of Nature's greatest laxatives—ripe California Figs and First Quality Senna Leaves. Children like its rich, fruity taste. It regulates their stomach and bowels and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.
"The genuine," endorsed by physicians for over 50 years, always bears the word "California." All drug stores have it.—Adv.

SAVE ON Home Furnishings AT OUR JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE! 15% to 50% Reductions (Contract lines excepted)

Use Your Credit GIESE-POWERS Furniture Company We Charge No Interest

Member Commercial Association, Inc., the largest Furniture Buying Organization in the U. S.