

Ancient Salem - Eugene High Grudge Resumed Tonight

JEFFRIES STAR OF E. H. S. FIVE

Visitors Reported to Have Fast Breaking Attack and Good Defense

The ancient athletic grudge between Salem and Eugene high schools will be reopened tonight when basketball teams of the two institutions meet on the maple court at the local high school building.

Since Eugene lost to McMinnville high last week the lads from up river are given slightly the short end in forecasts for tonight's game, but there are several qualifying circumstances to be considered before Salem is conceded a victory.

Eugene's game with McMinnville was played on the latter's floor, and McMinnville won by only one point, 22 to 21. Since there is a considerable handicap, especially for high school teams, in playing away from home, Eugene is expected to provide Salem high with stiffer competition than McMinnville furnished here Tuesday.

May Stop Rushes
On the other hand, McMinnville held Salem to a close race after changing guards and stopping Slegmund's dribbling dashes under the basket, and if Eugene has a guard who can do that the visitors will probably give Salem a hard run. Inability of the locals to break into scoring position caused their downfall in the game with the Oregon Rocks. In fact the McMinnville game was the first in which Coach Louis Anderson's men really exhibited an effective fast breaking offense such as Anderson has been trying to develop, and there is no assurance that it will be working when the team lines up against Eugene.

Jeffries is Star
Jeffries, a guard, shows indications of becoming Eugene's scoring ace this year, making 13 points in the game at McMinnville. He shot five baskets in quick succession in the first half. The Eugene team uses an offensive style similar to Salem's, and is reported to be exceptionally fast on the floor. Peterson, McMinnville center who did a large share of that team's scoring here, was held to seven points, indicating that the Eugene team is strong on defense.

Probable lineups tonight:
Salem Eugene
Slegmund F. M. Near
C. Kelly F. Moffitt
Beechler C. Jacobs
R. Kelly G. Jeffries
Ecker G. McClain

Where Bambino's Wife Met Death

Above, Central Press telephoto to the Statesman of the home of Edward H. Kinder, Boston dentist, where Mrs. George Herman Ruth, wife of the famous Babe, met death in a fire. Inset is of Dr. Kinder, who is being sought for questioning. Right, one of the best known photos of the Ruth family before its separation three years ago, showing Dorothy, the daughter, the Bambino himself and Mrs. Ruth.

BABE RUTH WEEPS AS WIFE IS BURIED

BOSTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, the home run king of baseball, today saw his wife buried in the old Calvary cemetery at Forest Hills. He planned to attend a special mass for her in the church of St. Augustine tomorrow and then return to New York.

Extremely simple services marked the funeral of Mrs. Ruth, the former Helen Woodford, who lost her life in a fire in Watertown last Friday. Ruth, with tears streaming down his face, sat in silence in the Woodford home.

Nine year old Dorothy Ruth was not at the funeral services. She was in a convent at Wellesley, and it was indicated that Ruth would take her with him to New York tomorrow.

HEARINGS ON COAL BILL SOON CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Senate Interstate Commerce committee today decided to close its hearings Tuesday on a bill designed to stabilize the bituminous coal industry.

Further objections to the measure from coal operators and business men will be heard tomorrow and Saturday after which legislative situation in the senate there seems little likelihood that the measure, or any that might be reported in its place, can receive much attention at the current session.

The plan of the committee, after the hearings are concluded, are indefinite, but in view of the legislative situation in the senate there seems little likelihood that the measure, or any that might be reported in its place, can receive much attention at the current session.

Bagshaw's Fate is Being Considered at Meeting

SEATTLE, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The fate of Coach Enoch Bagshaw, University of Washington football coach, was being debated tonight at a special meeting of the student board of control called by Smith Troy, student body president.

Troy, backed by a number of alumni, advocated the buying up of Bagshaw's contract which has three years to run, for $24,266.65, the amount he would receive if he remained as the husky coach. The student president claimed that he had sufficient votes in the board to effect Bagshaw's ouster. However, the faculty athletic committee, which has a right to pass on all actions of the board affecting coaches, has endorsed Bagshaw.

If the board should move for an ouster, and the committee refuse to accept it, the matter would be left in the hands of M. Lyle Spenser, president of the university, who has repeatedly refused to take any stand whatever in disconnection over the football coach. Two compromise plans presented by Bagshaw's opponents were turned down before the meeting was called.

One proposed employment of a new assistant coach who would step into Bagshaw's shoes provided he showed sufficient ability to warrant the move. Bagshaw would accept the suggestion only if he were allowed to select his new assistant, while his opponents insisted that they be allowed to select him.

Under the second plan Bagshaw would have tendered his resignation on account of ill health, and receive the balance due him under his contract. Although the coach has been in poor health for the last few seasons, he declined the proposal.

Mrs. G. Shirley, Early Teacher In Salem Dies

Word reached here late Thursday night that Mrs. George Shirley, 60, who grew up in Salem and was a teacher in the old East school, now called the Washington school when the school first opened, died at McMinnville at 10:30 p. m., Thursday. Before her marriage her name was Miss Lillie Litchfield. She was the niece of the late G. P. Litchfield of Salem. Interment is to be in Salem within the next few days.

Advertisers Hold Own Golf Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—President MacKinney of Essex Falls, N. J., and Merrill M. Lord, of Jackson Heights, L. I., will fight it out tomorrow for the championship of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests.

Coach Slats Gill Picks Ten Men for Invasion of Hoop Circuit

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Ten men were selected by Coach "Slats" Gill today to leave Friday on the northern swing of the conference basketball circuit. Oregon State will open the conference season Saturday against Washington State at Pullman while Oregon is meeting Washington at Seattle. Coach Gill, beginning in conference this year, has developed some good men but a change of system has retarded their work.

Next week the Beavers will continue a road trip, meeting Gonzaga, Idaho, Montana and Washington.

Men selected for the trip are: Torson, Aase, centers; Wascher, Ballard, Grayson, O'Brien, forwards; Calahan, Whitlock, Patterson, R. Drager, guards.

She's Water Queen

Member of the United States Olympic team though only 15, breaking a world's record in winning the A. A. U. medley championship, setting new marks for the backstroke from 200 to 800 yards, and possessor of more than a dozen records, Eleanor Holm, above, of New York, is now regarded as the swimming queen of 1928. And this year she hopes to be better than ever!

BEATING BABE INTO SHAPE AGAIN

With a medicine ball rolling on his tummy, Babe Ruth, corpulent sultan of swat, begins to get into shape again for another baseball campaign with the New York Yankees. With Babe is Artie McGovern, trainer, who has the job of whittling off some of Babe's 234 pounds.

CONQUEROR OF BAD DISEASE IS VICTIM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph Goldberger, 54, leader in the campaign which conquered Pellagra and an outstanding contributor to medical science, died here today of a malady which still remains a mystery. His body will be cremated, in accordance with a long-expressed wish, and his ashes cast to the winds on the Potomac river, without any formal ceremony.

While still at work studying diets which cause or cure Pellagra, the scientist was stricken early in November. He was removed to the naval hospital here, and his condition quickly became critical.

Attending physicians believed that at that time he suffered from some form of anemia, but Dr. G. W. McCoy, director of the hygienic laboratory and one of the attending physicians said no agreement had been reached on the diagnosis.

A post mortem examination was conducted today, but physicians who participated declined to make a statement of their findings. The commanding officer of the naval hospital said the autopsy "confirmed the diagnosis," which had been made prior to Dr. Goldberger's death, but declined to say what this diagnosis was.

Buffalo Golfer Defeats Ryerson

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., halted the victorious three day match of J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., in the Miami mid-winter amateur golf tournament today when he defeated Ryerson, 2-1, in the semi-final round of the tourney. He will meet Harcourt Brice of Miami in the semi-finals.

INSPECTORS FORBID USE MAKESHIFT CONTAINERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Barrels, cans and almost anything that will hold gasoline used by motorists who try to "load up" on fuel during the "gas war" are tabooed by fire marshals Roberts. Today he ordered inspectors to stop the sale of gasoline unless approved containers are used.

HEAD OF SMUGGLING RING IS IN CUSTODY

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Arrested here by federal agents as the alleged head of a large alien smuggling ring, captain Joao Lucia Souza, Portuguese American skipper of the schooner Fannie B. Atwood, was held in jail at Savannah today on charges of violating the United States immigration laws.

Declared by immigration officials to have been responsible for the illegal entry into the United States of hundreds of aliens, mostly Spaniards and Portuguese from the Cape Verde island, the sailing master was held specifically on an indictment returned against him in New Bedford, Mass. in 1927, which charged that he brought into the country a native of the islands.

Several agents assert that he had transferred his alleged smuggling operations from New England waters to the south about four years ago and had collected large sums from those willing to pay from $400 to $1,000 each to get into the United States.

Captain Souza's system, it was stated, was to conceal aliens in cargoes of salt and on making port in the United States, have them go ashore and when the ship was ready to sail again the regular crew would be on duty.

LEGISLATORS IN WASHINGTON REST

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Washington state legislature wound up its preliminary sessions today and adjourned, after brief sessions, until Monday when business will start in earnest.

Two tax bills, which promise to form the center of legislative battles, were introduced in the senate today. One, which would increase the gasoline tax from two to three cents, was introduced just 12 hours after Governor Roland H. Hartley had recommended that the center of legislative battles, were introduced in the senate today. S. H. S. DEBATE SQUAD WINNER

Loses Here But Wins at Silverton; 5 Points Scored in District

Salem high school broke slightly better than even in its first debates in the inter-school series when it won 3 to 0 from Silverton at Silverton and lost 2 to 1 to Lebanon here last night. The decisions give Salem five points out of a possible eight toward the Middle Willamette district title, as one point is also allowed for each debate won. The question for both debates was: Resolved, That the United States should cease to protect by armed force, American capital invested in foreign countries, except after a formal declaration of war.

The judges' decision on the debate at Silverton, in which Edith May Jenks and Marvin Byers appeared for Salem, tells the effectiveness of the local debaters there. Both teams were doing their first competitive debate, as members of the local team were both green and this is the first time for several years Silverton high has entered the inter-school series.

In the debate here, over which Jack Roth presided, Fred Blatchford and Norman Winslow more than held their own with the Lebanon affirmative team composed of Kathleen Skinner and Clarence Root in their presentation speeches. Winslow's speech drawing particularly hearty applause or the ready manner in which it was delivered.

The affirmative rebuttal, handled by Kathleen Skinner, played a large part in giving the visitors the decision. Miss Skinner declared, among other points, the negative's charge that arbitration was impractical being without foundation inasmuch as arbitration has not been tried, and therefore could not be proved or disproved; and that arbitration would probably be impractical in the same category as the automobile, airplane and radio were once thought mere dreams.

The negative based its arguments on three main contentions, moral, economic and political, pointing in each instance that the presence of armed troops—a tried thing—was a great benefit to the United States.

Judges of the debate here were A. C. Stanbrough, Delmer R. Dewey and George C. Berreman, all of the Oregon State Normal school faculty.

SILVERTON, Ore., Jan. 17.—(Special)—The Silverton high school affirmative debate team was defeated by a 2 to 1 decision by Woodburn high at Woodburn tonight. Silverton debaters were Frances Keene and Genne Ellenburg. The negative team of Silverton high lost here to Salem high by a unanimous decision.

SEATTLE COP FIRED FOR RUM DEALINGS

SEATTLE, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Patrolman George N. Finell was summarily dismissed from the Seattle police force today after he surrendered to federal officers under a secret grand jury indictment. He posted $2500 bonds.

Four other men were arrested under the same indictment today. A week ago three of them were arrested and accused of smuggling $200,000 worth of liquor a year into Seattle from British Columbia by concealing it in false tops to railroad coach vestibules. The fourth, Tom Johnson, was arrested in Portland today. All posted bonds pending their arraignment. Two others were previously arrested in the same case and posted bonds.

Finell, who had been on the police force eleven years, had been assigned for the last four years to duty at the King street station, through which the liquor was supposedly smuggled. Declaring that he did not even know his co-defendants, the patrolman said, "they got the wrong policeman when they picked me."
