Representative Chincock of Josephine county assured the members of the house that there was no opposition to the increase among his constituents, the county and the feeling being general that the salaries had been inadequate for many years.

BOUNDARY LINE IS QUESTIONED

Issue Raised as to Where Polk County Ends and Lincoln Starts

Indications that the boundary between Polk and Lincoln counties may still be in question were seen in the house of representatives Wednesday when tentative objection was voiced by Representative Wilber Henderson of Multnomah county to passage of H. B. 121, which had for its purpose removal of a chapter of the 1925 session laws fixing this boundary.

It had been claimed that this law was superseded by a 1927 enactment, but Mr. Henderson wanted positive assurance of this, saying that the boundary between these counties had been at issue in three successive sessions of the legislature.

Repeal Bills Pass Assured by Representative L. E. Wilkes of Washington county that the 1927 law related to the same boundaries, Mr. Henderson withdrew his objection, but was then taken up with Representative B. F. Swope of Polk county, who tried to get the bill tabled for further investigation, but his motion was defeated. The bill was passed.

Other repeal bills passed Wednesday forenoon included H. B. 117, which authorized a survey of conflicting governmental authority in Multnomah county; H. B. 110, relating to non-resident alien; and H. B. 1, which seeks to remove the requirement of duplicate return of summons.

Tax Bill Veto Is Sustained by Vote of House

Governor Patterson's veto of H. B. 457 of the 1927 session, was in effect sustained when the report to that effect was adopted by the house of representatives Wednesday.
