QUESTIONNAIRE SERMON BASIS

Rev. F. C. Taylor Finds Composite Picture of the Layman's Church Attitude

The questionnaire, "What's on the Layman's Mind," answered by over 400 church people in the First Methodist church two weeks ago will form the basis for the message by the Rev. Fred C. Taylor, the pastor, in the service at the First church Sunday morning. The ten questions answered by the people were:

1. What is your main reason for attending church?
2. What is the cause for non-attendance at church?
3. What do you think might be used more in church?
4. What department of the church needs changing?
5. What institution in America has the greatest influence?
6. What kind of Sunday bulletin do you desire?
7. What time should be given to the morning worship?
8. Do you favor a radical change in the church program?
9. Do you favor the church school temple building this year?
10. Are you in favor of a Pre-Easter evangelistic campaign?

Who Answered Them The answers to these questions by over 400 persons form a practical and interesting method of learning the attitude of the laymen on some questions regarding church attendance and work, according to the pastor. The group comprised 89 young people below 20 years of age, 101 between 20 and 40 years of age and 224 over 40 years of age.

The questionnaire is part of the Church Loyalty campaign being conducted by the church during the months of January, February and March. The goal set for church attendance is 1000 and for Sunday school attendance 500. A record is kept of the attendance each Sunday and last Sunday the 740 mark was reached with 360 at Sunday school.

The theme for Sunday is "How the Pew can put the Pull in Pulpit" which will deal with the part the laymen should take in building up the church congregation and efficiency.

Higher Taxes

AMONG the bills considered by the current session of Oregon's Legislature is one relating to cemeteries. This makes possible a tax to provide care for unkept cemeteries. This provision is necessary because of lack of original endowment.

Provision for perpetual care releases the surviving family from the humiliation of unsavory surroundings, and the taxpayer from unjustified expense. Unless an entire cemetery is protected by perpetual care, the burden remains on the taxpayer, and family lots so endowed are surrounded by unsightly desolation.
