Smart Tea Honors Rainbow Mother Advisor

Miss Maxine Myers entertained at the home of her parents on Chemeketa street with tea from four to six Thursday afternoon for the new Rainbow officers and committees of Chadwick chapter Assembly No. 3 in order that they might meet the new Mother Advisor of the order, Mrs. Hazel Gillette.

In the dining room Miss Myers was assisted by Miss Julia Creech, Miss Cynthia Delano, Miss Katherine Langbridge, Miss Esther Wood, Miss Carolyn Braden, and Miss Eleanor Wright.

The rooms and tables were lovely in the color scheme of delicate pink, yellow and green carried out in lovely pink carnations, green ferns and yellow tapers in attractively shaded holders.

Some fifty guests were in during the afternoon to enjoy this attractive party, one of the smartest that has been given by the younger set.

Luncheon Guests Plan For Campaign

The final plans are being made and last instructions are being given out from Y. W. C. A. headquarters for the coming Y. W. C. A. campaign for funds to the amount of $7,500 which is needed to carry on the work of the organization for 1929.

Thursday a noon luncheon was held at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters for the executive committee, the board of directors, and the captains of the campaign teams. This luncheon would act as a preliminary to the luncheons which will be served every day during the campaign the week of February 4 to February 9, these luncheons to be held at the Young Men's Christian association building.

Hostess for the luncheons, it was announced, would be Mrs. M. L. Meyers. Mrs. L. H. Lauterman has been appointed chairman of the luncheon committee with Mrs. E. C. Van Slyke and Mrs. Gler Niles as assistants. Mrs. F. M. Erickson will have charge of arranging for the speakers who will address the luncheons during the week.

Three Links Club Enjoys Splendid Party

The Three Links club met in the club parlors recently for a business and sewing session. At 6:30 o'clock a potluck dinner was served to members and their families and to the Williamette encampment who was a specially invited guest. The tables were attractively decorated with potted plants, ferns, and pastel shaded paper streamers from the center of the room to each plate.

Following the dinner a social evening was enjoyed by some 200 guests. Mrs. Moore was in charge of the entertainment for the evening. This is the second joint meeting of the Three Links and the Encampment, the first one being held in January. The success of the idea seems assured.

During the Encampment meeting just previous to the dinner the degree of Royal Purple was conferred. A drawing was also held for a silk quilt in which Mrs. Harriet Miller held the lucky ticket.

The committee in charge of food for the potluck dinner were Mrs. Carrie Belle, Mrs. Grace Wobber, Mrs. Belle Carson, Mrs. Coral McNeil, and Mrs. Edith McElroy.

DECEMBER-MAY . . . . . By Laird

Men never get so old, bald and fat that they think they are unattractive to women! When the wife of their youth dies, do they pick out a woman of their own age for number two? They do not. They pick out—in nine cases out of ten—some slim, young creature, flatter her with the attentions of a successful business man, spend money on her as few men of her age can afford to do, point out that they can give her a fine house, position, and a luxurious car, intimate that they will hang diamonds on her and that the two of them will dance through life together without hard work or sacrifice of any sort. She is flattered and dazzled. Youths of her own age appear callow and clumsy beside this man of affairs, and the match is made.

What follows: The man tries to settle back into his former life with his first wife. He wants to entertain his middle-aged friends and play around with them—bridge or golf. He is contented with his easy chair and his paper after dinner and doesn't want to go out. And the girl, too late, discovers she wants to go to dances and other amusements with young folks her own age, and ten to one she meets a good looking young man with whom she could have been happy building a little home and rearing babies, and she grows to hate this elderly person who had no business getting her to marry him—taking advantage of her youth and inexperience, as she calls it. The consequence is boredom for both, if not divorce.

Miss Beryl Holt Is Luncheon Guest

Mrs. Thomas Wolgamott honored Miss Beryl Holt with a twelve o'clock luncheon Thursday at the Wolgamott home on South Church street. The luncheon table was centered with a large valentine on either side of which were tall red tapers in silver holders. Tiny valentines marked covers for nine.

Guests invited were the honor guest Miss Beryl Holt, Miss Lotta Crowley, Miss Ada Ross, Miss Lella Johnson, Mrs. Brazier Small, Mrs. Harold Isherwood, Miss Mary Eyre and Miss Ola Clarke.

Salem Garden Club To Meet Monday

There will be a very interesting and important meeting of the Salem Garden club on Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Woman's club house, 460 N. Cottage street. Mr. Jones of the photographic firm of Boychuck and Jones of Portland will be present and lecture and show slides, many of which belong to the collection of the National Geographic. These slides picture very unusual and fine scenes of the Cascade and Olympic mountains, and of mountains and wild flowers of Alaska.

Members of the garden club are guests for this meeting and the public which is urged to be present will be admitted for a small admittance fee. Anyone desiring more definite information call Miss Blair, secretary of the Salem Garden club.

Of interest to Salem friends will be the numerous affairs which have been given for Bishop and Mrs. Jenkins and family before their departure from Portland for Nevada. Miss Lucretia Allen entertained at the Alexander court for Bishop and Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Ruth and Master William, Monday evening. Miss Louise Inabitt entertained Miss Ruth Jenkins as a house guest during her stay in Portland for the consecration ceremony of her father now Bishop Jenkins of Nevada. Sunday night at an informal reception was given honoring Miss Ruth at the home of Miss Dorothy Dixon, and Dr. F. M. Loomis entertained for Miss Jenkins at dinner at the Benson hotel where covers were laid for 16 Friday night.

The social club to the auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans has postponed its meeting for one week. Among the 11 new honorary shades presented by one prominent house, for spring wear to harmonize with the recently announced shoe and fabric colors, are eight belonging to the tan family, two grays and one soft blue shade, called lapis.
