

SATISFACTION
We guarantee satisfactory carrier delivery for the Statesman. If you have any trouble about your copy, phone 300.

The Oregon Statesman

WEATHER
Unsettled today and Monday. Little change in temperature. Max. temperature 57; min. 30; rain .04; river 8.6.

"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From the First Statesman, March 28, 1852
Salem, Oregon, Sunday Morning, February 3, 1929

SEVENTY-EIGHTH YEAR, NO. 267

PRICE FIVE CENTS

HOOVER PLANS CONFABS WITH PARTY CHIEFS

Several Southerners Among Number Called to Confer With Leader

Farm Leader Backs William Jardine for Agriculture Secretary

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—President-elect Hoover, having finished his second fishing expedition in this vicinity, prepared late today to give his attention for the next few days to a series of conferences with party leaders and friends concerning cabinet appointments and political and legislative matters.

With this in mind, he has invited to his vacation home on Belle Isle, Miami Beach, to which he returned tonight, Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee; Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. A. T. Hert, national committee-woman for Kentucky; Charles Barrett of Union City, Ga., president of the Farmers' Union, and John Hays Hammond of Washington.

Opponent of McNary Bill Supports Jardine
Mr. Barrett, who has been one of the chief opponents among farm organization officials of the McNary-Haugen idea of farm relief, will recommend the re-appointment of William M. Jardine as secretary of agriculture. He will urge this selection on the ground that Mr. Jardine has made a capable and efficient official and is favored by many farm leaders.

With Mr. Anderson the next chief executive is expected to assume the political situation in Virginia, one of the four states of the solid democrats south which cast its electoral vote for Mr. Hoover, thus turning republican for the first time since reconstruction days.

Anderson Thoroughly Familiar With State
Mr. Anderson is one of the leading republicans of Virginia, and not only was a candidate of his party for governor of that commonwealth, but also has been in the running for the vice-presidential nomination of several occasions. He is thoroughly familiar with conditions in his state and is expected to be able to give Mr. Hoover verbal information as to the future outlook for the party there.

Mrs. Hert, who as a vice-president of the republicans committee, had charge of women's work in the last campaign, has announced that she seeks no appointment although her name has been urged for the post of secretary of the interior. She is spending the winter at Palm Beach and will be a luncheon guest of the President-elect and Mrs. Hoover tomorrow, along with Mr. Anderson, Senator Smoot and Mr. Hammond, who also is staying at Palm Beach.

Lindy Entertained With Other Notables
Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who is in Miami to open the air mail service to Cristobal, Panama, Monday morning, also will be a guest of the President-elect tomorrow, but whether for lunch.

(Turn to Page 5, Please.)

H. E. Inlow Will Head La Grande Normal School

Pendleton Educator Unanimously Selected by Regents' Board

Election of H. E. Inlow, superintendent of schools at Pendleton, as president of the new Eastern Oregon Normal school, now under construction at La Grande, was announced Saturday by the state board of normal school regents. The Pendleton man was unanimously selected after being nominated by George A. Hartman of Pendleton, a member of the board.

Mr. Inlow has served as city superintendent at Pendleton for nine years. Previously he was at Forest Grove for six years. For six years he served as a director of the eastern Oregon summer normal school. He is a graduate of the old Ashland normal and received degrees from the University of Oregon and Stanford university. He was president of the Oregon State Teachers' association in 1928.

The only other candidate placed in nomination was Ethel Redfield, formerly of Albany, and for three terms state superintendent of schools in Idaho. The names of 15 other candidates were read, but none was placed in nomination.

Construction work on the La Grande school probably will be completed about May 1. Mr. Inlow will take over his new work March 1 at a salary of $4500 a year. His term of office will expire June 30, 1933.

2 STATES IRON OUT TROUBLES IN CONFERENCE

Committees Get Together on Proposed Legislation for Auto Trucks

Meager Reports Filter Out Due to Action Barring Newspaper Men

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Agreement to seek laws that would eliminate the necessity of both Oregon and Washington licenses for freight trucks doing an interstate business was reached today by committees representing the two states.

Identical bills were drafted by a sub-committee that would call for non-resident registration of such trucks in each state and would also provide for reciprocity on issuance of licenses.

At present such vehicles must take out licenses in both states. The Washington truck owners complained that the Oregon license fee included a tax and that in effect they were paying personal property taxes in both states.

Licenses To Be Split By Oregon, Washington
The bills will be introduced in the Oregon and Washington legislatures. Interstate carriers would agree to take half of their licenses in Washington and half in Oregon.

(Continued from Page 5.)

Important Bills Due To Hit House As Deadline Near

Old Age Pension, Free Text Books Proposed in Measures Expected

Interest in legislation is expected to start with a rush Monday and during the coming week many bills of first importance are due in.

"The number of bills introduced during the first three weeks of the 1929 legislative session is much smaller than that of other years for the same length of time," declared A. W. Norblad of Astoria, president of the senate. "While there are many bills being written they are coming in very slowly."

Ralph S. Hamilton of Bend, speaker of the house, explains the unusual slowness by the fact that there seems to be less demand for legislation than usual, and it is the tendency of the solons not to introduce bills unless there is a demand for them.

Altogether, 344 house bills and 81 senate bills had been introduced at the end of the first three weeks of the legislative session. Of the 344 house bills, 137 were repeal bills by the committee on repeal of law appointed last session.

Monday will see in the house the introduction of the "old age pension" bill, to be presented by Mrs. J. E. Anderson and Bronough of Multnomah. Some time during this week the long awaited income tax is expected to be dropped in, and explosions will then be heard on every side. The rumblings caused by the introduction of the excise bill the last week will be as mere echoes, members predict.

Another bill of state-wide interest that is expected to be in the form of a measure that will change the present lien system on automobiles, under which garages now work. At present a garage.

(Turn to Page 18, Please.)

REVOLT AGAIN FLARES UP IN SPANISH ARMY

Commander of Troops at Valencia Defies Authority of Dictator

Meager Reports Filter Out Due to Action Barring Newspaper Men

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Telephone advices from Madrid indicate a serious revolt has again broken out in Spain.

The commanding officer at Valencia is reported to have defied Primo de Rivera. The Premier has left Madrid by airplane to check the revolt.

The palace of King Alfonso is surrounded by loyal troops and police. Newspapers have been barred from the vicinity.

No confirmation of these reports have been received here from any other sources.

MADRID, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The official newspaper today published a decree naming as inspector general of the third military district at Valencia General Sanjurjo with extraordinary powers.

Innocence Protested By Doctor In Final Letter To World Before Death

Mrs. Lebouef and He Not Lovers, He Says; Trapper Held Murderer

FRANKLIN, La., Feb. 2.—(AP)—A farewell message to the world from Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, who was hanged here yesterday with Mrs. Ada Bonner Lebouef for the murder of her husband by Eugene Dreher, his nephew.

His body and that of Mrs. Lebouef, his alleged paramour, were buried today, Dr. Dreher's at Clinton, La., his boyhood home, and that of Mrs. Lebouef at Morgan City.

Dr. Dreher's letter was written on the eve of his execution and was entrusted to a reporter with the request that it be given to the Associated Press.

"As I sit here in my sad and lonely death cell tonight with an aching heart, I want to write my last message to the living people of this world who knew something of this tragedy," the message said.

"I want these words to be published to the world.

"I wish they could be given the same prominence in the press and read by the radio as our trial was given.

Innocence Protested Until Very Last
"This is my message:
"Poor Mrs. Lebouef and I go to our doom tomorrow. Two innocent souls.

"I may not have a chance to say anything tomorrow before they hang me, Mrs. Lebouef, I believe, is too sick to be able to say anything. That is why I am writing this.

"Neither Mrs. Lebouef nor I fear death. We do not fear death because we have made our peace with God and we will soon be together.

Dr. Kinder was questioned by Judge M. J. Connolly, who conducted the inquest. He testified only concerning his whereabouts at the time of the fire. He said that he was attending a boxing match in Boston.

Dr. George L. West, medical examiner, testified that an autopsy on Mrs. Ruth's body revealed no evidence of foul play.

Judge Connolly reserved his findings.

Two Men Accused Of Making Booze
J. N. Welter and Elmer Bullock of West Stayton were arrested and brought to Salem Saturday where they were lodged in the county jail charged with operating a still. Officers declared they confiscated a 55 gallon still in a shed on Welter's premises. They also took two gallons of moonshine and three 200 gallon vats, practically empty, they said.

BUILDING-LOAN CORPORATIONS ARE EXAMINED

More Rigid Regulations Requested by Corporation Commissioner

Bills Being Drawn Up By Mark McCallister for Presentation Soon

Sternier laws regulating operations of building and loan and saving associations in Oregon is proposed in a number of amendments Mark C. McCallister, state corporation commissioner, was preparing Saturday for presentation to the legislature Monday.

"Whenever it shall appear to the corporation commissioner," reads one of the amendments, "that the affairs of any building and loan or savings and loan association are in an unsound condition or that it is conducting its business in an unsafe or unlawful manner, the corporation commissioner may direct one of his assistants to take possession of all books, records and assets of such association and retain them pending further proceedings.

Possible Refusal To Be Provided For
"Should the board of directors, secretary of person in charge of such association refuse to permit the said assistant to take possession of the records, the state corporation commissioner shall communicate such fact to the attorney general. It then shall become the duty of the attorney general to institute such proceedings as may be necessary to place such assistant in immediate possession of the effects of such association.

"Upon taking possession of the effects of the association the assistant shall prepare a full and true statement of its assets and liabilities and shall receive and collect all debts due and claims belonging to it and pay the immediate and reasonable expenses of his trust. Such assistant shall be required to execute to the corporation commissioner a bond in an amount required by the corporation commissioner, conditioned upon the faithful discharge of his duties as custodian of the association. The expenses shall be borne by the association under examination.

Twenty Days Given
"When the condition of such association has been fully ascertained, and it shall appear that the affairs of the association are in an unsound condition, the corporation commissioner shall at once notify in writing the board of directors of the association of his decision giving them 20 days in which to restore the affairs of the association in sound condition.

Meanwhile the corporation commissioner shall remain in charge of the books, records and assets, attend or be represented.

(Turn to Page 5, Please.)

AIMEE ARRIVES SAFE IN PORTLAND

Famous Evangelist Finally Located After Anxious Hunt by Reporters

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, flitted into Portland at 10:40 p.m. tonight aboard the Shasta limited from California and flitted out again at 11:30 p.m., aboard a northbound train for Vancouver, B. C., where she will conduct a series of revival meetings.

Mrs. McPherson described the hearing of Judge Carlos Hardy before the California state legislature committee as "terrible injustice," and in the same breath branded her reported disappearance from Los Angeles as "simply silly."

"There was no secrecy about my leaving," she explained. "I left Los Angeles by automobile Thursday night and arrived in Sacramento the following morning, leaving there Friday night at about 10 p.m."

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Strayer, a motion was made on the following night that the appropriation requested by the board of curricula be authorized. The motion was read, and one by one most of the members of the committee voted for the appropriation.

Two years ago similar action was taken in connection with an effort to abolish the state board for vocational education and the state seal of weights and measures. Both of these appropriations were refused by the ways and means committee.

"It is my opinion, gentlemen," remarked Senator Strayer, "that you will re-consider your action with relation to this appropriation and that it will be reinstated and have been appropriations for these boards and commissions refused in the past, but as often the doors have reopened and the appropriation authorized."

True to the predictions of Senator Str