Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine.

But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into a system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation for a laxative to be used by practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

BILL PAVING WAY FOR PACT

Attorney General May Succeed in Ironing Out Problem Between States

Ironing out of difficulties confronting Oregon and Washington in connection with collection of royalties on sand and gravel taken from the Columbia river probably will be accomplished in the bill Attorney General Van Winkle is preparing.

The new bill will authorize the Oregon land board to cooperate with the Washington land department in the collection of sand and gravel royalties, give the board power to accept assignment of Washington claims or to assign Oregon's claims to Washington. These assignments would be made in case litigation over the sand and gravel royalties from the Columbia river is necessary.

A bill previously drawn by Representative McCallister proposing to instruct the attorney general to proceed in the courts with the collection of royalties due the state of Oregon on sand and gravel companies operating in Portland, probably will not be pressed.

sought by agricultural interests. Garner is the ranking democrat on the ways and means committee.

Representative Black, democrat, Texas, read a resolution adopted by the Texas legislature favoring protection for products of the ranch, farm and orchard equal to that accorded products of the mine and factory and praised the tariff plan adopted by the democratic national convention at Houston.

This prompted Representative Crowther, of New York, a republican member of the ways and means committee, to remark that change in the democratic tariff change in the democratic tariff attitude he was afraid there would be some "conscientious objectors" when the time came to vote on the new law.

Crowther said he wanted the tariff wall so high that importers would be "likely to break their necks trying to get in."

"When you democrats wrote the tariff," he said, addressing Black, "you never gave the farmer anything, you skinned him alive and nailed his hide on the barn door as exhibit A."

Crowther told Representative Hudspeth, another Texas democrat, that he was in favor of a duty on hides and, when Representative Green, democrat, Florida, put in a plea for a duty on palm fibre, the New York member said he would do anything for Florida in view of the latest election returns.
