CHECK MADE ON STUDENT LISTS

64 More Added to Total Who Graduated From Oregon High Schools

The University of Oregon has 2596 students enrolled who were graduated from Oregon high schools, instead of the figure given last week as 2440, a supplement to the student census reaching the senate Monday showed. The student lists were furnished in accordance with senate resolution 18, which called for names, addresses, home addresses, preparatory schools and parents' addresses of all students in residence at the university and at the Oregon State college.

In the list filed last week the university counted all students transferring from other higher institutions as students from out of the state. It was found upon investigation that 64 of these transfers were originally graduates of Oregon high schools who had attended a year or more in some out-of-state college before coming back to their own state university.

Two Reports Similar
This makes the enrollment of Oregon high school graduates practically the same in both the university and the Oregon State college, the two reports show. O. S. A. C. has 2533 compared with 2596 at the U. of O. Total enrollments of all state and out-of-state students in 1928 on the Eugene campus and 3739 at the college. Addition of student load figures at the university, which is compiled from courses taken by extension and correspondence students, swells the U. of O. total of 3723, practically as many as are in attendance at the college. Median school figures are not included since the Portland school is supported by separate funds.

Lists Given in Detail
Included with the university supplement received Monday is a detailed classification of all students who entered from out-of-state high schools. This shows that 180 are paying non-resident fees, 176 are adults who have established residence in the state, 62 minors whose parents have moved to Oregon, 77 whose parents lived here while they attended preparatory schools elsewhere, 49 who are supported by relatives, and their parents, 83 minors who are self-supporting and who have established residence in the state, and two who have come from Alaska where there is no university.

The university supplement also contains complete data concerning:

H. B. 436 by Briggs, Carkin and Senator Dunn—Authorizing construction of a court house in Jackson county out of funds paid to Jackson county by the U. S. government.
