Miss Marie Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Fox, became the bride of Leonard Leo Burgoyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Burgoyne of Salem, Sunday, February 2. The beautiful ring ceremony was solemnized at high noon before an altar of cedar and roses in the Ford Memorial church, the pastor Rev. M. A. Groves officiating. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Sarah Bridgeman sang, "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Miss Bettie Bedford. Miss Bedford played Lohengrin's wedding march as a professional and Mendelssohn's march as a recessional.

There were 200 guests present at the wedding which was the first to take place in this church. The bride's sister, Miss Mollie Fox, was maid of honor. Miss Genevieve Sahern and Miss Florence St. Pierre were the bridesmaids. Lester Burgoyne, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Jacob Fox, brother of the bride, acted as usher. The bride wore a becoming gown of blue crepe-de-chine with light fluting bodice, full skirt bunched with ruffles. Her veil was arranged as a cap and caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley. The maids wore attractive gowns in pastel shades of lavender and rose. Their bouquets were of pink and white carnations.

Following the wedding service a dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting were Mrs. Arthur Sibley, Mrs. Fred Theurer, Mrs. John Bartholomew, Mrs. Peter Schmitt and Miss Lydia Fox.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. George Webber and daughter, Mrs. Mary Courser, of Longview, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walker of Portland; Fred Kock and daughter, Miss Eureka Kock of MacMinville, Mr. and Mrs. Burgoyne left for Los Angeles and other southern California cities for a fortnight wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home temporarily in Salem. The bride for her going away costume wore a black crepe-ensemble with a close-fitting hat to harmonize.

Mr. and Mrs. Bromfield of Kamliche, Wash., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Fox.

The Bromfields are on their way home from California. They will remain with the Foxes a few days before returning to Kamliche.

Section 4 of Chapter 419, Laws of 1927, defining motor club service and providing for licensing companies engaged in giving such service for a consideration, is unconstitutional and void, but the remainder of the act is in full force and effect, according to an opinion written by Justice Rand and handed down by the state supreme court here Saturday.

The opinion was written in the case of the United States Automobile Service club, appellant, vs. I. H. VanWinkle, attorney general, State of Oregon, and Attorney General of Multnomah county.

The section of the act which was held unconstitutional by the court requires that a new company must deposit $25,000 with the state treasurer or a bond in this amount before it can be licensed to transact business in Oregon. For companies with a membership of 5000 which have been in active continuous operation in the state for a period of five years, the deposit is not required.

Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company vs. Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, appellant, appeal from Marion county; suit to recover gasoline tax refund. Opinion by Justice McBride, Judge L. H. McMahan affirmed.

BLUE SKY LAW EYED CLOSELY

Corporation Commissioner Will Propose Amendments This Week

Tightening of the Blue Sky law is proposed through a number of amendments prepared by Mark C. McCallister, state corporation commissioner. The amendments have been presented to house members and probably will be dumped into the legislative hopper later in the week.

The corporation commissioner said approval of the amendments would prevent many security swindlers with resultant losses to the investing public.

One proposed amendment broadens and clarifies the definitions of the terms issuer, dealer, broker, agent, security, sale, or sell and person. For the convenience of the courts in construing the act and the corporation department in administering it, the terms "dealer" and "broker" have been separately defined. This was done at the suggestion of the circuit judges.

Loophole Plugged
"By broadening the definition of the term 'security,'" read a statement issued by the state corporation commissioner, "the corporation department will be enabled to frustrate many evasions of the Blue Sky law whereby the public has been swindled out of many thousands of dollars."

"The act specifically includes, under the definition of security, such instruments as certificates of interest in profit sharing agreements, interest in contracts or options relating to highly speculative ventures, collateral trust certificates, preorganization certificates and investment contracts."

"The important and fast growing business of legitimate investment banking has been greatly facilitated by vesting the corporation commissioner with authority on proper application to grant permits for the immediate sale in the state of large national issues of sound securities already purchased and underwritten by syndicates whose agents have given more investigation of the probable success of the enterprise than can be undertaken by the state corporation department."

Purchasers Protected
"Provision has been made to permit investment bankers to file a surety bond to protect security purchasers who have been issued interim certificates or other memoranda of sale. This will save the investing public losses such as occurred in the Overbeck and Cooke and other recent failures. The corporation commissioner may in his discretion require bond of all issuers of interim certificates."

"The increase of fees was made necessary by the constantly growing expense of administering the corporation department in the public interest."

SEEKS MORE MONEY FOR SCHOOL HEAD

House bill 443 introduced Tuesday by Representative McCready of Lane county, caused some surprise in the house, not because it called for an increase in salary for the state superintendent of public instruction, from $4000 to $5000, but because it was not known by many of those present that the salary was but $4000 at present.

The state superintendent, although he is regarded as the head of all schools, actually receives less than many city school superintendents. It is pointed out by backers of the bill. Some of these executives receive as high as $4,500 to $5000.

In addition to his duties as head of public instruction, the superintendent must also serve as a member of the board of regents of the University of Oregon and Oregon State college, is chairman of the board of standardization, and has numerous other ex-officio duties.

Work done by the holder of the office amply justifies a salary of $5000 as proposed, and so far in opposition has developed toward the measure.

Ballad Mystifies House; Robison is Claiming Honors

When Representative Charles W. (Beauty) Robison on Monday delivered as a crashing climax to his speech on H. B. 200, an elegant and eloquent bit of verse, speculation was rife among the legislators as to just where he found the masterpiece. Some thought it was pirated from Kipling, others said Byron, one or two thought it was Robert W. Service, while other members, dumbfounded at its lifting beauty, thought it must have been divinely inspired.

All speculation were set at rest Tuesday, when after much urging Mr. Robison admitted that he was the author or composer, and that he had actually written the piece while the debate on his famous forestry bill was raging.

Some members, however, still question whether or not Mr. Robison actually wrote it, one of them claiming that he had heard this poem, wrought into a soothing lullaby, crooned over the Clatsop county legislator when said Clatsop county legislator was a babe in arms.

The poem, unabridged and unaltered, just as Mr. Robison delivered it with such telling effect Monday, follows:

He ain't a blue-eyed baby
That the school books talk about,
And he ain't no little angel
And there's things wrong with his mouth—
But by gosh, it is my baby
And a living, breathing thing,
And he may grow up—who knows
To be equal to a king—

brokers. This authority, had it been in the old law, would have prevented practices which have recently resulted in the loss of great amounts of money through the failure of brokerage concerns.

"A graduated scale of fees for permits to sell securities, based on the amount thereof, is also provided in the amended law. The registration fee for a stock salesman has been increased from $2 to $5, while a renewal fee of $5 is provided for stockbrokers permits. These increases will add materially to the revenue of the corporation department without unjustly increasing the costs of qualifying security issues for sale to the public."

"The increase of fees was made necessary by the constantly growing expense of administering the corporation department in the public interest."

Sort Potatoes Solon Request

Clackamas Representative Bill to Regulate All Sales of Tubers

Big potatoes and little potatoes, good ones and bad, will henceforth be sorted out and when a sackful is purchased the consumer will know just what he is getting, provided H. B. 438, introduced Tuesday by Representative Childgren of Clackamas county is made into law.

The bill provides "for the adoption of standards and grades for potatoes, describes the requirements of containers and the labeling thereof, provides for the inspection of potatoes in certain instances, provides for the collection of fees, and places the administration of the act with the state market agent."

Potatoes coming in from outside, whether from the famous state of Idaho or elsewhere, would under this act bear on the container the name of the locality in which they were grown, the grade-name of grower, and if for seed, the variety of spud within. Certification of seed potatoes would be placed under the board of the Oregon Agricultural college.

Standards to be observed under this act are those approved by the United States bureau of agriculture, and by the state board. Backers of the bill feel that Oregon can grow as good potatoes as any other state, not even Idaho excepted, but that rigid standardization of quality should be insisted upon in order to gain marketing advantages. This measure is expected to prove a progressive step in such a program.

TURNER, Feb. 5.—(Special)—Ben Robertson is assistant door-keeper of the Oregon house of representatives this session, a position which he has held for a number of sessions.
