

Bearcats Face Old Time Foe, Pacific, Here Tonight

BADGERS MAY CAUSE UPSET

Coach Frank Has Way of Springing Surprises, Local Fans Recall

Ancient rivals will battle again on the basketball court at Willamette university tonight when the Willamette team meets the Pacific Badgers in a Northwest conference game at 8 o'clock.

Inasmuch as the Bearcats defeated Pacific at Forest Grove recently, they are favorites to win again, especially if they travel as fast and to as much purpose as they did last Friday night to beat Whitman by a lopsided score.

Local fans recall, however, that Pacific teams are always at their best against Willamette, and it was a little feared-Pacific team which unexpectedly spoiled Willamette's football title hopes last fall.

They also recall that two years ago Willamette won a game with reasonable ease at Forest Grove, but that when Pacific came to Salem to play a new semester had opened and Coach Leo Frank had gathered in several dark horse squads and made it an exceedingly tough evening for the Bearcats.

The same situation holds this time with respect to the new semester and Pacific may be loaded to spring another surprise.

Drezen, center, has been Pacific's star performer so far this season. He scored 13 points against Willamette in the first meeting of these two teams, and has been high point man in several other encounters. Miller and Mills have been playing regularly at forward, Pollock and Walker the guards.

On Friday night the Bearcats will play Linfield College here, after which the only conference games will be two with College of Puget Sound at Tacoma. Although either Pacific or Linfield may trip up the Bearcats in their march toward a Northwest conference title, it is the games with Cascadia and Loggers that worry Coach Keene most.

Al French, basketball official who has handled the whistle in several of Willamette's games and has also officiated at some of the Loggers' games, reports that the Puget Sound quintet is stronger than its defeat at the hands of Pacific indicate, and will give the Bearcats plenty of trouble if they are not "on" as they were in the second game with Whitman.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Columbia university basketball team easily defeated Albany college, 28 to 9 here tonight. Columbia started slowly with the collegians taking an 8 to 7 lead at halftime. In the next half the Irish started hitting the basket and collected field goals while holding Albany to but one foul conversion.

A Trio of Philadelphia "A's" who Star at Any Position on Diamond

Among other things, Connie Mack is well supplied with versatile athletes to help him realize his pennant dreams next year. If it were possible for one man to play several positions, at one time, Philadelphia could give a good account of themselves in a game with only three players. The lineup would consist of Orwoll, left field, center field and pitcher; Foxx, catch, first base and right field, and Dykes, second, third and short.

Jimmy Dykes is the king of all handy men around the diamond. He is capable of playing any position in the infield in a manner that would give credit to any regular. Jimmy participated in 31 games at second last year for a fielding average of .982. Playing at third he averaged .981 for 20 games. At short he averaged .949 in 21 games.

Jimmy Foxx was bought by the Athletics as a catcher, but since has played a capable game also at third and first. At Providence, where he was stationed before coming to the Macks, he caught, played at third and in the outfield. In addition to such versatility on the field, Jimmy hit for an average of .326.

Ossie Orwoll, the third of the trio, first dreamed of fame on the diamond as a pitcher, and probably would have found it but for his ability to knock out base hits. With Milwaukee, Orwoll worked in the outfield on the days he did not pitch, and also displayed ability to play first base. Where he will be used next spring not even Connie Mack knows at the present. But Orwoll is sure that he would like to throw his toe plate away and devote all of his time either at first or in the outfield.

Linfield This Week

On Friday night the Bearcats will play Linfield College here, after which the only conference games will be two with College of Puget Sound at Tacoma. Although either Pacific or Linfield may trip up the Bearcats in their march toward a Northwest conference title, it is the games with Cascadia and Loggers that worry Coach Keene most.

FANS EAGERLY AWAIT BOUTS

Unprecedented Amount of Gossip Centers on Wednesday Night Card

All signs point to the biggest "house" in years at the armory Wednesday night, for the Ted Fox-Young Langford fight, and if the signs are corroborated by the turnout of fans, some still speedier scraps are assured for succeeding weeks. Matchmaker Harry Plant intimates.

It's certain that the fans are talking about this Wednesday night affair even more generally than they have discussed any of the preceding fights this year, all because the local favorite is popularly reputed to have bitten off more than he can possibly masticate at this stage of his career.

The addition of a semi-final event featuring Spud Murphy and Jack Peterson added more fuel for the stove league chatter, and the fans are eagerly awaiting the matchmaker's announcement of plenty of boys in sight to fill out an unprecedented show, and he'll trot them out, even though the two principal fights would bring out a crowd without any appetizers whatsoever.

TRUCKEE, CAL. FEB. 11.—(AP)—Fred Prince of Oregon outclassed the field in the Sierra derby once more today when he came over the finish of the 35 mile course 55 seconds ahead of Roy Stover of McCall, Idaho, whose team won second place.

Baseball's Big Guns Warm Up As Hard Training Begins

By ALAN J. GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Baseball's big parade is all ready to take up the march to the south as well as to a few outposts in the far west.

By the end of this week, most of the 16 major league squads, or at least their advance guards, will be on the way to the training camps scattered from St. Augustine to Catalina island. By the end of this month or not later than the first week of March the battle between regulars and rookies will be on in full blast.

Smaller squads, with a marked increase in college talent ambitions for big league action, feature most of the big league positions. Shakeups in the organizations of personnel of a number of clubs, notably the Detroit Tigers, Washington Senators, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs, will cause unusual attention to be directed toward the workouts of these outfits.

All along the line, in the American league, they are strengthening to give battle to the world champion Yankees, whose advance guard does not leave for the St. Petersburg camp for another ten days. In the National league there is every prospect of another hot fight for the pennant.

Most of the clubs are traveling light. The spring squads appear reduced to a point where only the likeliest rookies are having their expenses paid for tryouts.

The Athletics and Cardinals, according to their rosters, will each have less than 30 players in camp so that Baher will not have any trouble getting down to the limit of 25 by June 15.

The pathfinders for the Giants will start the jaunt to San Antonio tomorrow, led by Secretary Jim Tierney. The players departing will include Warren Ogeun and Floyd Johnson, pitchers, and Jack Cummings, catcher. At St. Louis the party will be joined by Joe Genewich, Larry Benton and Bill Walker, pitchers, as well as Ray Schalk, assistant manager and catcher, and Joe Witry, another back-stop.

The first workout for battery-men at San Antonio is slated for February 15 and the roll call for the regulars is scheduled for March 1.

According to Tierney, only three players remained to be signed for 1929—Garland Buckeye, Giant southpaw; Jimmy Welsh and Fred Leach, outfielders.

Wiley Moore, minus his tonsils, is ready for a big comeback on the mound for the Yankees this year. Just what effect the throat operation will have upon his effectiveness remains to be seen but the Oklahoma right-hander today notified Secretary Ed Barrow he had been performed and that he was on the way to Hot Springs, Ark. for workouts preliminary to joining the champions in Florida February 25, the date on which the Yankee assembly will be sounded.

SHOWER HALTS FIGHT WORKOUT

Sudden Downpour Brings Sharkey's Training Schedule to Quick Stop

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 11.—(AP)—A tropical shower which broke into Jack Sharkey's training schedule this afternoon, forced him to postpone his scheduled workout and the Boston sailor had to content himself with a session of road work under a hot sun this morning.

Meanwhile, "Young" Stribling, who meets Sharkey in Flamingo Park arena the night of February 27, was idle, except for three miles of road work.

He plans to go into the Everglades tomorrow to do some fishing, returning to throw himself into intensive training.

To prevent his future sessions with his sparring partners from being interrupted by showers, carpenters put a roof in Sharkey's training quarters late today.
