MAIL CARRIERS TO GET REFUND

Senate Passes Bill Authorizing Return of Gas Tax Paid

The bill authorizing refund of gasoline taxes paid by rural mail carriers, introduced by Senator Ppton and reported out favorably by the senate roads and highways committee, was passed by the senate Tuesday with nine dissenting votes.

Senator Upton explained that the bill affects only those rural free mail carriers who are in regular employ of the federal government, and does not permit refunds to operators of star routes and to persons who have contracts with the government for carrying mail. He said these carriers receive nominal compensation and are compelled to pay the gasoline tax out of their salaries.

"These rural mail carriers are denied the privilege of maintaining a lobby," said Senator Upton, "and must depend on the generosity of the legislature for any legislation they may desire."

Precedent Feared—Senator Carner said the passage of the bill would establish a dangerous precedent, and might open the doors to other tax refunds.

Senator Dunne called attention of the senators to a letter he recently received from Portland in which the truck drivers indicated that they would seek similar refunds of the gasoline tax. He said a good-fellow meeting is planned with all formality banned from the program.

"Attainment of more than 79 birthdays is the only requirement for an invitation," commented Mr. Rigdon. "I want to get the old fellows together for a visit of old times. A few talks by some of the fellows but no speeches and much visiting will be the only events on the program."

Danger is Scouted—Senator Strayer made it plain that he did not fear any passing this bill.

"A slight change in the federal law," said Senator Strayer, "would place these mail carriers in the same class as government officials and exempt them from the payment of the gasoline tax."

The senate also passed a bill authorizing the Multnomah county commissioners to take over the fairgrounds at Gresham.

Senator Strayer explained that the plant was mortgaged, and that it was up to Multnomah county to take over the grounds in order to avoid financial loss. He said the obligations aggregated approximately $40,000. The plant is now owned by the Multnomah county fair association and recently was appraised at $150,000.

Senator Joe Dunne said the county would be able to pay off the obligations and obtain a valuable piece of property.

Bill is Postponed—A bill by the Multnomah county delegation providing for two additional circuit judges in the fourth judicial district was laid on the table pending consideration of a measure relating to circuit court fees in Multnomah county. Senator Joe Bailey explained that these were companion bills and should be considered at the same time.

The senate passed a bill introduced by the committee on livestock relating to the inspection of cattle and horses to be shipped or driven out of the state. This bill was said to have received the endorsement of virtually all of the cattle and horse raisers' associations.

The senate was in session less than an hour this morning. Most of the afternoon was given over to a joint session with the house in connection with the observance of Lincoln's birthday. A dozen or more senate committee meetings followed the afternoon recess.

DEBATES TO BE MANY THIS YEAR

Four Schools Now Booked by Willamette Manager; Contest Monday

Willamette university debaters will have a heavy schedule of debates this spring, according to Jack Routh, debate manager. Contracts have been signed for contests with the state universities of Arizona and Wyoming, University of Southern California and the Oregon Normal school. Several other colleges have requested debates and have sent contracts to be signed, but definite action on them has been temporarily delayed.

The first debate of the season will be held next Monday night with the Oregon Normal school. The questions will be: Resolved, that the plea of temporary insanity, as a defense of crime, should be prohibited by law. Jack Routh and Roy Harland will take the affirmative side of the question, and Charles Campbell and Warren McMillin will uphold the negative side. The debate will be a dual affair, and the negative teams of both schools will debate away from home. This is the only one of the debates scheduled for February.

Of the four debaters, Roy Harland is the only one who has had previous experience in college debate. He represented Willamette university in several contests last year. Professor Leland Chaplin, who is coaching the team, declared that the men were working well on their question, but that the lack of experience would be a real handicap.

REFORESTING PLAN IS FROWNED UPON

The reforestation bill which passed the house recently, probably will not receive favorable consideration in the senate unless certain amendments suggested at a meeting of the forestry committee here Tuesday night are accepted.

The bill as passed in the house provides for the reforestation and reforestation of lands best suited for the growth of forest crops and for an annual forest fee and yield, in lieu of ad valorem tax. Provision also is made for classification of such lands under the direction of the state forestry department.

At Tuesday's meeting of the committee it virtually was agreed that the county courts should have something to say regarding lands that should be classified as reforestation lands. Senator Eddy said he was certain that the citizens of Douglas county which has a heavy timbered section would not sanction the bill as passed by the house.

A suggested amendment submitted to the committee provided that no land shall be classified as reforestation land which was valued and assessed for its forest growth on the 1928 tax rolls without approval of the county courts concerned, or until after the timber so valued and assessed has been cut and removed.
