

Ted Fox Wins Decision Over Langford in Lively Battle

Local Boy's Reach Vital Factor in Victory Over Experienced Portlander

IF, to make things fairer all around, the powers that be in the boxing game saved all fighters' arms off to a uniform length, Young Sam Langford would have had a good chance to beat Teddy Fox at the armory Wednesday night.

But with Fox's unusual reach added to his other fighting qualities, which include speed, gameness and aggressiveness, he's going to be mighty hard for any fighter to stop from now on—if he stays in condition.

Any doubts that Salem fans may have still entertained as to Teddy's ability to carry Salem's little banner, were dispelled when he earned a decisive draw over the tough little negro Wednesday night.

Langford knows more about fighting than Fox has yet learned, and he may be faster, although anybody who says so will meet with a storm of protest from local fans; but to get within range, Langford had to put himself at a disadvantage, and in the middle of the fight, the most of this and the rest of the fight, the ducky Portlander had in the middle.

The fight was lightning fast from the start, and a fitting climax to the best card offered here in a long time, attended by a record crowd.

The first round was even, Fox had a little the best of the second, the third and fourth were even and then Fox took two more. Langford hit a fast pace to the seventh, smothering Fox with his gloves. The last three rounds were fast and furious, with Fox in each case offering the greater amount of punishment.

Spud Murphy and Jack Peterson, both terrific fighters ordinarily, clubbed each other's stocky bodies with short jolts from sledge hammer arms but their styles of fighting were too similar to make the crowd as interesting as the fans had hoped it would be. Referee Loutitt called it a draw although the fans thought Peterson should have had a decision on the basis of the punishment he handed the Hubbard battler in the last two rounds.

Little fellows, Dray St. Flock, Mill City and Jackie Waterberger of Independence also fought a draw, but Waterberger's partisans were significantly joyous in their acceptance of the verdict. Flock was considerably more aggressive.

More gloves flew per second in the Young Ambrose-Andy Woods bout than had ever been in a Salem fight. Ambrose was noticeably stronger and won a decision, although Woods gained an ovation for his gameness against odds.

Johnny Evans won a close decision over Jack Maynard in the first preliminary, largely on aggressiveness. All the boys were ready for "Johnny" and "Blondy," both scrappers being named John and their hair being almost exactly the same shade.

Alas! Smelt Not To Be Protected

A desperate attempt to save the lowly smelt from extinction Wednesday by Representative Robison of Clatsop, in H. B. 329, but in spite of all the touching oratory of the gentleman from the coast county, the measure lost.

The measure would prohibit taking smelt except by bait and net, and the sponsor declared it was aimed at unfair commercial methods and at persons who now wantonly catch smelt and waste them.

He Wasn't Good Enough for the Ryder Cup Team

WILL BILL MELHORN, who with a record card of 277 for that season, good enough to be picked for the Ryder cup team that sails for England in April, continues to dazzle the golf world with his sensational play in the winter tournaments. Bill recently added his third successive major tournament victory by winning the south central open at Hot Springs, Ark. He had previously captured the Texas open with in these classics, he will still lead the winter campaigns. His record already surpasses that of MacDonald Smith, who headed the list of winter golfers last year.

Bill is powerfully built, with broad shoulders, and is capable of outdriving most players. When his long tee shots are going right, he is a hard man to beat, for his short game and putting are always dependable.

BUSINESS MEN WILL HEAR TWO EXPERTS

Business men of Salem, at a dinner to be held at the Elk's club at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday evening, will hear Frank Jenkins, publisher of the Eugene Morning Register, in a discussion of the important subject, "Making Advertising Pay," and Earl Bunting, marketing counselor of Portland, speak of the subject of "Marketing."

This is in connection with the statewide business service being sponsored by the Oregon State Editorial association, in co-operation with the extension division of the University of Oregon.

The Salem advertising club is sponsoring the meeting in Salem. Round-table discussions of this type have been held in other cities of the state, and have proved unqualifiedly successful.

Contract Signed By Silverton Lad With Frisco Club

MARSHFIELD, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Gilbert Mosier, 28, formerly of Silverton, and a player in the Willamette Valley baseball league, has signed for tryouts with the San Francisco Seals. He will leave here Friday. Mosier pitched for Marshfield in the Coos County league last year.

Jenkins Held Authority Mr. Jenkins' talks at these meetings have been well received, and he is regarded as a leading authority in Oregon on the subject of advertising problems. Mr. Jenkins is a successful publisher, has made a close study of all phases of advertising. Mr. Jenkins is head of the firm which recently purchased the Roseburg News-Review. Mr. Bunting has directed pite

42 Students Now Are Enrolled in Kimball School

Classes at the Kimball School of Theology will resume their regular schedule this morning after a two-day interruption. Members of the faculty and student pastors have been attending the pastors' conference held at Albany the first part of the week.

Two new registrations Wednesday brought the total for this semester to 42. This figure includes all full-time Kimball students and all part-time registrations of students taking regular work in Willamette university.

FIGHT OFFICIAL PICKED FRIDAY

Third Man in Ring With Sharkey and Stribling is Vexing Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The question of the third man in the ring when Jack Sharkey, the Boston job, and Young Stribling, pride of Georgia, mix it here Feb. 27, probably will be decided Friday.

This was the gist of an announcement today after a conference between Jack Dempsey, the promoter representing the Madison Square Garden corporation, "Pa" Stribling, who manages his son, Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, and members of Miami Beach American Legion's athletic committee, sponsors of the bout.

Names of the possible referees acceptable to both fighters will be discussed at the Friday conference which Dempsey will not attend, and if one is not agreed upon, the promoter will then name the man to referee the bout.

While the conference regarding a referee was in session, civic officials and the chamber of commerce representatives of the great Miami area were in executive session planning to care for the 25,000 or more visitors expected to attend the fight.

Many are expected to remain aboard pullmans but plans are being made to list every available room for the hundreds who will want such accommodation. Managers of apartment buildings, rooming houses and owners of private homes are being canvassed to arrange for the influx.

Sharkey stepped up his road work today to four and one-half miles around the Miami Kennel club's track instead of three miles taken heretofore and went through other routine workouts.

Stribling cut his road work down but added to his other routine in preparation for the biggest fight of his career. The Georgian said he believed too much road work would cut his weight too sharply.

STOCK MARKET IN UNCERTAIN STATUS

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The stock market was passing about in confusing fashion by frequent shifts of speculative sentiment today.

The market displayed considerable buoyancy at times, but heavy selling in the last few minutes trading left prices highly irregular.

Trade and business news was favorable. Iron age said production is sustained, following January records in both pig iron and steel output, and prices of rolled steel are gaining in strength.

American and foreign power and American railway express mounted about 11 and 8 points to new tops, and retained most of their gains. Johns Manville moved up 8 points and reached 11, radio mounted 8 points and fell back 10, Wright aero jumped 11 point and closed practically unchanged.

U. S. steel sold up to 180, and closed at 175-3/4, off about 3 points. Motors were mostly heavy Chrysler losing nearly 3 points. American tobacco B. Canadian Pacific, General Electric, Goodyear and Pere Marquette were among issues losing 3 to 5 points.

Ted Thye is Better Than Kotsonaros

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Ted Thye, Portland light heavyweight wrestler, defeated George Kotsonaros, Los Angeles matman, two out of three falls tonight in one of the fastest matches ever seen here.

Thye took the first fall in one minute, 30 seconds with a wristlock. The second went to Kotsonaros in 13 minutes, 30 seconds with a series of headlocks. Thye clinched the match by taking the third fall in four minutes, 30 seconds with a crossbody hold.

Thye weighed 179; Kotsonaros, 186.

McMINNVILLE TEAM NOT TO PLAY SALEM

McMinnville high school Wednesday refused the proposition of the Salem high school to send its first basketball team there for a game at any date the Yamhill county school named, it was learned here following a visit of Barney Cameron, student body president, and Joe King, athletic manager, to that school.

Cameron and King visited the McMinnville school in an attempt to bring about amiable relations between the two bodies following the ill feeling directed at the local high school for sending its second team to play McMinnville last week end. Refusal of the proposition presented by Salem was made by the McMinnville principal on the ground that such a game would create ill feeling between the schools. The Salem students had planned to appear before the McMinnville students to explain the situation and suggest the additional game but their request to do so was refused.

Ousting of Voter From Lobby Aim Of Resolutions

Senators Joe Dunne and Hall have introduced a resolution directing the secretary of state to cancel space allotted the Oregon Voter and its publisher in the state capital building.

The resolution was said to have been inspired by a recent investigation by the federal trade commission, which showed that certain individuals and publications had been paid large amounts of money for propaganda.

C. C. Chapman, publisher of the Voter, has an information service which he sends daily throughout the state. In a statement Wednesday he denied having any lobby connections.
