Reports Indicate United States Navy Program Has Healthy Effect

Informal Statements Point to Probability of British Overtures

LONDON, Feb. 14 .- (AP,-A new approach to the problem of naval disarmament, which has disturbed Anglo-American relations more seriously than any other issue in recent years, is believed in authoritative quarters here to be imminent. It is understood that the British government is considering some means of eliminating the stumbling block of naval parity which caused the cellapse of the Geneva conference and which appears insurmountable as long as relative strength
