California Not To Confer Upon Auto Tax Bills

Because of lack of time it will not be possible for the state of California to appoint a legislative committee to confer with committees from the states of Oregon and Washington with relation to laws on traffic and gasoline taxes. This was set out in a telegram received here Tuesday by President Norblad of the senate. The telegram was signed by H. L. Carnahan, president of the senate of California. President Carnahan said the California vehicle act virtually is the same as the Hoover uniform vehicle code which has been adopted in a large number of states. The telegram indicated that the state of California is desirous of cooperating with the states of Oregon and California, in connection with motor vehicle and gasoline tax laws.

Student Pledges Sought To Help Endowment Drive

The matter of student contributions to the Willamette university endowment campaign was presented to the student body Tuesday by G. L. Losh of the endowment committee. Although every student will be solicited, pressure will be brought to bear on no one. Contracts with the students are payable at any time until two years following graduation. The student drive is being carried on through class organizations, and will be complete Thursday noon.

Registration of Voters Who Are Ill is Proposed

A bill by the senate revision of laws committee would permit the registration of voters who are ill and unable to appear in person. The bill applies only to voters living outside of county seats. The registration would be made by a registrar appointed by the county clerk. A fee of 25 cents would be charged, together with mileage at the rate of 10 cents per mile.

Hearing Slated On Bailey's Bill

A hearing will be held Friday night in connection with Senator Joe Bailey's bill providing for abolition of the public service commission and creation of a department of public works. The proposed new department would be conducted under the direction of a commissioner and two supervisors.

VOTER PROBE IS DEMANDED

President of Senate Has No Authority in Matter, He Declares

No authority is vested in the president of the state senate to order an investigation of the Oregon Voter, as demanded in a communication from Senators Joe Dunne and Hall; President Norblad said Tuesday. He suggested that the authors of the communication introduce a resolution calling for an interim probe. The letter requested that the committee appointed to conduct the investigation be given authority to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and employ such clerical assistance as is necessary. It was requested that Mr. Chapman be compelled to furnish the committee a complete list of persons and corporations subscribing to his legislative service and the amounts to be paid by them.

The letter indicated that Senators Hall and Dunne have received a copy of the testimony offered at the federal trade commission investigation held in Washington, and that such information would be released to the committee, having charge of the local probe. Resolution Opposed. The letter was received by President Norblad after the senate resolutions committee had voted to report out unfavorably a resolution introduced by Senator Dunne instructing the secretary of state to cancel the space in the capitol lobby now occupied by Mr. Chapman and his legislative service. The resolution was based on the report of the federal trade commission which the Oregon Voter was not mentioned as one of the publications receiving funds from the power interests. The resolution was withheld by the resolutions committee and probably will not be reported out until later in the week. Senator Dunne and Hall might appear before the committee. Mr. Chapman late Tuesday sent a letter to President Norblad in which he said he would welcome an investigation. "I hope and trust," said Mr. Chapman, "our ledgers and books of every description are open and nothing would please me more than to have this investigation completed so that misunderstandings can be dispelled and false reports refuted."

NATIONAL PARK IN WALLOWA FAVORED

Senator Kiddle's joint memorial urging congress to set aside and reserve as a national park approximately 100,000 acres of land in Wallowa county, was adopted Tuesday by the senate. Senator Kiddle explained that the purpose of the memorial was to preserve the wild life of the mountainous district of Wallowa county, and to provide a recreation area for the state and for the summer and winter recreational features.

Another memorial urging congress to extend aid in investigating an undiagnosed cattle and sheep malady in Sherman county also was adopted by the senate. The memorial was introduced by Representatives Yates and other members of the Eastern Oregon delegation in the house. It was said that the malady has resulted in the death of many head of livestock. The disease now prevails in four eastern Oregon counties. The senate also adopted Senator Bell's memorial urging congress to pass a bill now pending in the United States senate authorizing the purchase from William G. Steel of Eugene, of what is known as the "Place Name Book." The volume name work is a card index containing more than 60,000 names and other valuable information.

Proposal Seeks Investigation of Books Situation

Oregon may go into the textbook business, or at least into the wholesale and retail selling of them, if the resolution introduced Tuesday in the house by Representative Weatherspoon is adopted, and if the commission of seven that it provides for finds. The resolution directs the appointment of a commission that will study out the California and Kansas plans, which, it is claimed, have brought about a considerable saving in text books, and if such a system can be applied to Oregon, it is hoped that the same saving can be made here. The resolution states bluntly that the costs of textbooks are exorbitant, and that something should be done about it.

Willamette Glee Quartet to Give Philomath Sing

The quartet of the Willamette university glee club will give a concert Thursday night at Philomath college. Dr. Sanford McDonald, president of Philomath college, invited the glee club to give a concert at the college. A sickness of several members of the organization has made it impossible for the whole club to make the trip at this time, according to Manager Paul Geddes. A trip to Portland and nearby communities, which had been planned has been postponed because of illness of several singers.

La Follette Introduces Bill That Gets Wee Bit Changed; Lawyers Listed

Representative LaFollette is wandering around, still scratching his head and trying to figure out just what happened in the house Tuesday afternoon. He is sure of the following facts:

1. That he introduced H. R. 9, which directed the public service commission to furnish names of all legislators who were employed as attorneys or counselors at law in the employ of the telephone, power or transportation utilities.
2. That what he really wanted to find out was what members rode about on passes issued by transportation companies.
3. That what really happened was that a resolution, numbered 123, was substituted for his original resolution, which not only

13 NEW MEASURES FILED IN SENATE

The following new bills were introduced in the senate Tuesday: S. B. 213, by revision of laws committee—Relating to the registration of voters. S. B. 214, by Bell—Providing for the adoption of party platform. S. B. 215, by Ed Bailey—Relating to warrants and certificates of indebtedness. S. B. 216, by Eddy—Relating to surveys and establishment of boundaries. S. B. 217, by Joe Dunne, by request—Relating to the treatment of disease, prescribing penalty for violation of act, and providing that this act shall not apply to the treatment of disease by prayer or other spiritual means. S. B. 218, by Joe Dunne, by request—Prescribing exemptions from the operation of the medical practice act of 1927. S. B. 219, by Joe Dunne, by request—Defining "unprofessional" and "dishonorable" conduct as used in connection with the reporting and revoking of licenses to practice medicine. S. B. 220, by Marks—Relating to commencement of actions and service of summons. S. B. 221, by Marks—Relating to the manner of serving summons. S. B. 222, by Norblad—Making it unlawful to go upon privately owned land anywhere in the state for the purpose of hunting or angling or shooting, and providing exceptions and penalties. S. B. 223, by Norblad—Making it unlawful for any sportsman, huntsman or angler to go upon privately owned land anywhere in the state for the purpose of hunting or angling or shooting, and providing exceptions and penalties. S. B. 224, by Norblad—To provide for the state fire patrol and making it unlawful for any person to be found in possession of the carcass of a deer without a permit. S. B. 225, by Upton—Relating to assessment of lands located in irrigation and drainage districts.

MT. HOOD TRAM IS ASKED OF CONGRESS

Oregon wants action on its proposed Mt. Hood Tramway, and it wants it soon. So says a memorial to congress introduced in the house Tuesday. The memorial urges congress to consider the request of the Cascade Development company for permission to erect a combination ground and aerial tram way from Cloud Cap Inn to the very summit of Mt. Hood, declaring that if such a tram were to be built, thousands and thousands, instead of just some 1500 could scale this mighty peak and enjoy the educational and inspirational benefits of such a view.

The memorial points out that permission to build such a tram has been granted for Mt. Rainier in Washington, and further, that the project contemplated on Mt. Hood would be by far the greatest ever planned for any mountain in the country.

Filling Vacancy In Legislature Object of Bill

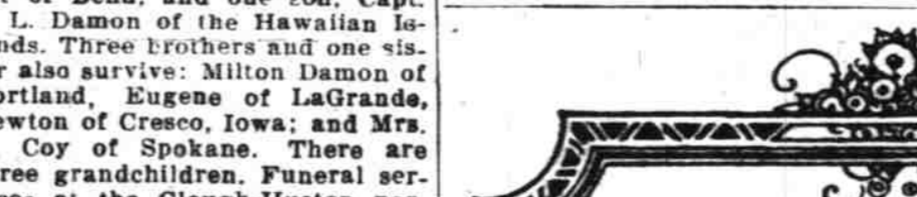

Senator Bennett Tuesday introduced a resolution which if adopted by the voters would authorize the legislature to enact a law providing for the election of senators and representatives in cases of vacancies in office. A resolution previously was introduced by Senator Bennett providing that in case of vacancies senators and representatives would be elected by the district or county central committees. This resolution failed to receive favorable consideration of the committee to which it was referred.

ACCIDENT BOARD LOSES ON APPEAL

In an opinion handed down Tuesday by the state supreme court, Mary M. Baker won her claim against the state industrial accident commission for compensation following the death of her husband, Frank O. Baker. The opinion was written by Justice Beas and affirms Judge George R. Bagley of Washington county. Mr. Baker was injured on April 17, 1926, and later taken to a hospital in Tillamook for treatment. He developed what was diagnosed by physicians as cancer of the stomach. Mr. Baker later died as the result of an operation.

Mrs. Baker filed a claim with the industrial accident commission, but it was refused on the ground that Mr. Baker's death was not the result of the accident. She then appealed to the courts. A dissenting opinion was written by Justice Brown, in which he held that the accident commission should be upheld and the judgment reversed. Other opinions handed down by the supreme court Tuesday follow:

Hoffman, admistrador, cross-appellant vs. A. H. Jess, appellant; appeal from Marion county; suit to quiet title. Decree modified in favor of plaintiff. Opinion by the court. Judge L. H. McMahan modified.

John C. Beck vs. Bruce L. David, appellant; appeal from Lane county; appeal from decree foreclosing mortgage. Opinion by Justice Randall Justice George F. Skelworth affirmed.

Joseph Huber and wife, appellants, vs. Portland Gas and Coke company; appeal from Multnomah county; action for damages. Opinion by Justice Brown. Judge George Tazwell affirmed.

Motion to dismiss denied in Johnson vs. Johnson. Petition for rehearing denied in Fletcher vs. Southern Oregon Truck company.

Harry B. Duncan of Rogue River admitted to bar on certificate from California.

The lower house worked like a well-oiled machine Tuesday, and except for a couple of stops which could hardly be helped, kept busily at the job of rushing through legislation. A grand total of 13 bills were adopted, 11 senate bills were passed, six new bills were introduced, and the usual routine heavier than usual, was pretty well gotten over by the time adjournment came at five o'clock.

Among the bills passed was the one that raised the salary of the state superintendent of public instruction, and a number of other minor measures. The barber bill, H. B. 290, also passed.

NUMBER OF PUPILS HERE SHOWS GAIN

Enrollment in the 12 Salem schools is 75 students behind a year ago but shows a registration gain of 287 over a month ago, according to figures for the month ending February 15 compiled Tuesday at the office of the city superintendent. In actuality, the gain is not as large as the figures show, as slightly more than 100 of the pupils now at the senior high school were registered at the junior highs before the new semester. Every school shows a gain of two or more for the month. Enrollment figures the past two months are:

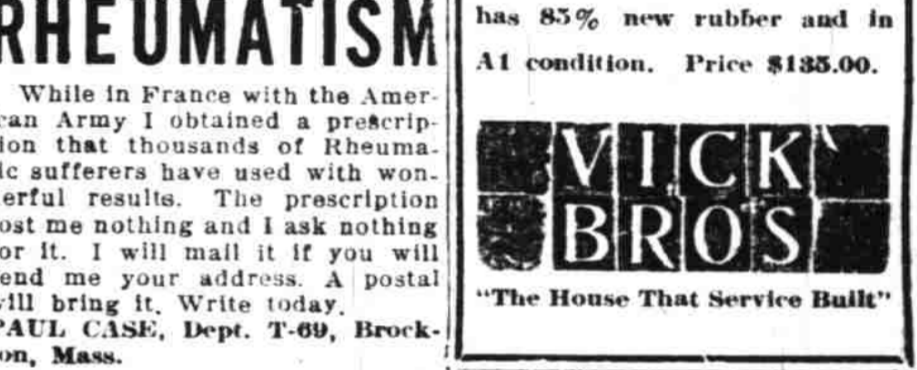

School	Feb.	Jan.
Englewood	336	323
Garfield	353	338
Grant	317	291
Highland	344	321
Lincoln	178	174

SALEM, DALLAS TIE FOR DEBATE HONOR

Either Salem high or Dallas, now tied with 17 points each, will meet Newport high school March 7 to settle the championship of the Middle Willamette district of the state high school debate league, according to returns on the last series of debates received Tuesday by Principal J. C. Nelson. It is probable Salem and Dallas will work off their tie Thursday when the final debates in the series of four which were scheduled for teams of group one will be held. These contests will be dual. The Salem affirmative to meet the Independence negative here and the Salem negative to travel to Independence. Dallas will meet Silvertown. Other standings in group one are: Lebanon, 14 points; Independence, Corvallis, Woodburn, eight; and Silvertown, seven. Newport leads the smaller schools of the district with 17 points, Stayton is second with 16; Brownsville has nine and Mill City six.

In the event that Dallas and Salem should come out with a tie in the debates this week, the tie will be settled February 28.
