

SENATE TURNS DOWN APPEALS

Bill to Allow Commercial Fishermen Longer Season Also Defeated

(Continued from Page 1.) Senator Upton said he had been fighting the fish battles for many years, but that he could not oppose the bill offered by Senator Jones. Law Revision Is Also Approved. The senate also approved a bill offered by the revision of laws committee relating to the registration of voters. Under the provisions of the bill the county clerks are authorized to appoint registrars and register voters outside of their office. Senator Corbett's bill authorizing educational institutions to invest endowments in high grade stocks also received approval. The senate passed Senator Marks' bill increasing the amount of damages that can be collected for a death from $7500 to $10,000. He said this bill had received much consideration by the committee to which it was referred, and that some of its members at first held out for a larger amount.

'OLD MAN DEFICIT' IS GIVEN LAST SHOT

(Continued from Page 1.) come pretty close to accomplishing this. $1,000,000 Possible Under New Proposal. If the emergency arises, however, there would be a one mill property tax, and an estimated valuation of $11,000,000,000 in the state, would yield $1,000,000 a year from this source alone. Thus the governor's plan that some solution to the state's problem be worked out is answered, tax commission members declare. The intangibles tax and the excise tax have gone through the house and Monday Representative Carlin announced the excise tax had passed the senate unanimously. Three other measures were sent in by the property tax relief commission at the same time as H. B. 554. These are designed to aid the present tax payers, and while not money raisers, are expected to be money savers. House bill 551 limits the bonded indebtedness of any city or town to 10 per cent of the assessed valuation where no lesser limitations has been provided for otherwise by law or charter. It exempts from its provisions utility improvements and bonds and any bonds previously voted but not issued and refund bonds. House bill 552 provides that the administration and supervision of all inheritance tax laws and the collection of monies thereunder shall be transferred from the state treasurer to the state tax commission. House bill 553 requires cities and towns to provide sinking funds for the payment of interest and principal of bond issues.

Canine Bills Sent Scampering Across Lobby to Senate

One Pup Is Sent Back

The litter of dog bills, springing from the original H. B. 455, by Russell, came scampering into the house Monday, and when the shouting was over, two of them found themselves happily headed for the senate, while the third, with its still better known name, was driven back to its committee kennel again. License Fee Required. The two that passed provided for a license for all dogs, $3 for females and $2 for males, and for the creating of dog districts to enforce this legislation. The third bill was deemed too drastic by many members, since it granted the privilege of meting out the death sentence to any dog, whether licensed or not "by anyone, when a dog is found unlicensed, or found killing, wounding, or chasing livestock." The law at present would also make it illegal for dogs to chase the owner's own stock. The bill is expected still to be opposed by many who believe that the provision allowing anyone to kill dogs is too drastic, and will lead to "spite" work. All that a man needs to do is to kill a dog, and then claim he was molesting livestock. It is pointed out. Many members feel that the dog should at least be given a fair trial, and then if guilty, killed by persons properly authorized, an members of dog commission which one of the bills creates. The third bill, amended somewhat expected back from the livestock committee today.

LAST OF PIONEER CAVALRYMEN DIES

Willard S. Linville, 79 years old and a native of Oregon, died Sunday at his home at 2123 North Commercial street. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Clough-Huston chapel, the Rev. A. A. Eason of Albany officiating.

Willard Linville was the son of Nancy Bounds and Harrison Linville, who came to Oregon from Missouri in 1846, settling the following year at Parker station, now better known as Bloomington, then a stage station between Salem and Corvallis. The father, Harrison Linville, was the first government Indian agent for Oregon, serving at Malheur in the early '70's. Willard Linville served as clerk during his father's term as agent, and the two men, together with the late Lyman Damon who died here this month, made frequent hazardous trips with pack animals from Portland to Dallas, following an Indian trail. Willard Linville was married to Hannah Nash of Buena Vista and to them four children were born. In 1887 Mr. Linville was appointed to a position on the Sitka Indian agency, where he was

Canal Surveyed In Nicaragua By U. S. Authority

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Within a few minutes after the senate had adopted today the resolution of Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, authorizing a survey of a Nicaraguan canal, President Coolidge forwarded to the senate a supplemental estimate of $150,000 for the survey.

GET READY! TO HEAR—SEE a new form of entertainment heralding a new era in feature screen productions from the world's greatest studios reproduced on the RCA Photophone. The very last word in sound systems.

CONQUEST with Monte Blue, Lots Wilson, Edna Marion, Bruce, H. W. Warner. TALKING NEWS & ACTS

ELSINORE WILL SHOW 'TALKIES'

Photophone Installation to Permit First Showing Here Saturday

Famous motion picture stars will walk and talk, acts and novelties will be described in action and in sound, and the music of popular and symphony orchestras will be reproduced with new life-like effect from motion picture screens, when the Elsinore theatre inaugurates Saturday an entertainment program of the latest sound motion pictures. Equipped with the R. C. A. Photophone system of sound reproduction, the theatre will begin a new era of entertainment in Salem. Through the projection of sound-motion picture films, and pictures with the sound accompaniment, the Elsinore hereafter will present all of the leading motion picture productions from the world's largest studios. Many Sounds Heard. Because of the great sensitivity of the R. C. A. Photophone system, all incidental sounds such as street noise, pistol shots, airplane engine sounds, the crash of thunder, the chirping of a canary, the ringing of a bell, knocking on a door, in fact, any sounds which may accompany a picture, are reproduced in perfect synchronization with the action on the screen. The feature sound picture to be presented Saturday at the premiere of the R. C. A. Photophone installation at the Elsinore theatre will be "Hit of the Show," an all sound musical and talking production with many well known stage stars. Talking and singing acts will also be included in the program.

Laughter, Lots Of It, In Film Now at Oregon

Floodgates of laughter are wide open at the Oregon theatre tonight when Marjorie Beebe is featured in "The Farmer's Daughter." This is a Fox film production based on an original story and notable, more than all else, for its introduction of a girl who is genuinely funny. "The Farmer's Daughter" is a riot of fun and is embellished with many highlights, including a county fair which looks like real life.

Extensive Southern Section Badly Damaged by Terrific Hurricane

(Continued from Page 1.) was estimated at more than $250,000. Shortly after Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Jones had been killed at Cooper, 60 miles northeast of Dallas when their home collapsed, two negroes, Alfred Gibson and his wife, were battered to death as the wind wrecked their house at Grand Prairie, 13 miles west of Dallas. Joe Clark, who was milking a cow in a barn at Cooper, saw the house torn from its foundation, and his daughter, who was running to him, tossed through the door into the barn. The girl was not hurt. Led Tossed From Bed Into Yard But Is Unhurt. Buddie Trigg, 17, who was asleep when the storm struck, escaped injury, although he was thrown from his bed into the yard. In his underclothing he worked for some time before he could extricate his mother from a section of the wall, which had pinned her down. J. C. Trigg, and his family were not injured, although the wind lifted their house from its foundation and deposited it, upright, 20 feet away. Most of the damage was at the Primetex refinery at Grand Prairie, where huge iron storage tanks were crumpled like paper, the wind sprinkling the countryside with oil. The loss was $150,000.

MACDOWELL CLUB PROGRAM UNUSUAL

The MacDowell club sponsored an unusual program Monday night in the residence studio of Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts; and when I say an "unusual" program I am not merely using a stock phrase of a reporter. It was unusual. Margaret Kennedy is unusual. Her personality is pleasingly individual and her voice is the kind that you hear even after it is gone. A deep, vibrant, emotional voice which last night rose to superb splendor in the masterful melody of Tchaikowsky's "Waltz of a Blade." Few people have the mental as well as the emotional qualities to interpret such music as Tchaikowsky represents, Miss Kennedy proved herself to be one of those few. Miss Kennedy's voice was also a delight in its dramatic power which she shaded into the delicacy of a falling snowflake in Cimara's "Snow Flakes." Two numbers in German—"Die Stadt," Trunk, and "Mit einem Gemalten Band," Beethoven—were particularly fitted to the peculiar majestic depth of her voice, and let it be added that her German enunciation was that of an artist. One number of especial interest was "Night in the Woods" written by Maxon Bauer, a Portland girl now in New York, and a sister of the late Emilie Francis Bauer, who was distinguished as a critic in New York and who wrote for the Oregonian. The song itself was lovely and as sung by Miss Kennedy one felt not only the silence of deep wood at night but the presence of deep thought as well. I cannot refrain from mentioning the interpretation which was present in "Cradle Song" by MacFadyen and paraded as one of the best and most beautiful songs of her voice, without a hint from the text of the song, expressed the full gamut of a mother's joy and forebodings. Mrs. Warren Thomas was very lovely at the piano. Her dignity and beautiful white hair lent charm to the satisfying support which she gave in her accompaniment. Much to the joy of the audience Prof. Roberts opened the program with the impressive Largo from "Xerxes," Handel, giving just the

Salem Resident For Many Years Dies in Chicago

News was received by Salem relatives, Monday morning, of the sudden death of Mrs. Gertrude West, for many years a resident of Salem, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Sargent, at Chicago, Ill. Accompanied by a younger daughter, Mrs. A. P. Calvert (Gertrude Francis), of Long Beach, Cal., and her grandson, Mrs. West went to Chicago before the holidays to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Sargent. A few days ago she contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia and death was the result. Until details of the sad and unexpected news are obtained by the relatives here funeral arrangements cannot be made. Mrs. West is survived by several brothers and sisters in Oregon and California, as follows: Mrs. A. J. Kirkpatrick, Urbana, Ill.; John A. R. C. and E. B. Fisher, of Portland; Joseph A. Fisher, of Santa Clara, Calif.; O. L. Fisher and Mrs. L. B. Davis of Salem. Besides her two daughters she is also survived by a number of grandchildren.

Your orchard's yield next fall needs your... protection now

—let modern science help you in combating scale and other orchard pests

It's time to guard your trees against the deadly orchard pests that choke their growth and cut your profits. Read this story of Avon Spray Emulsion, the finer oil spray refined and marketed by Associated Oil Company as an important part of its huge business. You'll find Avon Spray Emulsion a complete clean-up spray. It has the proper viscosity, which means that it has complete covering qualities, body enough to do a thorough job, yet is light enough not to harm the trees. It is a smooth, creamy 85% petroleum oil paste which breaks quickly and mixes readily with water. And it will not blacken your trees. This finer spray not only smothers scale, but kills the eggs of Aphids and Brown Mite. Avon Spray Emulsion, by removing pests and keeping your orchard clean, adds health to your trees. It is a plant stimulant; you'll find it helps to bring out a strong, invigorated bloom and spring growth. These are strong claims, backed by exhaustive tests. Get our valuable folder "Avon Spray Emulsion for Fancy Fruit and More of It." It contains much helpful information, including various ways of using Avon with Bordeaux mixture and the like to secure better spread on trees. Listen in on your local radio station for timely hints on spraying problems.
