Polk and Marion Granges Hold All-Day Session at Monmouth; Shumway Talks

MONMOUTH, Feb. 25.—The Polk-Marion associated granges held an all-day meeting at Monmouth on Wednesday with Seymour Jones, master, presiding. Representatives of six granges were present: Salem, McCleay, Richreal, McCoy and Monmouth.

Following the noon dinner an interesting literary program was given with Mrs. Ellen G. Lambert, Stayton, acting as lecturer. Mrs. L. F. Bailey of Baker gave a resume of her gleanings from the lecturers' conference and school held last week at Oregon State college, Corvallis. L. F. Bailey spoke briefly; and A. G. Peterson presided the assemblage with a splendid extemporaneous talk on the life of George Washington. Readings were given by Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Nippel, Miss Alice Bultr and C. H. Taylor. Mrs. E. A. Blake of Benton county responded to a request for information on the juvenile grange work with a comprehensive survey of the recent progress and future plans of that department of the work.

A. R. Shumway of Milton and L. F. Bailey, Baker, are two of the state grange representatives in the state legislature. This is Mr. Bailey's first term of service, and is Mr. Shumway's 28th year spent in representing the farmers in the legislature. Mr. Shumway spoke at some length and held the close attention of his auditors with his versatile and engaging methods of delivery.

GREENHOUSE WORK ON AT LAKE LABISH

LAKE LABISH, Feb. 25.—(Special)—The busy season has already begun in the greenhouses here. The Tooto (Lake Labish) greenhouses are full of workmen, industriously resetting celery and head lettuce plants, which must be kept from crowding and made to grow vigorously to insure strong well rooted plants by the time the outdoor lake land is warm enough for them. Drain ditches are being cleaned and fence rows are being grubbed and put in order.

A larger acreage than usual will be put into yellow Danvers and brown Australian onions because of the good prices obtained for last season's crop.

"Not much outside work yet," says Roy Fukuda, "but plenty of work in greenhouses, transplanting. Yes, we look for an unusually good year, and many tourists this way."
