Past Matrons Club Enjoys Unusual Meeting

The Past Matrons club held an especially beautiful initiation ceremony in its recent meeting at the home of Mrs. James Godfrey. After a short business meeting the Matrons formed a double line each carrying a large pink carnation with greenery and one by one advanced to greet the new member, Mrs. Guadalupe Niles, who was being received into the club. Many unusual tributes were paid Mrs. Niles by each of the club members as they presented their flowers. One especially lovely thing was the violets which Mrs. W. C. Kantner presented. Mrs. Niles in token of her work as Ada under Mrs. Kantner as worthy matron.

At the close of this ceremony the past matron's song was sung and a special musical number given by Mrs. Marie Flint McCall. Hostesses for this affair were Mrs. Frank Derby, Mrs. Ida Babcock, and Mrs. Josephine LaFore. Refreshments were served at a late hour. One special guest was present, Mrs. Carrie Williams, from Bangor, Michigan, past matron of the Bangor lodge and district worker in the Eastern Star, who is visiting friends in Salem, and came at the request of Mrs. McCall. Members present were Mrs. F. Reeves, Mrs. Ida Godfrey, Mrs. Pearl Pratt, Mrs. Marian Derby, Mrs. Josie LaFore, Mrs. Ida Babcock, Mrs. Josephine Voss, Mrs. Monnie Hauser, Mrs. Cora Gagner, Mrs. Ida Cherrington, Mrs. Lotta Smith, Mrs. Addie M. Pettys, Mrs. M. Meyers, Mrs. Alice Coolidge, Mrs. Ida Niles, Mrs. Marie McCall, Miss Gussie Niles, Miss Chapman, Mrs. Minnie Moeller, Mrs. Emma Murphy Brown, Mrs. W. C. Kantner and Mrs. James Godfrey.

Huff-Will Marriage Event of Sunday

A four o'clock wedding at the Leslie Memorial church made Miss Mary Vera Huff the bride of Clark Moor Will Sunday afternoon with the Rev. F. Darlow officiating before a small group of friends and relatives. Mr. Johnson played the wedding march and continued to play softly during the ceremony. Mrs. Will is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Huff of Tiffin, Ohio, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McShane of Salem, the groom's best man. Mr. Will is the son of Mr. George J. Wolf of Hubbard, Oregon, and is associated with the Bertelson-McShane printing company in Salem. Following the ceremony the guests attended a reception for the bride and groom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McShane, Oxford street.

Invited guests were Mr. George J. Wolf, Mrs. L. M. Scholl, sister of Mrs. Will, L. M. Scholl and daughter, Dorothy of Hubbard, Miss Laura Ruggles, Woodburn, the Rev. and Mrs. F. Darlow Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Bertelson, Mr. and Mrs. Will are to be at home to their friends at 1986 Fir street after March 1.

Movie Fashions

The mature beauty of Louise Dresser, well known on the stage and more recently on the screen, is considered more appealing than that of the "flappers." Her clothes fit that beauty. Pictured she is wearing a stately black ribbon satin dress with panel-like back and front and shirred drops on either hip. With this frock Miss Dresser wears black satin slippers, silver fox fur piece, silver mesh cloth turban, heavy eaten gold bracelet and a string of pearls.

Event of Interest For Art Groups

Those who are interested in photography will be concerned with the notice that Richard N. Speight, F. R. P. S., distinguished London court photographer will offer a showing of famous portraits in the first floor ballroom of the Masonic temple, Portland, Oregon, March 5-6. The display will be open from 9 to 6 o'clock on March 5, and from 9 to 12 o'clock on March 6. It is said of this photographer that he has photographed most of the famous people of Europe and that this collection which he will display in Portland will contain many of the finest of his European efforts.

Town and Gown Club Plan Afternoon

The Town and Gown club will listen to an address Thursday afternoon which promises to be of unusual interest. This will be given by Mrs. E. T. Barnes who will speak on "Blue Prints of Nature." Mrs. Skelton Sackett will sing. Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. F. Powers, Mrs. Harry Swartz and Mrs. E. C. Richards. Wives of legislators are invited as special guests for the afternoon. Mrs. C. A. Smith (Gladys Cartwright) of Prosserville, California, is making an extended visit with her parents, the R. Cartwrights and with her sisters Mrs. Brazier C. Small. A number of affairs are being planned that her Salem visit may be a pleasant one among former friends and acquaintances.

Miss Sara Wrenn Writes For "Japan"

The March issue of the overseas travel magazine, "Japan," carries in a prominent position an article by Miss Sara Wrenn of Salem. The article entitled "Tis Han-Mi the Flower Viewing Festival" describes the quaint and beautiful customs in the worship of the Japanese people at the cherry blossom season. When the cherry trees bloom, all Japan rejoices and crowds make pilgrimages through the blossom-bordered avenues to view and worship the wonders of nature. Indeed, from the description, Han-Mi might well be compared to "Blossom Day" as it is celebrated in the Willamette valley. Photographs of blossoming fruit trees fill the pictorial feature section of this same magazine and supplement Miss Wrenn's article.

Miss Wrenn spent eight years in the orient as a journalist. Less than two years ago she returned to Salem. Since that time she has written numerous articles for "Japan" and magazines of kindred type. Miss Wrenn is an active worker in the writers' section of the Salem Arts League and is at present working on some articles concerning Salem and vicinity which will be of special interest to nature lovers.

Carnation Club Has Hard-Time Lunch

A no-hostess party was the feature of the regular meeting of the Carnation club at the Fraternal Temple recently. A hard-time lunch was served at noon with covers for seventeen. "500" followed luncheon. Mrs. Mary Gustafson won high score and Mrs. Julia Smith second high score for the afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Phalen, Mrs. Mary Gustafson, Mrs. Eva Traver, and Miss Gustafson. Members present were Mrs. Amanda Anderson, Mrs. Earl Chapel, Mrs. Nellie White, Mrs. Sarah Hutton, Mrs. Everett Rutherford, Mrs. Clara Parrish, Mrs. W. C. O'Neil, Mrs. W. D. Albright, Mrs. Ed Kertson, Mrs. Julia Smith, Mrs. N. O. Bales, Mrs. May Lewis, and Mrs. M. Vlesko.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe Entertain at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crowe entertained a group of friends at a birthday party in their home on the North River road Friday evening. The affair was in honor of Edith McElroy, Daisy McIntyre, Luella Engstrom, and the hostess Myrtle Crowe, whose birthdays all occur on the same date. The evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and cards after which the hostess served a lunch. The additional guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nash, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ham, Mr. McElroy, Mr. Engstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Frederick, and Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Crowe. Prizes for high scores were won by Mr. and Mrs. Yarnell.

Mrs. C. Newcomb Has Breakfast Party

Mrs. Crawford Newcomb entertained with a breakfast party at her home on Fairmount Hill Sunday morning. Guests bidden for this attractive occasion were Miss Helen Howard of Portland, and Miss Hermione Smith of Eugene. The Ladies Aid circles of the First Methodist church will conduct a "paper drive" today and Wednesday for the benefit of the church lot fund. Papers will be called for if notification is made by calling 872. Mr. and Mrs. John Bestler have returned to their home in Tacoma, Washington, after an extended visit with their daughter, Mrs. E. T. Barkus.

Peter's Adventures

A BATTLE OVER A KERNEL OF CORN. MISS PARROTT knew from Peter's sorrowful tone something dreadful must have happened. "Yes, yes, go on!" screeched she. "Instead of flying away, my Poll flew into a temper and then what a terrible fight Mrs. Crow and Poll had!" Peter stopped talking and gazed off into space. Miss Parrot grew impatient. "Of course they did, and why not? Would you let another Two Legs boss you around—tell you where you could and could not go? I guess not. You would have told him to mind his own business, and if he hadn't you would have pitched into him just as Polly did. I'll warrant you. But what has this got to do with my question? Why don't you go on and finish your story?" "I'm going to, but thinking about it all makes me feel very badly," replied the boy. "I'm not blaming Polly a bit; in fact, I'm rather proud of her for standing up for her rights, but the poor thing got the worst of it. You see Polly wasn't used to fighting—I do not believe she had ever been in a scrap before in her life, while as for Mother Crow, she had been quite accustomed to taking care of herself all her life. "Of course Mrs. Crow was stronger and fiercer than her enemy, and my poor Poll came home all battered up. "I shall never forget how dreadfully she looked as she came staggering down the garden path. Poll's beautiful feathers were all bedraggled—lots of them were not where they ought to have been; they had been torn out in the struggle; one eye was so swollen that she couldn't see out of it at all, and her wings, of which she had been so proud, were sprained and drooped to her side. "Polly was sobbing and moaning pitifully. I bound up her wings and smoothed out her feathers and gave her water to drink. It was no use, though. Her proud spirit was broken. She had fought and had lost, and she wouldn't even try to get well. "In spite of all I could do, in the morning Polly lay stiff and cold upon the kitchen floor. Poor little Poll! She died of a broken heart."

Chapters AB, G Enjoy Joint Meeting

The members of chapter A B of the P. E. O. sisterhood were entertained Monday evening in the home of Mrs. William E. Kirk on State street at a charming informal evening. The members of chapter G of the P. E. O. and a number of the wives of legislators were honor guests of the evening.

A program was given for the entertainment of the guests. Mrs. Kirk was assisted during the evening by the social committee of chapter A B which included Miss May Rauch, Mrs. Roberta Butler, and Mrs. Molly Styles. The numbers of the program included readings by Esther Diefenbach and Julia Dotson, vocal solos by Ruth Sterner and Mary Lee Scott, accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Skeene, and a piano solo by Helen Bonner. Mrs. Kirk had effected pretty decorative arrangements of pussy willows and acacia about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burghardt, Miss Elizabeth Lord and Miss Edith Schryver motored to Portland Saturday morning to hear Giles Gilbert, native son of Portland, and only recently returned from European success, play the Schuman Concerto. Mr. Gilbert won much praise from the reviewers, and general ovations from his audience for the unusual appreciation with which he interpreted this difficult and not commonly played masterpiece of Schuman.

The Ladies Social Circle of the Knight Memorial church will entertain with a tea between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. B. E. Edwards, Mrs. J. O. Sande, Mrs. S. F. Anderson, Mrs. F. E. Brown, Mrs. J. M. Robertson, Mrs. C. C. Harris, and Mrs. Solon Schinkler.

Mrs. Marie Flint McCall will leave tomorrow for Buell where she will address the Buell grange giving a report of the lecturers school which she attended in Oregon State college February 11-12-13. While in Buell Mrs. McCall will be the guest of Mrs. Ernest Lettiken who is the lecturer for the Buell grange.

The Etoka club will have what promises to be a very interesting meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Barton, 965 N. Church street. Mrs. Alice E. Fisher will speak to the guests concerning the Doernbecher hospital in Portland. A tea will be held in the parlors.

Diet and Health

LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

Liver Spots—Chloasma. I know of nothing new added to the knowledge of liver spots since I last wrote on it, but apparently, from the numerous requests to write on the subject, many of you did not see my article, so I will repeat what I said.

The face is usually the site for the common variety, although spots may be found occasionally on the trunk and other parts. Chloasma spots may be caused by local conditions such as sunburn, blisters, irritation due to pressure, friction or scratching, and after healing of sores. These gradually fade.

Symptomatic chloasma is a type of chloasma including all forms of pigment deposits, which occur during systematic diseases, such as tuberculosis, malaria, anaemia, or diseases of the internal secretory glands, such as adrenals (glands over the kidneys), thyroid (gland in the neck), pituitary (gland in the skull). Chronic constipation and chronic indigestion may sometimes cause this type.

Chloasma uterian is the type that is due to some organic or functional change in the uterus, and is most often seen during pregnancy, but may occur during diseases of this organ. It most often appears on the forehead, and usually disappears after confinement.

Treatment: The treatment has to be directed towards the cause. Stellwagon states that the discoloration sometimes can be removed by local applications, and when it served, the benefits from which will go to the hospital fund.

is impossible to discover any disturbance, then reliance is to be placed on the local treatments. These consist of the application of remedies that will peel the skin. Lemon juice and peroxide of hydrogen can be home tried, but anything stronger should be used only under the direction of a skin specialist.

Dentocitized Tobacco. Mrs. R. wants to know if smoking is harmful if she smokes dentocitized tobacco. She is well, but slightly underweight. Smokes 20 cigarettes a day.

Some recent analyses of dentocitized tobacco, as reported in a recent number of the American Medical Association Journal, show that there is hardly any lessening of the dentocitized tobaccos show more nicotine than certain brands which haven't been dentocitized! Besides, there are other factors in smoking that are harmful, besides the nicotine. Mrs. R. Tobacco smoke also contains the following poisons: Ammonia, carbon monoxide, carbolic acid, prussic acid, marsh gas, etc.; acrolein, a highly irritating poison, is produced by the burning of cigarette paper.

If you feel well in every way, your slight underweight may be normal for you. You can easily gain the few pounds you need, however, by cutting out the cigarettes (and taking a dessert instead!)

If you are interested, we have an article on Tobacco Habit and Cure.

NO PATIENCE WITH CHILDREN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Steadies Her Nerves

Dalton, Pa.—"I was weak, nervous and run-down before my last baby was born. My other children tired me. I had no patience with them and they just wore me out. My mother told me about someone who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped her. I took it myself and got fine results. I am getting along fine now, thanks to your Vegetable Compound. My husband and I both feel sure that it helped me."—MRS. RAYMOND STACE, R. F. D. 2, Dalton, Pa.
