The boys met at the McKay garage at 9 o'clock and proceeded from there to the house in West Salem where two Sundays have already been spent in work.

POWERS OUT OF FURNITURE FIRM

Giese Announces Dissolution of Partnership; Connections Go On

Announcement was made Saturday of the dissolution of the firm of Giese-Powers, C. F. Giese of Salem acquiring complete ownership of the furniture store here.

Mr. Giese, in making the statement, also made public notice of a large dissolution sale which begins this week. He said Saturday:

Change Friendly One—
"While the friendly dissolution of the Giese-Powers Furniture company partnership is a matter of deep regret to all members of the dissolving organization, our new firm will retain highly-valued connections with the Portland manufacturing and wholesale departments of the Ira F. Powers Furniture company, and also its membership in the nationally-organized Commercial associates, of which Mr. Powers is the active head."

"The western division of the Commercial Associates is the largest buyer of house furnishings on the Pacific coast, and through our retained membership in this organization, our patrons will be able to participate in the benefits of this large buying power, in future as well as they have in the past."

Ira F. Powers, of the Portland firm, said:

"It is with much regret that we are severing this connection and withdrawing from the Salem territory. It is made necessary by new plans for expansion and development now being inaugurated by our organization."

Powers to Expand—
"Under this plan we shall expand and develop our manufacturing and wholesale-marketing departments, specializing on certain of our factory products. We have taken over the factory of the Birchfield lines of over-stuffed furniture, which we exclusively will wholesale in this state. For this reason we are severing our branch connections."

"We greatly appreciate the very satisfactory support and patronage we have enjoyed in this field, which we shall continue to receive through our successor, as Mr. Giese will retain all our lines of house furnishing goods."

FARM LAND MOVING REALTORS REPORT

Farm land is beginning to move, according to the firm of Betchel, Sears and Tucker, and rentals are picking up, with new contracts numerous. The firm recently handled an exchange involving $38,000 worth of property, the Edmond Goffin farm near Dallas and the C. L. Larimer ranch near Shaw.

Other deals closed include: a house and lot sold to George Givens for $3,500, owned by J. M. Craven; W. Stola residence property sold to S. R. Pruitt for $2400; sold for Claud Munkers a five-acre tract in the Kelsor school district to J. C. Ackman for $3,500. Mrs. Anna Steininger's house and two lots at 950 North 18th street were sold to Marion E. Clendinning for $2750. The firm expects to close nine deals this week.

Yew Park Area is Added to Postal Carriers Routes

Beginning March 15, the city carrier service will be extended to serve the Yew Park district from Cross to Howard and Capitol to 12th street, according to announcements Saturday from Arthur E. Gibbard, assistant postmaster of the Salem office. The new territory will be served by auxiliary carriers, two of whom are now employed by the office. The change will effect about 80 families who previously have been served from combination boxes along the rural routes or from the general delivery.

HOSPITAL WORK SHOWN

Reporter Describes Value of Institution to Townspeople

"DRIVE" ONE OF MERIT

By GENEVIEVE MORGAN

What's in a drive, and especially one in which good will is sought even more than cool cash, unless the public knows what it's all about? For some time past various Salem clubs and individuals have been interested in adding to the facilities of an institution of which Salem has every right to be proud.

The surgery is located on the second floor, and is of course one of the most interesting points in the tour. There are two major surgeries, well equipped, and also two minor surgeries. The supplies room and doctors' lockers, as well as the elevator, are also in the surgical section. Of especial interest, too, on this floor is the nursery, which will now accommodate but eight babies and is too small on occasions.

A small kitchen, with steam tables, sinks, and well equipped for all purposes is also on the second floor. In fact, each floor has its own kitchen that patients may be served hot food as well as for general convenience. Cooking is done in the basement, the food being sent upstairs on a waiter.

The third floor is devoted to general medical and surgical work with six wards of four beds each, six private rooms, a semi-private room and a ward for children in which are six cribs.

The basement contains, besides the boiler room with its one huge and one smaller boilers, the kitchen, the three dining rooms for the office staff, special nurses and student nurses and a rest room for the special nurses.

More Student Nurses, Need
Student nurses live in the nurses' home to the rear of the hospital, and incidentally, the acting superintendent, Signe Wahlstrom, R. N., reports that there is need of six more student nurses before the first of April. Fifteen student nurses are now on duty, eight graduate nurses and two extra ones helping for the time being.

The trip, a hurried one to be sure, is done, but let's pause to add this fact: The present cost of completely equipping a room is $375 and for a ward $675.

40 GAIN JOBS
One hundred and fifteen men and women sought work this week from the United States employment office while 47 people asked for workers from the office. Forty placements were made by the bureau.

Now to the second floor; take the elevator or walk up, just as you please.

One side of the main corridor is straight with rooms and wards in rapid succession, while from the other, rooms come and go at varying angles. One ward in the new wing is now being furnished by the Rotary club as the club's contribution to helping the hospital gain a stronger footing, and opposite the Rotary ward is another four-bed ward which cannot be finished and furnished until funds are in sight. Two private rooms are in sight. Two private rooms are in sight.

SALVATION ARMY TO SEEK NEW BUILDING

Benefit Concert On Tuesday Night; Boy's Chorus is Feature Number

A benefit concert is to be given Tuesday evening, March 26, in the Calvary Baptist church, corner High and Court streets, by the Salem Boy's chorus and the high school band for the purpose of raising money for a new Salvation Army building in Salem or to remodel and repair the old one.

The boy's chorus has been hard at work for several months on this concert and it promises to surpass anything before attempted in this line in Salem, according to Dr. Epley. Several entirely new numbers are being arranged by the doctor and a new drop curtain 16 by 26 feet has been painted for the occasion.

NORBLAD IS GIVEN GIFT

Silver Service Given Senator and Wife by Solons

Presentation to President Norblad of the state senate and Mrs. Norblad of a beautiful sterling silver service set, was the outstanding feature of the afternoon session of the senate Saturday. The presentation was made by Senator Marks on behalf of the members of the senate, the employees and officers.

"We are now nearing the end of the legislative session," said Senator Marks. "This will be regarded as a constructive session. The administration, as far as the president of the senate is concerned, has been marked by efficiency. He has showed absolute fairness, and has won the commendation and friendship of every member of this senate."

"Life Held Inspiration
"You have attained a high plane in this state, and your life might well be an inspiration for any young man starting out with nothing but a determination to succeed. I hope that in after years, when you look upon this gift, you will recall the pleasant friendships cemented during the current legislative session." Senator Marks also referred to Mrs. Norblad, who, he said, deserved much credit for the success of her husband. The formal presentation of the service set followed.

President Norblad attempted to respond, but emotion prevented him from saying more than a few words.

"There is nothing worth while in life outside of friends and the family circle," he said. "I thank you."

Lindsey's Picture On Marriage is Oregon Feature

Sparkling with star names, the cast of Judge Ben Lindsey's dramatic and entertaining exposition of modern social ills, "Companionate Marriage," a First National picture coming to the Oregon theatre Tuesday, ranks with the most brilliant cast of the year.

The leading role is played by Betty Bronson, who burst upon an astonished world of cinema fans as Peter Pan in the screen play of Sir James Barrie's popular stage fantasy of that title.

The scenario was written by Judge Lindsey and is based upon dramatic incidents in the noted jurist's book on "Companionate Marriage."

1200 Legion Men By August Goal By Capitol Post

Twelve hundred members by August is the goal of the American Legion post and Saturday night the mark of 862 was attained according to Ray Bassett, adjutant. Three teams take the field this week to help push the drive to completion. Captains of the teams are George Averitt, Ted Endicott and A. E. Palmoverr.

"We buy a Piece at a Time"

THIS is the new plan in furnishings: one handsome piece of the kind you really want at the time you can afford it.

The true home is never ready-made. It grows at its own deliberate pace. That is one reason why a piece at a time is such a natural and successful plan. There is no time expediency about furniture bought in this way. It really expresses your own personal taste, and the result is harmony and individual charm.

You will find in our showrooms many a beautiful piece to set off your present furnishings or make the nucleus of a charming room. Real craftsmanship goes into the making of our fine furniture, yet our prices are invariably moderate.

Why not begin at once? Let us show you our selection in all its variety and beauty.
