Most of the shrubbery was given to the hospital, and included cypress trees, juniper, laurel, holly and yew. Shrubbery between the walk and building was not removed. LOWER COURT SUIT AFFIRMED

Opinion by Justice McBride Upholds Circuit Judge L. H. McMahan

The state supreme court Tuesday held for the plaintiff in a suit brought by the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident association of Omaha, Nebraska, to enjoin the state insurance commissioner from cancelling its license to transact business in Oregon. The opinion was written by Justice McBride and affirmed Judge L. H. McMahan of the Marion county circuit court.

The record in the case showed that the plaintiff corporation has approximately 84 agents operating in the state of Oregon. The volume of business transacted in the state was reflected in the last annual tax of the company which in 1927 amounted to $10,451.27. This tax was based on 2 1/2 per cent of its premiums for the year 1927.

But one issue considered "There is but one question involved in this case," said Justice McBride in his opinion. "That is whether a mutual insurance company organized legally in Nebraska may, upon compliance with the procedural matters required by the Oregon insurance laws, carry on the business of health and accident insurance in this state."

"There is no question but that the company has complied with the Oregon insurance laws. The court is of the opinion that it can be licensed in this state."

The suit now pending in the United States supreme court to test the validity of the Oregon law providing that additional agents for insurance companies shall pay an annual license fee of $500, originated in the Marion county court here some time ago when the Northwestern National insurance company of Minneapolis, brought suit to compel the state insurance commissioner to issue a license to an agent in Portland under the $2 annual license fee.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS AT CORVALLIS MEET

The joint meeting of Lutheran students Sunday at Corvallis was a success, about 150 being assembled at College Garden, with strong delegations from the Normal at Monmouth and the University of Oregon. Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, president of Pacific college, Parkland, Wash., spoke eloquently on "Keeping America Christian," and the choir of Central Lutheran church, Portland, under the direction of C. Anderson, gave three beautiful selections.

Three Presidents Attend

The presidents of the three student associations, Thelmer Nelson of Eugene, Victor Sather of Corvallis, and Miss Irene Jorgensen of Monmouth, were present and each one spoke briefly but trenchantly on the necessity of religious campus work. The three students who had represented the associations at the Spokane conference of Lutheran students in January gave short talks and advocated an enlargement of the service. Miss Lulu Caverhill, Miss Margaret Michaelson, and Mrs. William Schoeler enriched the program with vocal numbers and Miss Margaret Anderson accompanied the soloists at the piano.

The Dorcas society of Christ Lutheran church, Salem, and the Ladies' Guild of the United Lutheran church, Salem, donated the refreshments which were served free to all students and visitors present.

The state supreme court Monday received mandates from the United States supreme court in the case of the Eastern and Western Lumber company to restrain Governor Patterson and other members of the state board of control from borrowing $600,000 from the state industrial commission for the construction of a state office building.

The mandates will be sent to the circuit court. All of the courts ruled against the plaintiff corporation.

DAWES PLAN TO BE ENDED SOON

Experts on Revision to Submit Their Final Plans in Near Future

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—Experts engaged in revision of the Dawes plan for reparations payments are indicating to their friends that they hope to reach definite figures toward the end of this week and certainly by the beginning of next. Their desire is to conclude the heavy work before Easter and to take an adjournment for a few days before returning to draw up the final texts of their recommendations. Their deliberations have reached the documentary stage.

Papers were in the course of preparation today and will be completed tomorrow morning which will set forth the provisional conclusions of the three sub-committees. They will, however, contain several blank spaces representing conversations upon which conclusions have not yet been arrived at.

This is especially noticeable in the case of questions dealing with the three classes of payments, into which it now seems to be unanimously agreed the reparations will be divided—unconditional cash, conditional cash and deliveries in kind.

A large portion of the document will deal with the trustee organization, the formal name of which has not yet been determined. This organization, which was devised by Lord Revelstoke, British banker, and his associates, according to present conceptions, will be a formidable institution.

The plenary session tomorrow afternoon was expected to be a long one.
