COOLIDGE ENJOYS LIFE AS PLAIN MAN

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Mar. 9.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge yesterday enjoyed for the first time since his retirement from the White House the seclusion that is the privilege of those in private life. He remained away from his law office which he has visited daily since his return here.

The only interruption in his day was a request that he pose for motion picture cameramen, and with Mrs. Coolidge he posed on the back porch of his modest home. He declined however, to speak for the movie-tone machines.

Unlike her husband, Mrs. Coolidge had much to do about town. Twice she sauntered forth to the business district where she made purchases. On one of these trips, it was learned, she purchased a magazine containing the first of a series of articles by her husband.

Mrs. Coolidge also visited her mother, Mrs. Lemira B. Goodhue, at the Dickinson hospital. The latter's condition was said to be unchanged.

WITNESSES NAMED FOR HARDY'S TRIAL

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 9.—(AP)—Tentative lists, bearing the names of some sixteen witnesses who may be called upon to testify in the impeachment case against Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy were in the hands of members of the assembly board of managers tonight for study over the week end.

When the lists are returned to Walker Little, chairman of the board, Monday, they may be changed. This is the board's first move to definitely decide who shall be called and the exact na-

HEAVY PLAY SELECTED FOR WOODBURN SENIORS

WOOBURN, March 9.—(Special)—After several days of deliberation and argument the senior class has chosen Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" for its annual class play to be given in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evening, April 26 and 27. The first part of this week has been occupied with play tryouts, and the coaches, Miss Virginia Mason and Mrs. Maude Mochel, have chosen the following cast:

The Duke of Venice, Winton Hunt; the Prince of Morocco, Ha Webber; the Prince of Arragon, Neal Butterfield; Antonio, the merchant of Venice, Ladrow Moshberger; Bassanio, his friend and a suitor to Portia, Stanley Starbuck; the clown, Ralph Belcher; Old Gobbo, his father, Wayne Livingston; Balthasar, servant of Portia, Otto Wengenroth; Stephano, another servant, Leroy Lutz; Portia, a rich heiress, Sophie Pardy; Nerissa, her waiting maid, Opal Hasenyaeger; Jessica, Shylock's daughter, Juanita Hicks.

Practice will start immediately in an effort to perform successfully one of the most difficult plays ever attempted by any class in the history of the school. An extensive advertising campaign is being conducted in the hope of securing a large audience for each person.

Just who are on the lists the trial managers would not reveal but it was stated that about sixteen potential witnesses were being considered at this time.

William Hornblower of San Francisco, one of the board, declared today he is convinced Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. Almeda Kemp, is the evangelist, should be called to Sacramento to tell what she knows of Judge Hardy's activities on behalf of the evangelist's Angelus temple in Los Angeles prior to and during Mrs. McPherson's disappearance two years ago.

Hornblower and Clare Woolwine, another board member, returned from Portland a week ago bearing from Mrs. Kennedy an affidavit, presumably relative to her knowledge of Judge Hardy's receipt of a $2500 check from Mrs. McPherson for services rendered the church.

Bird Calls Imitated as Original Way of Answering Roll Call

Potted plants of blooming daffodils added cheerfulness to the meeting. A unique response to roll call was the imitation of a bird's call by each member present, which started the meeting with a "peep" that was manifested throughout the afternoon.

The club will assist at the candy booth of the Minstrel show to be given by the Hubbard band March 14 by donating home made candy.
