last night and today. The Alabama National Guard established a relief camp on Cemetery hill, between Elba and Big Creek, and brought out 1,500 persons within 24 hours. There still were sev eral hundreds who had had little or no food since Wednesday. Among them were about 100 children, marooned in a school house. Currents prevented boats from reaching them until noon today.

line and 14 gallons of oil. This amount, the young aviatrix estimated, would easily keep her aloft for 24 hours. Under national aeronautical association rules. Miss McPhetridge must keep her plane in the air for at least one hour longer than the present record of 17 hours, 5 minutes, 37 seconds, to establish a new mark.

Miss McPhetridge spent an hour tuning up and testing her plane before the hop. Then with everything in readiness she donned a heavy fur-lined flying suit and helmet, said goodbye to a gathering of friends and clambered into the cockpit.

At exactly 3:51:35 p.m. the biplane roared down the runway and took the air. Rising to 600 feet, Miss McPhetridge banked and circled over the airport on the course she hopes to maintain for the next 24 hours. Before the takeoff, she told airport officials she would fly between 600 and 800 feet as long as daylight lasted. After sundown, she said, she would seek a higher altitude.

Officers of the Oakland chapter of the national aeronautical association were at the field to supervise the installation and sealing of the plane's barograph. If Miss McPhetridge succeeds in staying aloft the required time, the instrument will be removed from the plan when she lands and sent to N. A. A. headquarters in Washington where a check will be made.

The present endurance flight record was set in Los Angeles last month by Miss Bobby Trout. Miss McPhetridge, which is her flying name, is the holder of the women's altitude record of 20,270 feet. The aviatrix' full name is Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden.

No Room For Doubt With these terse sentences, Mr. Hoover committed his administration to a policy of strict conservation of government owned oil. There will be no more leases of oil bearing public domain lands, nor will these properties be disposed of in any other way. They are to remain under the direct jurisdiction of the government with the oil conserved in the

Land Decision

Mr. Hoover's pronouncement which came in answer to the questions of newspaper correspondents, received much praise from members of the house and senate, together with some criticism. Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana objected on the ground that the new policy would hinder the development of that state which includes a large acreage of the public domain. Later Mr. Hoover, himself, said that the people of the western states were behind him because they realized that there is a limit to oil supplies and

'COHENS, KELLEYS' HERE IN 'TALKIE'

Irish and Jewish Race Leaders in the New Film at the Capitol

Although the world of late is said to have turned Scotch for many of its laughs, the Irish and Jewish races are still leading as film humor purveyors.

"The Cohens and Kellys in At-lantic City," Universal's latest picture revealing the adventures of the Cohen and Kelly families, was launched today at Bligh's Capitol theatre on a sea of laughs. Mr. Cohen and Mr. Kelly are undoubtedly the greatest comedy team ever invented by a film studio, as their comic arguments, their_family squabbles and all the other incidents that characterize them, seem to grow funnier with each celluloid edition.

Splendid Cast Appears An unusually splendid cast appears, headed by George Sidney, Vera Gordon, Mack Swain and Kate Price. The romance is provided by Cornelius Keefe and Nora Lane, with Virginia Sale and Tom Kennedy in vivid roles. The picture is superbly acted, the players having gotten every possible bit of humor out of their familiar characterizations. Atlantic City, as the title suggests, is the locale. automobile from Torreon. There are still conflicting claims by federals and rebels which make a little confusing the latest reports of the military campaign.

Rebel leaders at Juarez, in northern Sonora say that their troops have captured Aguascalientes, far south of General Calles' former headquarters at Cantias and deny that federals have taken Durango They still insisted yesterday that the federals were really far away from Torreon and said that outbreak of revolt in various central Mexican states menaced the rear of the Calles' army. Their capture of Aguascalientes had cut the federal line of communications with Mexico City, they claimed and many federal soldiers had been killed or taken prisoners in the battle there.

Six hundred rebels cut through wire fence on the international boundary line east of Nogales. Arizona, to obtain water from a ranch on the American side, the soldiers returned to Mexican soil and later asserted they had not realized they were crossing the border.

The first three of twenty new airplanes ordered in New York by the federals have been completed and will be flown to Mexico City Monday by Mexican army aviators. A statement by President Portes Gil said that all captured rebels of General Aguirre's Vera Cruz army below the bank of Lieutenant Colonel had been liberated.

But in the third quarter Medord had steadied down thoroughly, and ran up 14 points while Astoria was making only three. That was partly because Astoria was still somewhat erratic and lisorganized, but principally be-

"Delayed Offense"

Fully Demonstrated State tournament fans took a post graduate course in learning what that phrase "delayed offense" means, when they saw Washington high of Portland employ it against Wallowa high in the final consolation game Saturday night to fun up the biggest score of the tournament, 51 to 19. On straight basketball, Washington piled up a lead of 15 to 5 in the first quarter, and 27 to 13 in the first half.

Throughout the entire second half Washington used the delay system, forcing Wallowa's defense down into the wrong end of the floor and then suddenly swooping past it to sink easy shots. With Ed Lewis tipping the ball from center to his own men consistently, this means that Wallowa had no chance to get possession of it unless a Washington player missed a pass or a shot for the basket. Result, Wallowa scored no points in the third quarter, and only two baskets in the last period. Summary:
