Hysteria Again Hits Stock Market With Many Prices Tumbling; Call Money Up

By STANLEY PRENOSIL Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 1.—(AP)—Call money went up and stock prices went down today as a fresh wave of hysteria swept through Wall street as a result of unfavorable credit developments over the three-day stock exchange holiday.

Extreme declines in the active issues ranged from 1/8 to 3/8 per share but many of these were materially reduced in the brisk rally which developed in the last hour of trading. Final quotations showed a long list of net losses ranging from $2 to $13.50 a share. Despite a rather steady stream of buying and selling orders, the day's sales were only 4,162,820 shares, or slightly more than one-half of last Tuesday's record breaking session.

Market Exhibits Queer Characteristics
Curiously, the best prices of the day were recorded in many instances after the call money rate had been marked up to 15 per cent after renewing at 10 per cent, just as Tuesday's recovery reached its peak following the advance in call money to 20 per cent.

The heavy accumulation of week-end selling, which resulted in several "bunched orders" of 5,000 to 12,000 shares in the opening dealers, was attributed to the following factors: Senator King's proposed investigation of stock speculation and the suggestions in other congressional quarters of legislation to prohibit federal reserve member banks from loaning funds to margin speculators; revived agitation for an increase in federal reserve rediscount rates, coincident with the beginning of conferences of the governors of the 12 federal reserve banks; the controversy over the action of Charles B. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, in supplying funds on call in Tuesday's crisis; the disappointment over the federal reserve brokers' loan statement which showed a decline of only $14,000,000 as against an increase of $16,000,000 the week before.

Durant Criticizes Board's Statement
W. C. Durant, a member of the so-called "big ten" group of stock market operators who have managed some of the biggest pools in the recent "bull" market, sent a telegram to 100 leading business executives today, attacking the federal reserve board for giving the impression "that our best securities are selling above their value" and stating that the recent credit policy of the board is "threatening the prosperity of the country."

The rise in call money from 10 to 12 and thence to 15 per cent.

PROPER METHOD TO PRINT CODE ASKED

Bar Association Names Committee To Go Into Matter

A committee headed by Dean Roy Hewitt of Willamette university with William Levens and Martin Ferry as other members, was named Saturday afternoon by the Marion county bar association to make a report on the association's recommendation for a proper method of printing the new code of Oregon laws.

The committee was asked to investigate the most feasible method of attending to the job. Whether the code shall be divided into volumes, one for criminal and one for civil law or whether the code should be confined to one or more volumes without regard to subject matter, is the question the committee is faced with.

Recommendations of the committee, if approved by the bar association, will go to the judge of this district who will in turn pass these recommendations on to the printing committee. Republication of the Oregon code was agreed upon by the 1929 legislature.

The bar association meeting which is a monthly affair, was held in the Marion hotel. Judge O. P. Coshaw addressed the lawyers.

FOREIGN EMBASSIES RECEIVE THEIR RUM

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Nearly a dozen embassies and legations received their annual liquor shipments today. An unofficial estimate said the consignments aggregated nearly 800 cases. Only a part of the shipments, however, were moved into Washington from Baltimore. The remainder were stored in Baltimore warehouses because of a fear of hijackers as a result of the unprecedented publicity given the arrival of the liquors.

The truck carrying the British shipment was stopped by police six times between Baltimore and Washington and the attache aboard the truck was asked to display his customs permits and credentials each time.

All of the foreign missions had made arrangements in advance with trucking companies when it was learned that the consignments were about to dock.

A reception committee consisting of Baltimore police, prohibition agents, custom men and newspaper correspondents greeted the truck drivers and the officials of the embassies as they arrived at the docks in the Maryland city for their shipments. Two of the more daring drivers indicated that they did not fear hijackers in spite of the publicity which had been given their movements.
