Is Attractive Affair

The American Legion Auxiliary benefit bridge tea which was given at the Elk's clubhouse Wednesday was a success financially and socially much to the credit of committee headed by Mrs. Paul Burris and including Mrs. Jess George, Mrs. Reed Rowland and Mrs. W. P. Watkins who had charge of it.

Bridge was played in the ballroom of the clubhouse. At the close of playing prizes were awarded Mrs. Walter Zosel for high score, Mrs. Walter Page for secend high score and Mrs. Jack Johnston for third high score.

Following bridge a much appreciated brief program of solo numbers were sung by Mrs. Sheldon Sackett accompanied by Miss Roberta Morton. Mrs. Sackett sang "The Wind's in the South Today" and "Toy Balloon." Miss Morton gave several accordian solo numbers.

A silver tea followed the program at which time many extra quests came in during the hour from four to five;

Those assisting during the afternoon , were Mrs. Earl Paulsen, Mrs. George Nelson and Miss Lois Burris. Those receiving were the past presidents. Mrs. John Bottle, Mrs. Jesse George, Mrs. Hing Bartlett and Mrs. H. R. White. Little five-year-old Miss Marlyn Zeller was a very delightful member of the receiving and assisting committees and added much to the happiness of the guests.

Garden Designs Make Unusual Exhibit

Spanish gardens on paper make an interesting study when everything is eliminated from the picture but the lines and the clearcut design which has been followed to produce the delightful warmth and beauty of a Spanish garden. English gardens take on less inscrutibility when all the lines of design are looked down upon in a drawing of some of the lovely old manor gardens. The delightful artistry of Italian villas lose none of their intriguing loveliness when put into line drawings which show how the artistry is developed. And the spacious Am-erican gardens in outline on paper which the landscape artists of the United States have made of all these various European garden expressions. The people of Salem have a rate chance to study at first hand the contrasts noted above in the land-scape art exhibit of Miss Ediza-beth Lord and Miss Edith Schry-ver which the Gilbert Studio is sponsoring today. Both Misa Lord and Miss Schryver will be in the studio during the atternoon.

The Atwater Kent Foundation has announced its third national voice contest. Cash prizes of $25,000 and scholarship awards to the finalists will be the results of this year's contest. In October the representatives, one young man and one young woman, will be selected from each of the states to contend for national honors. It is of genuine interest to Salem people to know that Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson has been chosen as state chairman for the contest

Mrs. E. A. Thompson, and Miss
