

AUTO PLUNGES DOWN BIG BANK

Nobody Injured, However, as Crash Occurs Near Rickreall

RICKREALL, April 8. — (Special) — A Dodge sedan driven by a man from Tillamook plunged over a 40 foot embankment while attempting to cross the little bridge entering Rickreall coming north from Monmouth. The accident occurred Friday afternoon at 5:30. Neither the car nor the occupant were hurt in any way and the townspeople and passing motorists who quickly gathered while the car was being extricated from the ravine, marveled because there was no damage done. The driver was following a stage which suddenly slackened its speed at this point. Just before the driver knew it the front of the car was over the bank. He then steered the car to safety as he went down the steep embankment.

TEACHERS IN PLAY DRAW MANY LAUGHS

Crowd Out as Woodburn Hi Faculty Gives Benefit for Athletics

WOODBURN, April 8. — Tuley P. Otto, popular science teacher at the high school, brought spasms of laughter from an audience of over 400 by his characterization of Paul Brown, a struggling young author, in the play, "Fifty Fifty," given in the high school auditorium Friday evening by the faculty of Woodburn high school.

Ronald Burnett, as his pal, a struggling artist, also drew much applause by his acting.

V. D. Bain, as an Irish janitor, and Miss Ava Conner, as a landlady, likewise were popular with the audience. Miss Virginia Mason, as an art collector, started the two heroes on their way to success when she bought a painting upside down and thus suggested to the author the idea of writing his stories upside down.

Miss Laura Ruggless, as a reporter and detective, furnished additional comedy.

Other members of the cast included Miss Helen Washburn, a Sophie Bland, a Spanish dancer, Ray O. Wolf, as Smudge, a negro valet, Milton Graiapp, as a wanderer and Miss Helen Andrews, as Josephine, a seeker who finally found what she sought in the wanderer.

The play was coached by Mrs. Ruth F. Rhoten and was given for the benefit of the Wolhsein, annual publication of the high school.

The high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Rhoten, played before and after the play. Between act numbers were vocal solo, "Roses of Picardy" and "Four Leaf Clover," by Miss Fern Wadsworth; vocal duet, Mrs. V. D. Bain and Miss Ruth Holt; and a reading, "I'd Rather Be Alone," by Russell Guise. Mrs. Jack Hanson was accompanist.

After the play the faculty were given flowers by the student body.
