

Anglers Getting Out Tackle Preparing for Fishing Season

DRIVE IS MADE ON FINNY TRIBE

Hundreds Expected to Leave This City Today; Zero Hour to be Monday

Hundreds of anglers from Salem and vicinity will head for lakes and streams in various parts of the state today and tomorrow, in order to be ready to unlimber hooks and lines at one hour before sunrise Monday morning, when the trout season opens.

Local sporting good dealers report an unusually large sale of fishing tackle and also of fishing licenses, and it is expected that a record number of anglers will make their exodus this week-end.

Bad Weather No Mar To Sport

Such is the prospect despite rather unfavorable indications for fishing based on the condition of streams in the Willamette valley. Weather conditions have been such that most of these streams will be high and muddy.

That will not keep hundreds of hopeful anglers from trying their luck on these streams, but it will result in a large number of the "dyed in the wool" sportsmen going farther away, to streams along the coast which are little affected by heavy spring rains.

Numerous Fishing Grounds Near at Hand

Favorite fishing grounds within a few hours drive from Salem include Lake Croline near Rickreall, Mill creek, Better creek, the various forks of the Santiam, the big and little Luckiamute, the mill pond at Valsezt, Pudding river, Butte creek, Silver creek and the Abiqua.

Against the unfavorable weather, anglers balance the recent planning of thousands of trout of legal size in practically all of these streams and lakes.

The salmon fishing at Oregon City will entice some of the fishermen from the idea of celebrating the opening of the trout season, but not many, as the salmon fishing has been poor.

EVANGELICAL QUINT TAKES FIRST GAME

Evangelical took the first of three games to decide the champions of the Sunday school basketball league from the Presbyterian quint Friday night by being on top 16 to 15 when the whistle blew at the end of the extra five minutes. No more than three points separated the hard fighting teams at any time.

Long shots and "ripples" alike figured in the scoring. Neither team could hold the other down long enough to amass a lead although the Presbyterians did not score from the field during the first half. They picked up five points from the 15-foot mark. Score at the end of the regular time was 14-14. Evangelical played the last three minutes of the overtime period with only four men, the only other player on hand being disqualified on fouls.

The line-up: Evangelical (16) (15) Presby, Todd (4) F (7) Hagemann Bewley (2) F (3) Siegmund Maves (9) C (2) H. Colgan Hiltner (1) G (3) Johnson Flesher A S (3) Woolery G S Hale

Huskies and Bears Stage Race Today

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—(AP)—On the bosom of the same stretch of water that conceals a myriad of earlier defeats and disappointments California's great Bear crew, champion to all the world, tomorrow will stroke its way over a three mile course in the first defense of many titles won last year.

Opening the 1929 regatta season, six of the eight rowmen who won at Poughkeepsie and Amsterdam will be members of the crew which tomorrow meets Washington's Huskies on Oakland estuary. This will be the first time that the California public will have seen the Olympic games victors in competition for all of last year's races were rowed away from home.

California Crew Is Better Than Ever
The California oarsmen who will match strokes with their old time rivals from the north form a better crew than the one which made rowing history in 1928. Carroll "Ky" Ebricht, coach, says so and practice performances seem to bear out the assertion.

Hopes for a Washington victory tomorrow cling largely to a racing start and with an early lead Husky supporters believe that their crew has a good chance to maintain the pace for a surprising win. Man for man, however, the Bears' size up more favorably than the opening rowers. Only two members of last year's campaign are missing from the California lineup and both places are filled with experienced men. Ward Von Til, a veteran of two years ago, is the only new oarsman. He will set in the hot position. Vincent "Moon" Mullins, former junior varsity coxswain, will hold the tiller ropes that were manned by Don Blessing in 1928.

ED GARDNER'S LEAD ONLY TWO MINUTES

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, April 12.—(AP)—The lead of Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., negro, was cut to two minutes and two seconds in C. C. Pyle's New York to Los Angeles bunion derby today when Pete Gavuzzi, of England, won his second consecutive lap by finishing first in the 50-mile race from Wheeling, W. Va., to Cambridge.

Gavuzzi covered the distance in 7:31:15, making his elapsed time 36:31:27 hours as compared with Gardner's 36:29:25.

Gardner was third today in 8:35:45. Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., was second; Gusto Umek, of Italy, fourth; Sam Richmond, of New York, fifth; John Salo of Passaic, N. J., and Seth Gonzales of Raton, N. M., tied for sixth, and Phillip Granville of Hamilton, Ont., seventh.

The runners today completed their first 500 miles of the 3,400 mile trek to the Pacific coast. They have covered 549.4 miles the 13 days the race has been in progress.

When the plodding pilgrims crossed the Ohio state line they entered their sixth state. They continue their jaunt in the Buckeye state tomorrow with a 25 mile run to Zanesville.

EMANUEL'S HAND IS IN GOOD CONDITION

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(AP)—Armand Emanuel's right hand which for several days threatened the staging of the catch weight struggle at Wrigley field here Monday night between the San Francisco heavyweight and Ace Hudkins, blond Nebraskan, today appeared to be all right again.

The hand, injured in training several days ago, to all outward appearances was as effective as of old during the Bay city boxer's workout. Emanuel went through a half dozen stiff rounds of ring work with sparring mates, and his ailing member was very much in evidence.

After the boxing, however, the young heavyweight said that his hand still was a trifle sore, but expected it to be ready for Monday night. He revealed that his hand was being treated daily by a specialist.

Nothing But Big Boys on Boxing Card

If Harry Plant has wasted any time worrying over whether the fans thought he was giving them value received at the fight programs this season, he won't have to indulge in any such doubts between now and next Wednesday night.

An "all heavyweight" card is Plant's aim for that occasion, and for a main event he has unquestionably picked a pair of winners in "Tiny" Hayes of Independence and Fred Gaudette of Mexico, Wash.

Salem fans need no introduction to Hayes, who has fought here and who recently staged a flashy comeback in Portland by knocking out Bob Murrells. On the strength of that showing, he has been promised a main event in the Portland ring.

Gaudette, who has already arrived in Salem to complete his training isn't known here but has plenty in his record to recommend him as a worthy adversary for Hayes.

Victories to Gaudette's credit include a decision over Young Peter Jackson, another over Joe Boyd of Aberdeen, a draw with the dangerous "Slim" Hansen, and knockouts over Dean O'Brien and Jess Holloway. All of the fighters mentioned are headlines in the Puget Sound country.

After the boxing, however, the young heavyweight said that his hand still was a trifle sore, but expected it to be ready for Monday night. He revealed that his hand was being treated daily by a specialist.

Scribes Believe Yankees and Giants Will Participate in World Series

By ALAN J. GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, April 12.—(AP)—If the predictions that blossom in the spring bear fruit by October, it will require only a few subway rides to the Harlem and Bronx to witness the battle for the world's baseball championship of 1929.

The verdict of more than 60 major league baseball writers and sports editors, expressed in the third annual Associated Press consensus, is that the New York Yankees and Giants will win the pennant races that start next Tuesday.

Here's the order of finish predicted:
American League—New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and Boston.

National League—New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston.

Yankees Likely To Win For Fourth Time
The world's champion Yankees will fly their fourth straight pennant flag without much of a struggle, if the preponderance of opinion in their favor among the newspaper critics is a criterion of what the race will develop. The New Yorkers are picked to win by 53 of the 66 experts who contributed their selections in number of contributing critics. Ten others pick the Athletics while two favor St. Louis and one selects Washington.

The Giants, however, emerge as consensus favorites in the national league only because of a narrow close race with the Chicago Cubs. Of the total of 44 ballots cast in the national league race, 33 favor the Giants and 26 the Cubs, only three pick the St. Louis Cardinals, 1928 champions, and two the Pittsburgh Pirates, titheholders in 1927.

Opinions Of Former Years Are Changed
This represents an almost complete reversal of opinion preliminary to the 1928 campaign, when the Pirates and Cardinals had the strongest backing.

The Giants, with a powerful young team, and the Cubs, an already hard-hitting array strengthened by the addition of the great Hornsby, are expected generally by the experts to put on a real stiff holding act in the old days of New York-Chicago rivalry. The Giants won the post of favorites by a fast finish in the voting, but it is a noteworthy tribute to the impartiality of the balloting that their rivals, the Cubs received more ballots from New York writers than from home-town critics.

The Pirates beat out the Cardinals for third place in the consensus by a strong finish, prompted probably by indications that the Cubs will return to form with the famous Waner brothers finally in the fold after protracted holdout seasons.

Pre-Season Record Of Yanks Discounted
Apparently the Yankees are accepted as the dominating American league power "on faith," for the champions have not been especially impressive in the south. Ruth has not been getting the long range, Lya Lary failed to make the infield grade and the

Willamette-O. S. C. Game Postponed One Day Due To Rain-Soaked Diamond

Wet grounds at Corvallis caused the Willamette-O. S. C. baseball game to be postponed Friday 15 minutes before the Bearcat squad was scheduled to leave Salem.

Double scorers will be played today if the state college diamond dries off sufficiently to permit, but if weather conditions at Corvallis are similar to those which prevailed in Salem Friday, the games will have to be postponed until early next week.

A practice game between the two teams tentatively lined up by Coach Keene of Willamette, was played Friday afternoon. It confirmed the coach's earlier opinion that his squad was strong on fielding ability but that the pitching and hitting will have to improve if the Bearcats hope to hold their own in the series against O. S. C. and the following series against the University of Oregon.

Oregon State has a strong outfit this year, with a number of players who cavorted in the Willamette Valley league and in the Montana league last summer. Players well known here are Grayson, first baseman, and Hafenfeldt, second baseman, who played with Eugene and Albany, respectively, in the Willamette Valley league.

Maple, catcher, Quayle, shortstop and Belleville, outfielder, were in the Montana league, reputed to be a faster circuit than the Willamette Valley league; Belleville led that league in hitting.

Pitchers who will probably be used against the Bearcats include Nightingale, a southpaw, and Boultinghouse and Cloyes, right handers.

pitching staff remains in some doubt, but these factors seem to have cost the Yankees little if any support. The vote in their favor is higher this year than last.

The Athletics are again the runner-up choice. The St. Louis Browns, picked to finish third, hope to spring another surprise. Last year they upset the dope by leading in third place after being selected to do no better than seventh.

Noteworthy also, in the American league, is the strong fishing support accorded the prospect of Walter Johnson's Washington Senators. They landed no better than fifth when the ballots were tallied, but their exhibition performances within the past few weeks have sent the Senators' stock soaring. At the same time, Detroit's poor showing in training was reflected in the ballots. Cleveland won the closest contest of the consensus from Chicago for sixth place.

SILVERTON BATTLES WOODBURN TO TIE

WOODBURN, April 12.—(Spl.)—Woodburn and Silverton baseball teams battled for 12 innings to "no decision" this afternoon here, the score being six all when the game was called on account of darkness.

Throughout the first eight innings rain fell profusely, but playing conditions were better in the last four innings.

Gribble, Woodburn catcher, was the hitting star of the game, getting four hits out of five trips to the plate.

Game Protective Groups to Meet

The Marion County Game Protective association has been invited to participate in a meeting at Albany on the evening of April 22, with the Santiam Fish and Game Protective association and the Corvallis Rod and Gun club.

Proposed hydro-electric development on the Santiam river will be discussed. A dinner will be served to the sportsmen at the Albany hotel at 8:30 p. m. A number of local sportsmen are planning to attend.

Announcement was made Friday by Louis M. Anderson, athletic director at the Salem high school for the last three years and head coach of athletics for two years, that he would terminate his connection with the local school at the end of the present school year, in order to enter Columbia university at New York City for graduate work in physical education.

An outstanding athlete at the University of Oregon where he played quarterback on the football team and gained an enviable reputation as a gridiron strategist, Anderson has been uniformly successful in his work as a coach.

His football teams have won two Willamette valley championships and his track team two years ago won the state meet and last year placed third. His basketball teams have held their own among the leading teams in the state, although they have won no state titles.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 12.—(AP)—Today's Hollywood-Portland baseball game, which Hollywood won, 7 to 1, was played in weather reminiscent of a wet Saturday in the football season. It not only rained, but deluged in buckets from the third to the eighth inning.

Two players were hurt as a direct result. The wet ball got away from Mahaffey in the eighth and he hit Maloney, who was at bat, under the heart, hurting him so badly that the Hollywood youth had to be led to the bench.

Pinch hitting just previously for Staley of Portland, Cowboy Tomlin singled but in sliding to second could not stop his momentum in the skiddy mud, caught his ankle and wrenched it so badly that he had to be carried off the field. A fracture is feared. Another of Mahaffey's wet ball pitches just missed hitting Pitcher Hulvey on the head. He threw up his hand and carried it off with his finger.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(AP)—Clyde Barfoot won his fourth straight game of the season and helped Los Angeles maintain its hold on first place by pitching the Angels to a 6 to 1 victory over Oakland here today.

The Angels' win was a perfect control of his famous slow ball and held the Oaks to seven scattered hits. A couple of scratch hits, together with infield outs, gave the Oaks their only tally in the fourth inning. Home runs by Earl Webb and "Slim" Tolson, each with a man on base, accounted for four of the Angel runs.

The win was Los Angeles' third in four starts.

WOMAN SCREAMS IN HOPE TO VIEW TRIAL

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—(AP)—Screams penetrated the senate chamber where Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff was on the stand relating her story in the impeachment trial of Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles today. Outside the door a half-hysterical woman stormed the doors in an attempt to gain entry.

Halted at the outer gate of the senate chamber, the woman insisted that the life of an assemblyman and that she had a right to enter the trial.

Screaming loudly the woman was removed by state police. The gallery and every available seat in the senate were filled with spectators. Many of their lunchboxes stood in line, while others went without food in order to assure themselves a seat when the doors were again thrown open this afternoon.
