

STEIN URGES WORLD PEACE

Endeavor Convention Speaker Asks Youth to Support Movement

Record crowds attended the Saturday sessions of the state Christian Endeavor convention, with Rev. Luther E. Stein addressing the principal items of interest for the assembly at the morning and afternoon sessions.

Prefacing his remarks with the startling statement that if some 80 of the world's leading statesmen, financiers and industrial leaders could be lined up against a wall and told to stop the war or they would be shot immediately or they would be the first to die—if such could happen, all war would be stopped, Mr. Stein talked on "World Peace, the Crusader's Task."

Speaks From Experience
Mr. Stein is an army man during the war and from his own experience and the experience of his "buddies," he asserted at least half the fighters in the last war don't want more war.

He pointed to the tremendous cost of war, in money alone of $35,000,000,000, added to which was the real cost of thousands of lives of youth and manhood. Speaking of the monetary burden, he said the sum would purchase all the automobiles, colleges and schools in this country.

Talks In Afternoon
Through his message, the Salem Endeavor asked and urged that the Christian Endeavor place its support and efforts in the channels of the movement for world peace.

In his afternoon talk on "Citizenship, the Crusader's Duty," Mr. Stein urged his youthful audience to obey the general rules of good living with a definite idea of making themselves better citizens. The sessions met at the high school.

Financial Input Big Test Of Man's Religion, Groves

American Church Member Holds Religion Cheaply, Analysis Shows; Pastor Indicates Biblical Tithe is Fair Investment

Basing his sermon somewhat on a recent government analysis which shows that less than one cent of every dollar spent in America goes to the church, Rev. Meredith Groves of the Ford Memorial community church in West Salem will preach this morning on "A Paying Investment." The content of his message will be as follows:

"A man's character is tested by the company he keeps." "What one reads is an index to his character." "The use one makes of his leisure time determines his character and destiny." These are familiar, but perhaps a more true maxim for the testing of character than the above is the following: "How one gets and spends his money is an index to his character." The test of a man's religion is determined by the relative amount of money he puts into it, compared to that which he spends upon himself.

Hold Religion Cheaply
That the average American church member evaluates his religion quite cheaply is graphically portrayed by an analysis recently made by the secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church. This analysis based on government figures showed that each dollar spent in America was divided as follows: Living costs, as rent, food, etc., 24.5 cents; luxury, 22 cents; miscellaneous 13.5 cents; investments 11 cents; crime 8.5 cents; government, 4.5 cents; education, 1.5 cents; and the church, .75 cents. The tithe, or the paying of one-tenth of one's income for religious purposes has the sanction of the religious of ancient times, and is the standard for minimum giving established in the Old and New Testament scriptures. With the greater claims and privileges of the Christian religion the Christian should at least give that much of his income for the spread of the gospel.

Jesus Faced Question
Jesus is said by some to have dealt with the question of money more than any other question mentioned in his teachings. It is significant that 16 of his 38 parables deal with that subject. Failure to acknowledge God's ownership by payment of the tithe is said in the Old Testament to be punished by material reverses.

Always Safe
Here's relief and comfort for crying, fretful, feverish babies or children that you don't need to urge or command them to take. They love the delicious taste of Fletcher's Castoria. Your doctor will tell you it's absolutely safe, so you can give it as freely and as often as needed to keep your children happy and well. A few drops is all it takes to quiet fretful, feverish, colicky babies; relieve their biliousness, gas on stomach, constipation, etc.; soothe them to sleep in a jiffy. For like disorders in older children, you simply use a little larger dose of the same reliable Fletcher's Castoria. Don't use grown-folks' medicine; with babies or children, specialists say. Ninety per cent of them recommend Fletcher's Castoria; and thirty years of steadily increasing popularity proves they're right. To protect you from imitations, the Fletcher signature is on every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria.
