

WALL STREET AGAIN ACTIVE

Bullish Operations Carry Sales Past 4,000,000 Mark, Report Says

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Aggressive bullish operations on the stock market carried the volume of sales across the 4,000,000 share mark for the first time in three weeks today, but the forward movement on the market ran into the stone wall of scarce money, and had some difficulty in scaling this seemingly permanent obstacle.

While there has been a gradual easing of credit in the past week, call money still remains tight, and the federal reserve authorities are still believed to be earnestly working to keep it so. The renewal rate today was again 7 1/2 per cent, but with the increasing demands of the market, the rate mounted to 8 by early afternoon, the first upward revision in just a week. Calling of loans was light, amounting to about $15,000,000. The federal reserve's condition report of weekly reporting member banks, showing a decline of only $25,000,000 in loans on securities, was not particularly pleasing.

Day's News Fosters Bullish Tendency

Save for the apparent collapse of the reparations conference, the day's news was generally of a bullish influence. U. S. Steel production was said to have been again stepped up to practical capacity. Johns and Laughlin declared an extra dividend of $1 a share. Adams Express cut a $4,000,000 melon through an offer of rights. Pierce Arrow showed a remarkable recovery in its first quarter report, with profits of $448,531 in contrast to a loss of $357,763 in the first quarter of last year.

The outstanding strong features of the market were generally motors and Simms Petroleum, the day's transactions in these two issues accounting for about 18 per cent of the total turnover. General points to 87 3/8 in a turnover of 376,600 shares.

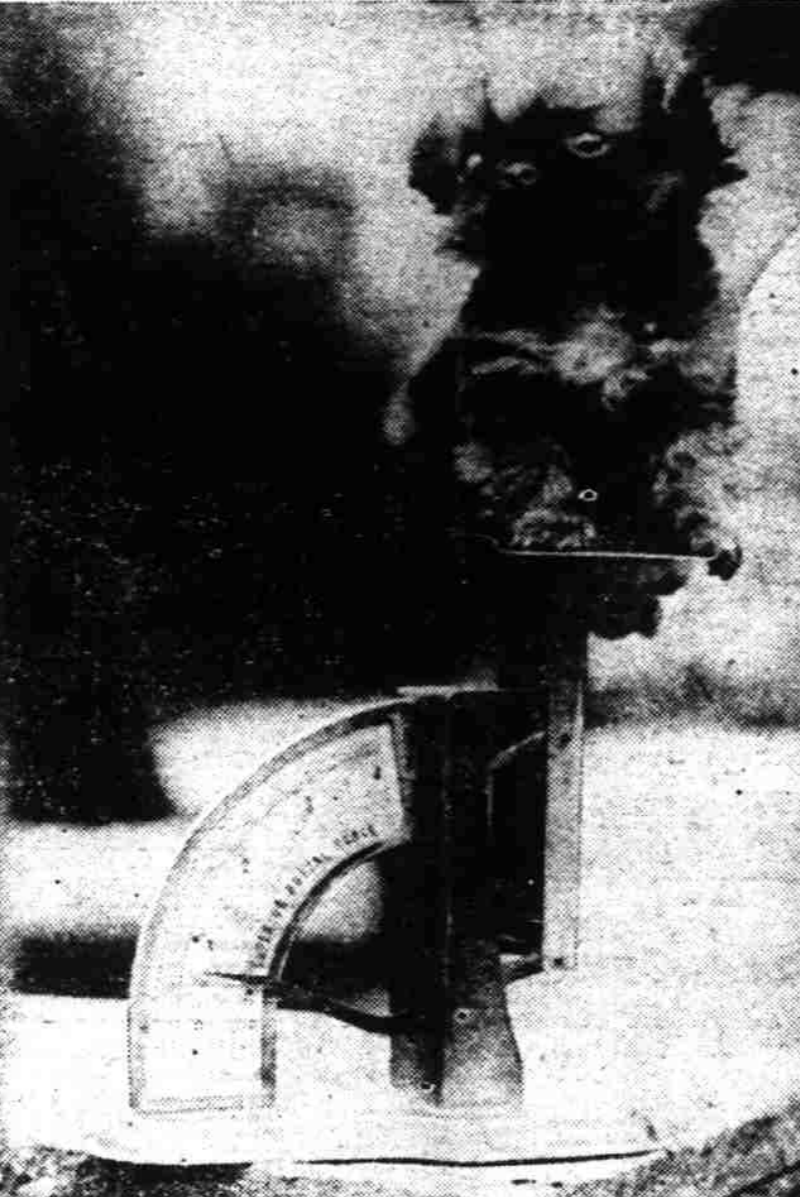

Adams Express Up To Record High Mark

Adams Express jumped 20 points to a record price of 750, on announcement of the melon, and other express issues were buoyant. Adams, however, lost half its gain in the profit taking which swept the market on the higher call money rate. Chemical shares were also briskly accumulated.

Commercial solvents rose 11 points to a new top at 320 1/2, while Columbian Carbon, allied chemical, Du Pont, Mathieson, and U. S. Industrial alcohol also made wide gains.

In building, cement shares were in demand in the upturn. International, Penn Dixie, and Lehigh Portland mounting 2 again a strong point of the rally, touching a new high for recent years at 102 3/8 in further buying in anticipation that 1929 earnings will exceed $10 a share.

He's Tiny Pekingese Pup

"Toddler" is his name and he weighs just 14 ounces. Mrs. W. O. Aird of Los Angeles has entered this tiny Pekingese pup in the International Dog show which will be held at Oakland, Cal., April 27-28. 1,000 other canine aristocrats from all parts of the world will vie at the exhibition.

Salem Chorus to Present Comic Opera Here as Part Of National Music Week

"H. M. S. Pinafore," a nautical comic opera in two acts, will be one of the leading events in Salem in commemoration of National Music Week. This favored composition will be presented May 10 at the Grand theatre by the combined advanced chorus classes and orchestra of the Salem high school.

"Pinafore," the name by which this opera is most generally known was written as a satire on the British navy. So clever are the lines of the songs and dialogue that these are found to apply even to the political situation of the present time. The words are by W. S. Gilbert and the music by Arthur Sullivan.

A splendid group of young vocalists will take part in the local production. Bernice Rickman possesses a beautiful soprano voice of extensive range and pure quality. She will sing the part of "Josephine," leading lady. Lawrence Alley will take the part of Ralph Rackstraw, and Homer Smith and Kenneth Abbott who won favor recently in Schubert's "Rosamunde" will be Captain of the Pinafore, and Admiral of the British navy, respectively.

This will be the first occasion of having a high school opera in a downtown auditorium.

HUNTINGTON IS CHOSEN COACH

Gill Made Head of Physical Education Department by School Board

Probably the biggest bombshell of the entire meeting came when Superintendent Huk asked for a raise of $50 a month. Some members of the board reflected this was too much, but after consideration of the fact that Huk had served eight years with neither an offer nor a request for a raise and that in addition to his progressive educational program he had "managed some delicate situations for the board," he was given a two-year contract at a salary of $4200, plus $300 traveling expenses.

Heretofore, the Salem superintendent has been the lowest paid in the state, size of school considered. In the eight years he has been here, school enrollment has increased 51 per cent.

U. S. Dotson, principal of Park and for 20 years a member of the Salem school system, consented to be and was transferred to high school staff as a member of the commercial faculty. Dotson is a wonderful teacher and will make a needed addition to the commercial course, the superintendent asserted in characterizing the change as a promotion. Other transfers included that of Catherine Simms from the Grant special room to Parrish junior high; Lois Tipton from Richmond to Parrish junior high; and Lillian Davis from Parrish junior high to the senior high school.

Teachers whom the new slate does not include are: Evelyn Soakun, Englewood; Hazel Van Orsdal, Grant; Dorothy Keber, McKinley; Martha Jean Dixon, Lincoln; Lenore Dyer, Park; Erlene Speck, Naomi Taylor, Margaret Dickerson, Bernice Duncan, Louie Anderson, all of the senior school; Urena Pratt, Parrish junior high; Earl Douglas, Leslie junior high; Olive R. Calef, Highland; and Katherine Knox, McKinley; and Lillian S. Van Loan, director of the part time continuation school who with Mr. Van Loan will continue Smith-Hughes work in Medford next year and whose position will be most hard to fill, the superintendent told the board. Resignations, approaching marriage and study for an advanced degree account for all these absences.

Miss Carlotta Crowley was re-elected elementary supervisor; Mrs. Blanche Isherwood, secretary to the superintendent; and W. H. Burghardt, clerk of the school board for a two year period.

RIGDON'S MAKE CHANGE

The Rigdon mortuary is going through a process of renovation, with the office, halls, family rooms and laying out rooms being retinted and woodwork being refinished. A few minor alterations are also being made and new furniture will be added as a finishing touch.

ALLEGED VIOLATORS OF DRY LAW TRIED

TACOMA, April 23.—(AP)—Sheriff E. P. Frederickson of Wahkiakum county, who is jointly indicted with Edges, Ellis and B. E. Day, faced Judge Edward E. Cushman in the federal court here today on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, to which they have entered a plea of not guilty. All three men are of Cathlamet, Wash. Frederickson is the third southwest Washington sheriff, within two years, to stand trial under laws which it was his duty to enforce.

The task of selecting a jury was started shortly before noon. Prior to the selection of the tentative jury, Judge Cushman denied a motion to suppress the evidence.

The indictment against Frederickson charges a general conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act in Wahkiakum county and the specific transportation of 95 gallons of moonshine whiskey on March 4.

At the time the indictment was made public Sheriff Frederickson charged the whole affair as a "frame up" with jealousy and the underlying motive. He said when he and Sheriff Slusher, of Clatsop county, Oregon, raided a still on Columbia river island the officers were unable to take all the confiscated liquor with them so he and Ellis returned and at high tide went to the island and took the liquor, turning it over to the Oregon sheriff the next day.

JUDGE CARLOS HARDY TALKS

Private Detective Employed to Investigate Aimee's Status at Carmel

from Mrs. McPherson "as a gift." He dictated assignment of a check to Brooks Hawkins, building contractor with whom Mrs. McPherson had had an argument over work done on Angelus temple.

He hired detectives to investigate the Long Beach angle and directed the investigation of the Carmel episode of the McPherson "kidnaping" investigation.

He corresponded with Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, who was to produce the mysterious "Miss X."

He attended several conferences at Angelus temple with Mrs. McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, detectives and attorneys.

Judge Hardy denied: Influence With District Attorney Not Claimed

That he ever told Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff he was "a respected judge on the superior bench of Los Angeles and had considerable influence with Asa Keyes," Los Angeles district attorney at the time.

That he planned the "Miss X" angle with her.

That he ever said to any member of the 1926 grand jury "you fellows better lay off the Aimee case."

That he suggested to Mesdames McPherson or Kennedy or any of their attorneys that evidence be suppressed or witnesses withheld from the district attorney or grand jury.

That he hired or counseled attorneys for Mrs. McPherson.

That he asked or expected compensation from the evangelist for advice given her.

The defense expects to have Judge Hardy on the stand for about one hour tomorrow, then he will be turned over to assemblyman William Hornblower for cross examination.

Hardy Tells About Receipt of Check

With the $2500 "love gift" check again in his hands, Judge Hardy recounted from the witness stand how he received it, the discussion that took place between himself and Mrs. Kennedy, over the word "legal" marked on the attached voucher.

Constantly fumbling with the slip of yellow paper that caused his present predicament, the judge told the senate he was given the check just before going on a vacation. Mrs. Kennedy wanted him to have a "real vacation" and presented to him "purely out of friendship" and because he had never received anything in recognition of the services he had rendered, the witness said.

J. W. "Brother" Arthur, Angelus temple bookkeeper, was responsible for the word "legal" appearing on the check, Mrs. Kennedy was quoted as replying, when Judge Hardy objected to accepting it with any understanding that it was for legal services.

Mrs. Kennedy then suggested she would go to another bank, draw the money and present it to him, but she "purely out of offer and accepted the check, he said, depositing it to his account in his own bank, "after it was understood that the check was not in payment for legal service."

4 PASSENGERS DEAD ON SHIP

Company Issues Report Upon Situation Long After Deaths Occur

none of the crew had died and that the cause of the deaths among the passengers was known. Two of the deaths they said were attributed to sunstroke and two to malaria contracted ashore. They said the deaths occurred March 26, 28, 30 and April 1.

The Dutchess of Athol left New York January 22 for a four month cruise to South America, Africa, Egypt and Cherbourg and Southampton. It is due at Cherbourg tomorrow.

Woman Told Sunstroke Caused Husband's Death

The widow of Norweb, a retired lace merchant, was the first in the families of those who died on the ship to be reached for comment. She said she was notified a month ago that her husband had died of sunstroke following a fainting spell which the ship's doctors attributed to the heat.

She was at first outspoken in her comment on the report, but later asked that she be not quoted as voicing any criticism as she had merely been left on the ship's opinion in the stress of emotion. She said that her son, Raymond Henry Norweb, who is first secretary of the embassy at The Hague, would meet the steamer at Southampton to get full details of his father's death.

The list of dead given out at Montreal gave Norweb's address as Roslyn, N. J., but this was an error. The Norweb home is in Roslyn, N. Y.

"We were notified that he had died of sunstroke," Mrs. Norweb said, "and I am not satisfied. Something must have been wrong. There must have been gross negligence somewhere."

Mrs. Norweb said that, beyond the announcement that he had died of sunstroke following a fainting spell, she had received little information about her husband's death.

"We have been trying for a month to get the details, but have not been successful," she said.

"I cannot understand it at all. Mr. Norweb was in good health when he left on the ship, and he would not have been so foolish as to sit out in a tropical sun on the deck until he had a sunstroke. We are still waiting word as to the details."

In addition to his widow and his son at The Hague, Norweb is survived by another son, John Horace Norweb, of New York.
