

BEARGATS WIN FIRST CIRCUIT GAME OF YEAR

Linfield Club Handed Small End of 9-3 Score With Ledbetter Pitching

Taking full advantage of a drizzling rain, an inexperienced catcher and a pitcher who went into the box "cold," the Willamette university baseball team trounced Linfield College's ball tossers Saturday 9 to 3 in the opening game here of Northwest conference play.

The Bearcats proved better "wheeler" than the Wildcats, and fielded every chance perfectly; at bat they made considerable headway by dumping bunts that caused the Linfield players to flounder helplessly in the muck.

A number of queer things happened. Deetz, Willamette's first man at bat, got a single on a bad bounce, then went on around to the plate on three passed balls. The Bearcats ran wild on the bases, stealing eight in all. Scales capped the climax by stealing home standing up while the Linfield catcher vainly tried to set his feet and dive for him.

Linfield Led Gets Lucky Circuit Clout

Hostetter of Linfield banged out a lucky home run into the millrace in the first inning, and in the fifth, when Todd took the mound for Linfield without warming up sufficiently, Cardinal and Adams pounded out legitimate homers over the center fielder's head in rapid succession. Cardinal scored Gill ahead of him.

Adams and Gibson cut down the visitors' score by judicious throwing to third and home in the fifth after taking hard chances. Girod, who took Adams' place in the eighth, made a circus catch of a Texas leaguer.

Ledbetter pitched consistently good ball, keeping Linfield's ten hits well scattered. Only five of Willamette's nine runs were earned.

LEAGUE WILL BEGIN PLAY HERE MONDAY

Stronger teams in the Commercial baseball league than for several years are in sight for this season, according to officials of the league. The series will begin Monday at 6 o'clock when the State House and Legion teams meet on Olinger field.

Many veterans are in the rosters of the six clubs in the league and the recruits present good substitute material. Batteries are stronger both through experience and new men. The support is also generally more seasoned than in the past.

Other games in the Commercial league this week will be Elks vs. Building Trades, Wednesday, and Knights of Columbus vs. Oregon Pulp and Paper, Friday. The games will be five inning affairs with regular ground rules.

The Pop company club of the industrial league has a battery, or batteries, they aren't disclosing which, that is to show the league how the horsehide should be tossed. Western Paper has a surprise that is to figure prominently in deciding the champs. The only unknown quantity in the league is the Groceries nine, but it's a case of how strong and not how weak.

WILLAMETTE TIES WITH C. P. S. WOMEN

The Willamette women's tennis team tied with the College of Puget Sound co-ed racquet wielders Saturday at Tacoma, each team winning three matches, according to word received in Salem that night.

Pauline Findley, Willamette captain, won her match 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, and Edith Findley won 7-9, 6-0, 6-2. Doris Steele and Margaret Morehouse lost their singles matches and were also defeated in their doubles match. The Findley sisters won in the No. 1 doubles.

ONLY JUPE CAN HALT CONTEST

Nothing Uncertain But Score and Weather in Opening Tilt of Series

There's no getting around it, this guy Jupe Pluvius is smarter than Knute Rockne and Miller Huggins rolled into one. Ordinarily Jupe is ruled out when it comes to mention in these columns, but this time it can't be helped. For two weeks he kept the teams in the Oregon-Washington league from playing. Then, when moisture began to get scarce, he pulled the real strategy. He ordered clear skies for five days through the week, and saved up his rain for Saturday when it could do some damage.

Whether he had any left over for Sunday remains to be seen, but if not, the Oregon-Washington league opener between the Salem Senators and the Longview Forest Rangers will be played at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on Olinger field. The rain Saturday afternoon and night didn't wet down the diamond too much for play; in fact it was a boon for there isn't any more of it today. And if the sky is clear this morning, the fans can rest assured that there'll be a ball game.

Solons Look Just As Good On Paper

On paper, the Senators appear to be on a par with the Rangers—for this opening game. Whether they will be up to the high standard set in this league a few weeks hence, depends solely upon the support given the local team. At Longview a week ago, there were 1200 fans on hand to see the Rangers in action against the Kelso team; in addition to that patronage, Longview put up a sizable fund before the season started.

Kelso is similarly well heeled financially, and the other clubs are not far behind—except Salem. There is still time for the red hot fans to kick through, but it looks as though the club will have to depend largely on gate receipts. At any rate, Salem will have just as good representation on the diamond as the fans will pay for.

Today's game, if it is played, will be the first inter-city ball game every played on Olinger field. Fans are due to find it a much more satisfactory place to view a ball game than Oxford park and the club directors believe the patronage will increase on that account. Another thing that is expected to swell the gate receipts is the stronger competition that this league, the fastest in which Salem has ever held a franchise, will afford.

BASEBALL INFIELD MOSTLY HOOP MEN

Sport fans who contend that there's nothing in common between baseball and basketball should take a look at "Spec" Keene's baseball team. In Saturday's game against Linfield, the entire infield and the battery was made up of varsity basketball men.

Behind the bat was Ed Cardinal, all-Northwest conference center; the pitcher was "Bud" Ledbetter, who has played guard on the Willamette team for three years. Holding down first base was George Scales, long shot phenom; at second appeared Dwight Adams, Cardinal's rival for high point honors in the last basketball season. The shortstop was "Hoot" Gibson, utility man on the hoop squad last season, and on the hot corner courted Harold Houk, who has pulled down some all-Northwest basketball recognition as a guard.

Baseball and basketball aren't very much alike, but the same basic qualities appear to be necessary, judging from this coincidence. To corroborate that impression, it was noticed that Linfield's outstanding infielder was Druse, who was mentioned for all-Northwest honors last season. He played center on the Linfield team.

Red Knocks 'Em Dead

"Red" Millet, 145 pound ring comedian whose strategy is based on making his opponent laugh himself helpless. On top of his antics which have had the Portland sports writers agree since his first appearance there, he is a clever fighter as well. He is matched against "Spud" Murphy, potato shaped Hubbard boy, in the main event at the armory Thursday night.

DUNDEE BILLED FOR BOUT HERE

Boys Who Fought Draw Will be Given Another Chance to Decide Issue

It was inevitable that Jack Kentworth and Pat Dundee should get another chance at each other in the armory ring, to determine which was really the better man, after they battled to a popular draw on the last card, so Matchmaker Harry Plant has decided not to combat fate and has signed the lads again for Thursday night.

There was mighty little to choose between them in the previous bout; Dundee did a little more of the punishing, and Kentworth did practically all of the leading. Neither appeared to be in the best of shape, but next time they will be at their best and ready to settle the matter of supremacy once for all.

Since that affair, Kentworth, who has been taken in tow by Buck Perry, has won from Ray Huffman of Seattle in a fight at Portland, where he showed the results of the pointers Perry has been giving him.

The Kentworth-Dundee fight will be the semi-final on the card in which "Red" Millet of Portland and "Spud" Murphy of Hubbard will battle in the main event.
