POLICE BEATEN BY RED FORCES

Communist Rioters Defy All Attempts to Restore Order in City

As the night advanced trouble increased in the mass of small side streets in the district and spread eastward to the temple of airdrome. The police were obliged to call for reinforcements, which on the preceding night, rushed to the scene with machine hand grenades, searchlights and armored cars.

FRED WOLF IS SCHOOL HEAD

Baker Principal is Chosen by Local School Board to Succeed Nelson

(Continued from Page 1.) "When he came to us our high school was badly disorganized and internal strife was rampant. The high school pupils had acquired a state of mind which led them to believe teachers were natural enemies and not leaders. Mr. Wolf succeeded in a large degree in getting this situation ironed out and has achieved a loyalty and spirit of cooperation from both teachers and students."

Maybelle H. Romig, county school superintendent in his county, wrote to George W. Hug, local superintendent: "Although a young man, he appears exceptionally level-headed, systematic and efficient. A LaGrande teacher who visited my office after having visited his high school remarked about the spirit of comradeship, yet feeling of respect shown his students."

Wolf's interest in athletics and his good influence not only on his own boys, but also on athletic situation with the surrounding towns are commended upon by J. E. Turner, of the Lewiston State Normal, in referring to his work in Idaho.

No accurate "dope" on the strawberry situation will be known for another week or ten days, though the crop is advancing to seven cents from six. Raspberries will bring pretty good prices, but no increase in acreage is warranted. New York offers stiff competition to the blackcap, but growers are receiving seven cents this year. Black caps for drying will not be worth so much if the market doesn't grow better.

Pears offer a tough problem, as growers are asking $75 a ton on account of the freeze, and if the trade doesn't come through, canners will pack just what is sold, the packer said. The California crop is estimated to have been damaged 25 per cent.

The canned prune business is not so active this year as last, as the over-pack from last year is still being worked off. Last year the cannery packed 50 per cent more than the previous year, despite the fact last year was a short crop year.

The plays of Shakespeare are popular parts of French radio programs.
