Champoeg Meet Lures Large Crowds on Anniversary of Oregon's Birth

Showers Fail to Halt Annual Celebration; D'Arcy of This City Presides

By R. J. Hendricks Despite the showery weather, which at times grew to the proportions of heavy downpours and hail storms, a large crowd went to old Champoeg, Oregon's historic shrine, to celebrate the 86th anniversary of the vote to organize the provissional government for the Oregon country, that event having occurred on May 2, 1843, and the annual celebrations being held on annual celebrations being held on the nearest Saturday to the second of the month.

The steamer Northwestern brought a boat load of people from Portland and other down river points, and the parking space of Pendleton Throws Support Champoeg park was well filled with automobiles bringing celebrants from all the valley cities and towns, including a considerable company from Salem. Regular Program Is Carried Into Effect The regular program, as published in The Statesman of yesterday and in preceding issues, was carried out, under the direction of Hon. P. H. D'Arcy of Salem, president of the day and past president of the Oregon Pioneer association the sponsors of the day's celebration being that organization, together with the Oregon Historical society, which has long been under the direction of George H. #### Frink's Hen Lays Queer Egg in Old Bucket on Farm

A hen's egg measuring nine and one-half inches in circumference the long way and seven and one-half inches the other way, was brought to Salem Saturday by W. B. Frink of route 5. The egg, which weighs six ounces, is inclosed by a thin skin or membrane commonly referred to as a soft shell. Within this is a normal egg with the ordinary type of shell, which can be plainly felt by pressing gently on the outer "shell."

It is estimated that the egg weighs more than three times as much as a standard egg, since a dozen of them would weigh 72 ounces as compared with 22 ounces, the weight of a dozen stan-ard aggs.

Mr. Fink reported that the egg was laid in an old pail. It was laid by a Barred Plymouth Rock hen.
